The Dalles Turns Out in Force to Greet Hughes Advocate on Whirlwind Campaign.

STRAIGHT TICKETS URGED

Patriotic Address Made in Which Women Are Asked to Stand in Open—Visitors Taken for Trip Through Country.

THE DALLES, Oct. 20.—(Special.)—"I couldn't be neutral about even so infinitesimal a thing as boiling an egg," said Mrs. E. B. Hanley, of Medford, tonight speaking before a huge audience in the first stop of her whirlwind campaign tour of Eastern Oregon.

"There is nothing gained in dissipation of force. It is absolutely impossible to achieve results without organizing," advised all Republicans to stand straight by their party in a crisis like this. It is no time to allow personal preferences to interfere with a great National issue. It is absolutely true that no man is greater than his party. You may prefer a man personally for himself, but if you elect him, you are giving the Democratic party ticket when an issue comes up in Congress or in the state that man is going to vote according to the dictates of his party.

WOMAN ORATOR SWAYS AUDIENCE TO HUGHES

Mrs. E. B. Hanley Inspires Crowd With Patriotic Fervor at The Dalles. Brilliant Speaker Tells of Shortcomings of Administration.

BY LEONE CASS BAER. THE DALLES, Or., Oct. 20.—(Special.)—Mrs. E. B. Hanley is the Billy Sunday of politics. There's just one fault to find with whatever little Columbus first put her on the political map. He should have discovered her earlier in this big game, so that she could have been lent around to every place that shelters a few doubting Thomases. For Mrs. Hanley converts the backsliders in her own party and lures Democrats from their lair into her fold. They come, see and are conquered.

Tonight she made a whole theater full of folk stand up, sit down and jump through just wherever she wiggled her slender fingers. She was for Hughes, so they were for Hughes. She believed in woman's suffrage, so they believed in woman's suffrage. She loved the Republic, so they loved the Republic. She tore the halo off Woodrow's head or was classical brow and her audience trampled on it. She pleaded for patriotism and every lad and man in the place and every woman, too, girded their armor and set out to do her bidding. She was splendid, fire and quicksilver, a rose color and a flame with a fine purpose.

Woman in Inspired Speaker. Right behind the band we rode up to the portals of the theater. At the first "zoom zoom" and the blare of trumpets, I advised all Republicans to stand straight by their party in a crisis like this. It is no time to allow personal preferences to interfere with a great National issue. It is absolutely true that no man is greater than his party. You may prefer a man personally for himself, but if you elect him, you are giving the Democratic party ticket when an issue comes up in Congress or in the state that man is going to vote according to the dictates of his party.

Wilson Supporter Described. "It's just like belonging to a lodge or to a church. You've got the password the minute you say you're one. A Republican is a Republican because he loves something and a Democrat is a Democrat because he hates something. "Woodrow must have been on the right side some of the time, for he's been on both sides.

BIENNIAL REPORT IS MADE

Dr. Steiner Calls Attention to Large Number of Parous Cases, Manifesting Syphilis and Costing Public Money.

SALEM, Or., Oct. 20.—(Special.)—Prohibition in Oregon has reduced insanity in the state, according to Dr. R. Lee Steiner, superintendent of the Oregon State Hospital, in his biennial report on the conduct of the institution for the last two years, submitted to the Board of Control today.

Applause is Deafening. At this juncture the applause was deafening and the dainty, demure little woman who arouses all this wild enthusiasm in audiences clasped gaily through the demonstration. "Now mind," she said, "I don't say the Republican party is perfect, but it is the most perfect existing party in the world and thus reunited and reconstructed the Republican party stands for the highest ideals and sentiments not only of Americanism, but of political ideals the world over, and it deserves the support of all loyal Republicans."

Mrs. Hanley Wins People. The far-famed personality and magnetism of Mrs. Hanley won her instantly to the people in The Dalles. A huge delegation of representatives of men and women met her and Mrs. Bert Anderson, also of Medford, at the train. Mrs. Anderson is an absent minded individual throughout Southern Oregon and is giving of her services in song on this campaign trip. Last night she sang patriotic songs in which the audience joined and was heard in two splendid big solo numbers, scoring an instantaneous triumph.

Modern Methods Used. Modern methods of treating Oregon's insane have worked wonders in improving the mental and physical condition of the patients, Dr. Steiner's report reveals. Employment and amusement for the patients have been found in the hospital, and the general health has now been improved. The hospital now has a total of 1572 patients, 1045 of whom are men and 527 are women. At the beginning of the biennium, October 1, 1914, the population totaled 3576.

BIG STREET MEETING IS FINAL EVENT OF CONVENTION.

Farmers and Business Men Tell of Improved Conditions Due to Dry Law. Contest Honors Awarded.

PENDELTON, Or., Oct. 20.—(Special.)—One of the most successful conventions in the history of the Oregon State Women's Christian Temperance Union was brought to a close tonight with a big street meeting and address by Mrs. Mattie M. Sleeth, of Portland.

Medford and Albany today sent invitations to hold the 1917 convention in those cities and it was decided to leave the selection of the 1917 meeting place with the executive committee. More than 3000 was pledged yesterday by the delegates to carry on the work of the association in the present campaign. Mrs. Jennie A. Rhesher, of Washington County, who donated $10 to the cause, made the largest individual pledge.

The morning session today was featured by a series of talks by Pendleton business men and Umatilla County farmers, who spoke of the effects of prohibition of business in this county during the year. Mrs. E. B. Andrews, president of the Clackamas County Union and leader of the Blue team in the membership contest, was honored for her victory over the Gold team of Mrs. Hattie Wilson, of Corvallis.

Recognition was given the representatives of the 22 unions that had won the distinction of a place on the honor roll during the year. The Culver union, of Jefferson County, led with a total of 353 points; Roseburg was second with 280, and Pendleton with 175. Madras, with 251 points and Chehalis, with 245, won third and fourth places, respectively.

Messages of encouragement were received from the Ohio State convention and Mrs. George W. McMath, president of the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs. The delegates elected to the National convention at Indianapolis, November 15 to 23, were: Mrs. M. L. Hilden, of Portland; Mrs. G. W. Rugg, of Pendleton; Mrs. J. Sanger Fox, of Portland; Mrs. Palmer and Mrs. G. L. Buland will also attend the convention.

Against five other contestants Miss Mildred White of Newberg, won the diamond medal contest.

DIVORCE IN ASTORIA, BUT NOT IN OREGON, IS CONFESSED.

BRIDGEMAN-ELLET ASKS FOR LICENSE TO WED HIS STEP-SISTER AND ADMITS PREVIOUS MARRIAGE.

THIS really happened: John W. Cochran, better known as "Cupid" Cochran for alliterative reason and because he hands out the marriage licenses in County Clerk Corwin's office, was questioning a prospective bridegroom with wanted urgency. He had already elicited the information from Hyman H. Schwartz, 234 Sheridan street, that the young woman he wished to marry, Belle Blumenthal, was a step-sister, but not blood relative.

"And—were you ever married before?" queried Mr. Cochran. He always hesitates over this question. It seems rather personal, though quite necessary for the record. "Yes," answered Mr. Schwartz. "Are you divorced now?" "Yes." "Were you divorced more than six months ago?" "In this state?" "No." "Where?" "Astoria."

Steel Work Is Described. The production of steel from the raw material to the finished product was explained by Frank F. Sinka, engineer and manager of the Pacific Coast Steel Company, of Seattle, in an illustrated lecture delivered last night at the meetings of the Oregon Society of Engineers at the Chamber of Commerce. Slides and moving pictures of the Seattle concern were used in illustrating the lecture.

The gathering endorsed resolutions adopted by the Association of Commissioners and County Judges asking for the assistance of the Government road office in a proposed revision of the road laws of Oregon.

WIFE KILLS TATTLE

Suicide in Seattle Bank Follows Shooting of Clerk.

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 20.—Mrs. Edwin C. Sobel, a handsome woman, 30 years old, shot and killed Leo G. Pratt, a 19-year-old bank clerk, in the banking-rooms of the Canadian Bank of Commerce today and then shot and killed herself because Pratt had carried tales to her husband, formerly publisher of the Western Motor Car Magazine, reflecting adversely on her character, according to information gathered by the police tonight.

L. Pratt, foster-father of the dead bank clerk, said that a chauffeur employed by him to drive a motor bus had told Leo Pratt of alleged improprieties on the part of Mrs. Sobel and that when Sobel called on Pratt at the bank two days ago Pratt related what he had heard of Mrs. Sobel's conduct.

Pratt's police inquest, repeated accusations to his wife, who immediately set out to avenge herself on Pratt.

Before her marriage five years ago, Mrs. Sobel, who was Irene Emerson and was said to be a graduate of Ohio State University, was employed in the Canadian Bank of Commerce as a stenographer. Pratt was not employed in the bank at that time. Mr. Sobel is a graduate of the University of Michigan class of 1908, and came here from Wisconsin a year later.
