SOCIETY NEWS

BY GERTRUDE P. CORBETT

SOCIETY really turned out last night for the dinner-dance at the University Club in huge numbers for that establishment, more than 300 reservations having been made long before the dinner hour. The largest party was that presided over by Miss Helen Ladd, who entertained for 20 young folk. Next in size was that for which Mr. and Mrs. Arthur M. Sherwood were hosts, their guests numbering 16. Other parties and their hosts were:

Mrs. J. B. Montgomery, six; Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Mills, six; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ladd Corbett, six; Mr. and Mrs. J. Wesley Ladd, 12; Dr. and Mrs. E. J. Labbe, seven; Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Whitney, eight; J. C. Falling, 10; E. C. Mears, six; Mr. and Mrs. James B. Kerr, four.

Portland women are keenly interested in the annual exhibition of the Needlework Guild, which will be held today in the Unitarian Church parlors, a charming feature being a tea at which prominent women will assist. From 3 to 4 o'clock Mrs. H. W. Corbett, Mrs. Solomon Hirsch, Mrs. R. L. Sabin and Mrs. Louis Gerlinger, Jr., will preside. They will be followed from 4 to 5 o'clock by Mrs. J. Wesley Ladd, Mrs. Coe A. McKenna, Mrs. A. L. Maxwell and Mrs. M. Fleischner. They will be assisted by a number of young women.

All the women of Portland are cordially invited to call during the afternoon and view the splendid assortment of warm, new garments, all useful and being donated in pairs, even to the two layettes for babies. The Campfire Girls have given the layettes after weeks of work during their leisure time. Mrs. James Laidlaw is in charge of the refreshment feature of the exhibition, and it will prove a delightful rest and diversion among the events of the week.

Tonight will see the culmination of the plans of the Alameda Club for the dancing party in which so many organizations of the city are taking such deep interest. The affair is in the nature of a benefit, being an effort to raise money for the proposed clubhouse in Alameda Park and many prominent women of the city are lending their aid as patronesses, Irvington, Portland Heights, Rose City Park, Kenton and Laurelhurst clubs being represented.

The dancing floor of Cotillion Hall and its well-known orchestra assure a most delightful entertainment. In addition there will be some solo dancing and other special features will add to the enjoyment of the evening.

Arrangements have been made to accommodate at the door those who have not secured tickets.

A group of young people who are devotees of dancing will give a dancing party Friday night at Hotel Multnomah, at which time a number of interesting novelties will be introduced. BLACK CHIFFON SCARF OF GORGEOUS CASHMERE COLORINGS.

The scarfs of our grandmothers' days are much in vogue now. All the good stores are displaying a variety of them, and many a garret is being ransacked for the shawl that had been laid away in moth and camphor balls by grandmother. This beautiful black chiffon scarf, with its gorgeous colorings, was imported.

WHAT YOU CAN MAKE AT HOME

By Mrs. Portland.

ONE of the daintiest and simplest of edgings for sheets and pillow slips is the chain loop edge. This is made on the rolled or buttonholed finish of the goods. Use the same kind of thread as was used for the rolled or buttonholed work. For linen sheets, it is of course better to use linen thread; for heavy cotton sheets, many women use a coarse cotton sewing thread which makes a firm hard lace, but regular crochet thread of course makes a softer edging. The steel crochet hook must of course be suited to the kind of thread used.

Remove the knot from the end of the thread that was used for the finish of the goods and tie the crochet thread to this end. Make a chain of seven stitches and fasten it to the edge of the goods at a point equal to the length of three stitches. The crochet hook is of course run through one of the threads used in the overcasting of the roll edge, or the buttonhole finish whichever has been used.

Make another seven stitch chain and fasten it down to the edge of the goods as in the first instance. Repeat this the whole way across the pillow slip. Turn at the end and make a row of seven stitch chain loops across the first loops, catching each chain in the center stitch of the preceding loop. So continue until the edging is of the desired width. The coarser the thread is of course, the more rapidly the width will increase. If several rows are used, extra loops will have to be made at the ends to keep them even; otherwise the edging will be narrowed as the work advances. About three rows of loops will make an ordinary width edging if moderately coarse thread is used. When washing sheets or pillow slips with this kind of edging, it must be remembered that the edge should be pulled out when hanging the articles on the line to dry; otherwise, it will be hard to get it ironed out smooth and even when dried.

STYLE TIPS

FROM PORTLAND STORES

THIS is a season of novelties. Several seasons past have been marked by innovations and freak things, but the Fall and Winter of 1916 is said to be the most extreme novelty season that has been known for a long time. Everywhere the shops are full of novelties. Collars and cuffs, furs and fur trimmings, odds and ends of every sort are on display.

Collars provide loads of leeway to the miss who loves fads and fancies. Many new ones are coming in, in wash satin and broadcloth, and even white flannel. The satin ones are the newest and are frequently embroidered in both white and colors. Smart, indeed, are those whose edges riot with color and neat and pretty are the long pleated collars. One may wear the collars on all sorts of suits and separate frocks. Cuffs are about as popular as the new collars.

The fastidious miss may have a bag to match her favorite collar. The new ones are long, slim baggy things, embroidered in Norwegian wool designs or in beads. Almost any material may be used. Satin bags of white done in wool or beads of many bright shades are very new and smart. Milady will like an odd, freaky design with an edge of fur at the top.

Since beads have become the vogue many of the elaborate fluffy collars are hung on a strand of heavy jet or dark glass beads. A new innovation in woman's wraps is a cross betwixt collar and cape. The new wrap is for evening wear and especially as wrap during the intermissions at a ball. It is usually of lace and gathered about the back of the neck, and reaches below the hips. The lace is allowed to wrinkle about the neck and the cape is usually held in place by straps of jet beads. The lace is hemstiched back on both sides to form sleeves. Not only is the wrap very fascinating and dainty, but it holds forth many possibilities, both as to color and material and design. Moreover it is a boon to the slender girl with shapeless arms and too long a neck.

Fur trimmings may be fastened to the garments by little snappers and taken off at will to be snapped on other frocks or collars. Even long bands of fur trimming are so used.

NEW CHURCH IS DEDICATED

Presbyterian Edifice Is Completed at Onalaska, Wash.

CHEHALIS, Wash., Nov. 7.—(Special.)—The new Presbyterian church at the new town of Onalaska was dedicated Sunday. The services were in charge of Dr. A. H. Chitteden, of Chehalis. He was assisted by Rev. Grant Merchant, pastor of the Onalaska church. The Presbyterian choir, of Chehalis, furnished music, and Miss Muriel Palston sang a solo. The Onalaska church is 28x62, equipped with a gallery, Sunday school rooms, etc. The church is a beautiful building, well furnished. At the services Sunday the church was filled to overflowing.

The Carlisle Lumber Company, of Onalaska, donated a lot 100x100 and $500 in cash. The balance of the money was raised in Onalaska and practically all of the work was donated.

Willamina Times Sold.

WILLAMINA, Or., Nov. 7.—(Special.)—H. A. Williams, from Forest Grove, a well known newspaper man, has bought the Willamina Times and taken possession. He hopes to build up a much larger business than the plant has at the present time.

Chicago Disaster Recalled.

CHICAGO, Nov. 7.—The accident to employes of the Western Electric Company at Boston recalled the Eastland disaster in Chicago a year ago last Summer. When the steamer Eastland turned over in the Chicago River she had on board a big excursion party of employes of the Western Electric and their families, 800 of whom lost their lives.

No Spooning Allowed

IF you have been unfavorably impressed with the flavor of Roman Meal Porridge, sure enough you must have stirred it! Be fair to yourself and to Roman Meal! Don't stir it except while mixing meal and water. Remember "no spooning allowed."

Force of habit made you stir the porridge without knowing you did so, perhaps. Just get another package; make the porridge according to the directions. Surely it is no trouble NOT to stir Roman Meal porridge after mixing the meal and water.

Dr. Jackson's

makes the most delightful flavory porridge of all—when not stirred. The flavor of grains lies in their DARK parts. Roman Meal is rich in the dark parts of wheat and rye.

It is made from the WHOLE berries of these grains, bringing to you every bit of their nut-like flavor.

Roman Meal also contains wheat-bran and flaxseed; and you know how splendid these are for relieving constipation. The flaxseed in Roman Meal is absolutely tasteless and odorless, rendered so by a special electrical process invented by Dr. Jackson.

Stirring Roman Meal porridge while cooking brings back the flaxseed taste and odor. Don't stir except while mixing meal and water.

Roman Meal prevents indigestion. It positively relieves constipation or "money back."

Another important thing: Roman Meal is porous, because it is granulated, thus allowing the digestive juices to reach every particle and preventing indigestion. Stirring when cooking breaks up the granules, making a sticky mush instead of the delicious Roman Meal granular porridge.

Thousands of families all over America enjoy Roman Meal porridge every day—it is delicious. Doctors prescribe it for constipation and indigestion and all undertone conditions. You can bake with it: mix it with your white flour when baking, it helps white flour foods to digest and restores their lost balance. Ask your doctor about it.
