

JUDGE W. M. GATENS TAKEN ILL ON ROAD

Jurist Stricken While Returning From Wedding Ceremony in Lents.

ABSENCE CAUSES ALARM

Wife, Not Notified by Doctor of Husband's Condition Until 3 A. M., Fears Accident or Violence. Long Rest to Be Taken.

Acute gastritis, caused by the combination of real and plum pudding eaten at home and a wedding supper served in Lents, caused the physical collapse of Circuit Judge W. M. Gatens Sunday night. He was seized when on his way home from the wedding ceremony and was rushed to the office of Dr. C. J. Dean at the Holy Lodge roadhouse on Foster road, where he remained until yesterday morning.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Gatens was almost frantic with fear, believing her husband had met with an accident or that pre-election threats that he would not live to continue as judge had been carried out. She telephoned the police at 2 o'clock yesterday morning. At 3 o'clock, Dr. Dean called Mrs. Gatens by telephone and told her of her husband's condition.

Judge Knows No Wedding Guests. The wedding was that of Rose Leah Laken, of 1003 East Cawthra street, and George E. Hilop, Mr. Hilop is an employe at Dr. Dean's office. An automobile, a yellow one, called for Judge Gatens at 4:30 Sunday afternoon to take him to Lents to marry a couple. He did not know any of the parties to the wedding, he told his wife before he left, and did not know who it was called for him.

"He said he would be back in two hours," explained Mrs. Gatens. "He had never gone back on his word with me, so I was frightened when he did not return."

She said from what the judge had been able to tell her and from what she had learned from Dr. Dean, Judge Gatens had started for home at about 10 o'clock Sunday night—the late hour due to a delay in getting away. He had money and because he had expected a friend, Carl H. Jackson, to call for him in an automobile. He had telephoned Mr. Jackson to come after him as the man who took him out preferred not to go back to the city. Mr. Jackson became lost in the fog and never reached Judge Gatens' home. The jurist started back with the man who had taken him to the wedding.

Judge Becomes Unconscious. He was taken ill in the machine, it appears, and taken to Dr. Dean's establishment. Dr. Dean said he did not telephone Mrs. Gatens sooner, as he did not wish to alarm her with a busy working over her husband, for the judge became unconscious shortly after his arrival.

Judge Gatens was taken to his home yesterday morning in a taxicab and was carried into the house. He remained in bed all day, unable to speak. Mrs. Gatens said that her husband probably would be confined to his bed for a week or more. It is possible that he would take a delayed summer vacation in California.

The gastritis was complicated with slight heart trouble, it was said yesterday, and Judge Gatens' condition for a time was serious.

"Judge Gatens has been declining since the beginning of the Fall campaign," said Mrs. Gatens. "Several times he fell asleep at the breakfast table. He had real roast and plum pudding at home yesterday, things which never agree with him but of which he is very fond. The wedding supper was his last straw. It is a complete breakdown and a long rest is needed."

Judge Gatens told Mrs. Gatens yesterday that he met no one he knew at the wedding and did not know why he had been called to perform the ceremony.

STORE IS PAY FOR DEATH

Canadian Court Orders Judgment for Auto Victim's Widow.

WALKERTON, Ont., Nov. 20.—(Special.)—A decision handed down by Justice Lemox, presiding over the case, and in which the defendant, Frank Spofford, a merchant, is ordered to turn over his drygoods business to the Sheriff for the benefit of the family of a man whom he had run down and killed with his auto, sets a unique precedent in Canadian law.

Spofford purchased a drygoods business last summer for his son and installed him as its proprietor. Just prior to this transaction Spofford had been made defendant in an action for unpaid damages brought against him by the widow of the man whom he had accidentally killed.

The court ruled that the drygoods business should be seized under an execution and sold to the Sheriff, who after all costs are paid, is directed to turn over the proceeds to the widow of the man who was killed.

BIG TREE TO GLOW

Portland's Christmas Token Will Be 75 Feet High.

DECEMBER 2 IS FIRST DAY

Electrical Dealers Will Provide Thousands of Lights to Add to Effect When City Assumes Holiday Attire.

One week from next Saturday, which will be December 2, Portland will light up the biggest Christmas tree ever used anywhere, and until after the holidays are passed it will stand as a brilliant reminder of the things and event clustering around the country's greatest festival season. It will be 75 feet high.

The tree is to be placed on one of the downtown streets to be designated by the City Commission. Its first illumination will be on the night of December 2, when it is proposed to ask the people of the city to come from their homes and get their full of Christmas spirit. The gigantic tree will blaze with thousands of electric bulbs, and from the platform underneath its great boughs it is proposed to direct musical programmes and songfests.

It is believed by the committee of the retail merchants' bureau of the Chamber of Commerce, which is headed by E. D. Timms, that it will be the biggest and finest Christmas tree in the United States. The chairman is certain that such a tree could not be secured anywhere but in Oregon.

It will be decorated by the electric dealers of the city, all of whom are concerned in Electrical week.

Chairman Timms and the committee of electrical people have also planned out a new and interesting lot of street-corner decorations. They will put up the figure of the "genii of electricity" at each street intersection in the retail district. For a background for each brilliant figure there will be hundreds of small Christmas trees and miles of festooned evergreens.

Two trees will be fastened to each lamp post in the retail district, and between them will swing ropes of evergreen. At the center of each post will be fastened a wreath of red.

The street decorations will be on a much more elaborate scale than those of last year. Even those used in 1915 attracted unusual attention. Pictures of them by day and the electrical illumination at night were printed in dozens of magazines throughout the country. It is believed that Portland will secure tremendous advertising for each brilliant figure this year.

E. D. Timms, of the Timms-Cress Company, is the man who has received the great credit for this work around the Chamber of Commerce. Among the offices down there he is known as the "business man's Santa Claus."

Johnson Bond Sought

Execution Given to Serve on Estate of Mother of Fighter.

CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—Collection of the "Jack Johnson bond" will be attempted by the Federal authorities and the United States Marshal has been given an execution to serve on the estate of Mathew S. Baldwin and on Mrs. Tiny Johnson, mother of the fugitive pugilist. The execution calls for $15,000, less $6879. The latter amount already has been paid.

Mathew Baldwin, the late real estate dealer, and Johnson's mother were on the pugilist's bonds when he fled the country with his white wife after he had been sentenced to the Federal Penitentiary on charges of violating the Mann act.

Baldwin died a year ago. Whether the administrator of the Baldwin estate intends to resist payment of the forfeiture is not yet known.

BERLIN, Nov. 20.—(By wireless to Sayville, N. Y.)—The German War Office announced tonight that the Teutonic troops in Roumania are approaching Craiova, the capital of Western Wallachia, 120 miles west of Bucharest.

The Roumanian city of Craiova is on the railroad midway between Orsova, on the extreme western border of Roumania, and Bucharest, the Roumanian capital. BANK GETS TRIBUTE Lobbies of First National's New Building Thronged.

DEPOSITORS' LINE LONG

Offices at Fifth and Stark Opened to Public Auspiciously—Quarters Are Largest in Northwest Used Exclusively for Banking.

Portland paid tribute yesterday to the enterprise and optimism of the stockholders of the First National Bank, whose new building at Fifth and Stark streets, opened for the first time to public inspection, is a distinct ornament and valued asset to the city.

The tribute was in the form of a generous outpouring of people who passed through the spacious lobbies of the building in a steady, admiring procession.

The bank opened for business in the new home at 10 o'clock yesterday morning. A long line of depositors was waiting before the windows. The task of moving the books, cash and equipment from the former home at Fifth and Morrison streets was completed the night before.

The beauty of the impressive-appearing building's interior was enhanced by the presence of a score or more of floral baskets and bouquets sent by patrons of the bank. Friends of the directors, the clearing-house and other banks in Portland and other parts of the Pacific Coast.

A. L. Mills, president of the bank, and the other officers were congratulated all day long by the people who formed almost a steady stream through the building.

The First National's new home is the largest building in the Northwest devoted exclusively to banking. It occupies a full quarter block and is three stories high. The main banking rooms are on the second floor. A wide stairway leads directly from the main entrance on Fifth street to the upper floor. Elevators also are available.

The savings department is on the first floor. The safety deposit vaults are in the basement. Part of the clerical force is on the upper floor. The build-

OLD-TIME GOLD CURE—DRINK TEA!

Get a small package of Hamburg Brew Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburg Brew Tea," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold at once. It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless.—Adv.
