BY GERTRUDE P. CORBETT

MRS. GERALD BEEBE entertained a number of old friends of Mrs. Frederick A. Barker yesterday with an informal tea.

Another informal affair of yesterday complimentary to a bride-elect, Mrs. Allen Pendleton Noyes, is the bridge-tes for which Miss Mabel Korrell was hostess, guests being asked to make up four tables of the game, and a few additional tea guests calling later. The rooms were gallily decked with fluffy yellow chrysanthemums and autumnal foliage.

Mrs. Henry Wessinger entertained a number of young matrons and maids at a charming luncheon yesterday, as a compliment to her house guests, Miss Fredericka Holde, of Proctor, Vt. Seated around the prettily appointed table, which was adorned with an artistic basket of pink chrysanthemums and fernery, were Miss Holden, Mrs. Philip Harty, Mrs. Erskine Wood, Miss Perry, Mrs. Lewis A. Marshall, Mrs. Robert Noyes, Mrs. Gilbert Durham, Miss Stella Frohman, Mrs. John Kerr and the hostess.

The University Club's dinner dance last night also was a gala affair, one of the largest parties being a "Dutch treat" affair, arranged by Mr. and Mrs. Walter F. Burrell, covers being placed at a large round table for 20. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wessinger's party numbered 16, and the William E. Robertson also entertained for 10. Mrs. H. L. Shepard was hostess. The party, numbering four, and many late comers increased the list perceptibly at the last minute. On Tuesday evening, celebrating election day, a dinner has been arranged, with the election returns as a special attraction.

Messages of sympathy are being sent to Mr. and Mrs. Albert L. Schafer (Mabel Gram), formerly of this city, now of Williamsport, as a dinner has been arranged for their infant son, Albert Gram Schafer, which occurred yesterday.

Mrs. Charles T. Whitney will entertain this afternoon with a tea for the younger set of Portland, at which time she will informally introduce her two charming nieces, the Misses Loretta and Agnes Hardy, formerly of San Francisco, to Portland society. They are joyfully expected since their arrival in this city last Spring to make their home with their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Whitney, they have become popular with the younger set.

The hours are from 4 to 6 o'clock, and the hostess will be assisted by prominent maids and maids.

Mrs. A. M. Ellsworth entertained yesterday with a small and informal tea complimentary to Mrs. George Bachelder, a prominent matron of Santa Barbara, who is visiting her sister, Mrs. H. A. Sargent in this city, and Mrs. William Hill, of San Francisco.

An attractive home wedding was solemnized Wednesday at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. W. Raymond, 1706 East Thirteenth street, when their daughter, Miss Corrinne H. Raymond, was married to Norman E. Jordan, by the Rev. J. J. Staub, D. D., of the Sunnyside Congregational Church. The bride, who was wearing the traditional white, carried a bouquet of "Lohengrin" played by Miss Alberta King.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick A. Cook entertained charmingly with a Halloween party Tuesday evening at their home, 411 East Sixteenth street North. The rooms were decorated in pumpkin, rickety greens and streamers. The guests were dressed in sheets and pillow cases. After all had unmasked they joined in games and dancing, after which a luncheon was served.

The guests bidden were: Mr. and Mrs. H. Lyon, Mr. H. Cowley, Mrs. W. R. Scott, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Hirsch, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Byrne, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Belland, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Wicks, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Kellogg, Mr. and Mrs. R. Burnett, Miss G. Berkeley, Miss H. Stokes, Miss W. W. Wicks, Miss H. Drexler, M. Stokes, C. Cook and M. Williamson.

Rev. and Mrs. Alexander Beers have returned from a visit of several weeks in Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Wright reached Portland last evening after an extended Eastern trip.

Ladies and Knights of Security, who recently organized as the Rosebud Council, will give the first of a series of complimentary dancing and card parties to-night in the East Hill Business Men's Club, 114 Grand avenue. Attractive prizes will be given the high scorers of the card games and refreshments will be served. As this is the first affair given by the new council, it is hoped all members and their friends will attend.

Mrs. Henry Hall, of 956 Glenn avenue, has returned from a three months' trip throughout the East and California.

Mrs. W. L. Morgan and daughter, Miss Lillian Morgan, are enjoying a delightful sojourn in their attractive Garhart cottage. They have had as their guest for the past week Claude Kern, of Los Angeles.

The University of Washington students who came on for the big football game today at Eugene will gather for an elaborate breakfast this morning in the gold room of Hotel Multnomah. The amount of $50 of the boys, who will return to this city to renew old friendships.

The University Club will be the scene of the luncheon to be given today by the Association of Collegiate Alumnae. Luncheon will be served promptly at 1

FALLING SCHOOL was the center of interest yesterday for a large number of parents and teachers, who attended the junior exhibit planned by the Parent-Teacher Association and teachers, headed by Miss Porter, the principal. The work shown by the children was remarkably clever. It included lace, aprons, dresses, collars, furniture and a party department, in which were found cakes, pies and bread made by both boys and girls. The boys rivaled the girls in all departments, and showed great originality in their work. Many unique articles were shown and all were well made.

Members of the current literature department of the Portland Woman's Club met on Thursday with Mrs. D. M. Watson. Miss Anne Shannon Monroe's book, "Happy Valley," was discussed by Mrs. A. G. Jackson, Mrs. George Johnson and Mrs. Chester Hopkins. Miss Monroe was present and explained and commented on her book and character, Miss Edith Woodcock, of Idaho, gave plans for the coming winter. Mrs. Watson were Mrs. T. J. Brunfield, Mrs. A. H. Dayton and Mrs. H. L. Torrance.

Under the auspices of the women of the First Methodist Church a dinner will be held in the church at 6:30 o'clock Tuesday night, and afterward the members and friends will watch election returns, which will come in by wire placed in the building for the occasion.

MARIAN MILLERS ANSWERS

YESTERDAY a woman who has two boys, aged 12 and 14, said she was thinking of getting a divorce. Her husband is a good man but they don't get along well because he doesn't allow her enough time to herself. He doesn't sympathize with her in her study of some-I forget whether it was some freak religion or some spooky writer. Now, for a fact I know that woman isn't home half a day at a time in whole week. She gads from meeting to meeting, from club to study class. She spends more time with all sorts of people and cranks and invites them to dine at her home and never gives any time to her boys or her husband. She asked my advice and I said: Call a halt on this foolishness. Cut out the freaks. Find out what your boys are reading. Take them to a show and take hubby, too. Stay home at least three days in the week. Plan your dinners yourself and save on household expenses. Your husband can't afford your extravagances. Quit your queer religion and pray for a little common sense and an appreciation of all the

This Nutritious Food Relieves Constipation

YOU can choose two ways of relieving constipation—the artificial and injurious by means of expensive drugs, and the natural method by means of balanced food. Roman Meal, invented by a physician, not only relieves constipation, but it is a highly nourishing and easily digested food; you never tire of it because you can enjoy it in so many different ways.

Dr. Jackson's Roman Meal

has all the delicious flavor and nourishing food value of entire berries of wheat (30%), rye (35%), flaxseed (25%) and wheat bran (10%). Flaxseed is three times as nourishing as wheat, rye or oats. It is rendered absolutely tasteless and odorless by electricity.

We have from thirty to forty feet of digestive tube because our ancestors for many ages ate food that contained more waste than nutrition. Man's forty foot digestive tract is mostly muscle which has nothing to do with actual digestion. These bowel muscles positively will not function unless there is sufficient waste in the food to stimulate them to natural action. Lack of waste means constipation. Most white flour and refined cereals have but little waste. Constant use of impoverished foods like white flour and highly refined cereals causes the muscles of the tract to weaken from lack of exercise, and then the constipation becomes chronic—or worse.

Roman Meal has the full, proper amount of branny waste to stimulate the bowel muscles to action and thus relieve constipation; its flaxseed acts as a lubricant. When used alone, brans cause catarrh of the bowel. In Roman Meal this is counteracted by the soothing flax. Roman Meal positively relieves constipation, or the Roman Meal Company will return your money.

No wonder the medical profession everywhere endorses this great food. For it is made from the prescription of a physician—a specialist in Diets.

Roman Meal is the most delicious and the most nourishing food ever invented. Do not stir the porridge except while mixing meal and water or you positively spoil it.

whites, beaten stiff, with ¼ teaspoon salt. "Stiff" means until you can make a clean cut with a knife, not until "frailty."

Bake in a loaf-pan lined with greased paper. In putting in the butter, leave a hollow in the middle and fill up the corners with it, this tends to prevent "humping." Bake by the "four-quarter rule," so often given in this column.

Do not "stir" the cake. "Beating" and "folding" are the two actions. Stirring tends to thin the butter, and break up your carefully beaten bubbles. Use a round-bottomed bowl or saucapane to mix in, and beat with a flat-bottomed wooden spoon if you want to save labor. Three egg whites may be used in place of two, if a slightly richer cake is wanted. Do not overmeasure your baking powder (a common fault) and use only ¼ teaspoon if three egg whites are used.

The same mixture may be made with 4 egg whites, 1½ teaspoons baking powder and 1-2 teaspoon salt, if you want a still richer cake.

Any preferred flavoring may be used. If you have good butter and fresh eggs, a more acceptable cake may be made without any additional flavoring. Too much flavoring is a common cake fault.

Don't forget to use some salt in your cakes, especially in beating egg whites. Many flavorless, uninteresting cakes result from forgetting this.

The first mixture (with two or three egg whites) can be used for white layer cakes. For yellow layer cakes, use the same mixture with two whole eggs or three yolks and one white. The latter will not be quite so light. Beat the yolks, until lemon-colored, with the sugar and butter, before adding the milk.

Let me know if this does not suit you, or if it was a yellow filling that you wanted. You can do it in a friendly lemon pie filling would be good for the latter purpose.

DOMESTIC SCIENCE

By LILIAN TINGLE.

Through the columns of The Oregonian, you will kindly give me recipes of a small white loaf cake, not using more than three eggs or four, and using the same cake in white and yellow, using the same number of eggs.

I HOPE the following may suit you:

I Care in baking is essential.

Plain white cake: ¾ cup butter, ¾ cup sugar, ¼ cup milk or water, 1½ cups flour, 2 level teaspoons baking powder, 2 stiff-beaten egg whites. Cream the butter, add the sugar with 2 tablespoons milk and beat again until light and white, add the rest of the milk alternately with enough of the flour to keep the mixture at the "creamed butter" consistency. The flour should, of course, be warmed and sifted with the baking powder before you begin mixing. Fold in, last of all, the egg
