Clubmen Practice Hard. The clubmen went out for the last The clubmen went out for the last hard practice last night and it was some workout. All the athletes have been imbued with an intense fighting spirit and the eleven as it now stands "is one of the fastest and scrapplest elevens that ever represented Multnomah," says the Winged "M" Builetin, the official organ of the club.

Coach "Spec" Huriburt gave his players a thorough talking to last night and, with the aid of Dr. Leslie Clough, Manager James O. Convill, Superintendent Dow V. Walker, Martin Pratt, Fred Knibbs and several others, the boys went to the shower baths with the "Get Oregon" lodged fast in their minds.

The 28-to-0 sting of early in the season is still felt by the Portlanders, and this must be wiped out tomorrow afternoon before a Portland audience. Captain Len Streibig had the men working overtime last might and not ene "peep" against it was heard from those vitally interested. Two full teams and four more were out on the saw-dust-covered field for the practice.

Multnomah Hopes for Revenge. The players will meet in the club gymnasium tonight at 7 o'clock to go through a light workout, mostly of signals. Those who attended the 27-to-0 defeat of the Oregon Aggles at the hands of the University of Oregon at Corvaills, Or., last Saturday came back with the idea that a great game can be expected on Multnomah Field Thanksgiving day.
