Impending Drouth Spurs Those Who Would Have Stock on Hand to Call on Friends in Haste.

Shades of the seven years' drouth! With a dusty, arid, "bone-dry" Oreson in prospect after the Legislature whips into shape a law to fit the new prohibition amendment, Multnomah County citizens who find use for their two quarts a month called upon their friends in a panic last month, with the result that liquor importations doubled over the month of October, which had broken all records itself.

County Clerk Coffey sold to common carriers for the use of their liquor seeking patrons a total of 23,800 lega affidavits last month. This compares to 16,900 sold in October and 12,100 dis-posed of in September.

This brings the total number of af-fidavits sold in Multnomah County e the state went dry to 139,600. Only one affidavit for sacramental purposes was required last month though the total for the year is 501. There were 11,450 affidavits issued for alcohol to be used, presumably, externally. This brought the grand total of alcohol affidavits to 104,650 for the 11 months, but it was only the second highest mouth in alcohol slip sales, October leading with 13,000. Strangely, not a physician's prescription for whisky was issued during the month of November, though the year's total of these reaches 2302.
