Descriptions Fail to Tally.

Bartholomew sald that he was born Aberdeen, N. D. Following the murder, his alleged statement says, he first went to Vancouver, Wash., then to Pasco and Spokane, in the same state; later visiting Illinois, Colorado and Utah, whence he went to Seattle

In the alleged statement, Bartholomew described the murderer as a man weighing 200 pounds, and tall. The description given by Mrs. Anna DeCorsey landlady of the lodgings where the murder was committed, does not tally, murder was committed, does not tally, the police say, with this statement. Mrs. DeCorsey said that one of the men was tall and slender, and looked something like a logger. Bartholomew himself is short, and heavily built. Mrs. DeCorsey was notified of the capture yesterday, and probably will be called upon to identify Bartholomew today. Other witnesses will be called upon to check on the statement concerning the mysterious Mr. Lund, of whose movements after the disposal of the body Bartholomew professed to be ignorant.

Bartholomew Is Composed.

Bartholomew maintained absoltue composure during his interview with the officials. He is a dark-complexjoned, heavily built man, with heavy jaws, and does not differ greatly from the pictures of Anton Anderson, of San Francisco, whose photograph was published on the police circular sent out requesting Bartholomew's apprehension. Anderson was first supposed to be the Lund referred to by Bartholomew, but District Attorney Evans last night said that there was no connection between the two men. Especially noticeable were the heavy black whiskers, which showed through Bartholomew's skin even though he was closely shaved.

During his talk with the police Bartholomew sat with a small hat polsed fauntily on the side of his head. He did not appear to be alarmed at all by his detention. He at first declined to pose for a photograph, saying that he did not feel like it. When the point was pressed by shown as he shows as the shown was pressed, he shrugged, his shoul-
