Allies Will Persist to End to Make Germany Give In, He Declares.

BIG INDEMNITY DEMANDED

Round Table Discussion Now Would Be Useless, Says Man Who Asserts He Is Voicing What Entente Nations Feel.

NEW YORK, Dec. 18. — (Special.) — Peace terms of the allies were made known here today by Stephane Lau-zanne, editor of Le Matin, who is in the country on a mission for the French government. These terms were set forth in an interview as follows: Transylvania to Roumania.

Trentine to Italy.
Alsace-Lorraine to France.
Constantinople to Russia, with Turkey out of Europe.
Restoration and indemnification of Belgium and Serbia.

Limitation on armaments of all countries, with Germany's armament to be decreased first.

An indemnity of $20,000,000,000, part of which will be collected in heavy duties on all German goods imported into allied countries.

M. Lausanne is in very close touch with French Ambassador Jusserand in Washington. He is a sergeant in the French army, sent here on furlough on official business. He is editor-in-chief of Le Matin, which is known as Premier Briand's "organ" in Paris.

He described these as the peace terms and conditions on which the allies will stop fighting.

He predicted the nature and substance of Lioyd-George's address before the House of Commons tomorrow, in which the head of the new British rovwhich the head of the new British government will define what the entente governments mean by "reparation for the past and guarantees for the future."

M. Lauzanne declared with the utmost confidence that Lloyd-George would declare that the allied governments are ready to go on fighting until these aims are accomplished.

"These things." said the publicist. "are what we mean by reparation for the past and guarantees for the future. I know what my fellow-citizens think, and what my government thinks. We which the head of the new British gov

Discussion Now Useless.

"It would be no use to get around the table with Germany now. Germany does not understand yet for what principle and what ideal we are fighting. The German Ambassador in Washington may promise the moon. We know just what that means. Similar proposals have come from Germany twice before for the nations of Europe to get around the table and talk with her, promising that she would be very conciliatory. The treaty that resulted promising that she would be very con-ciliatory. The treaty that resulted from the Berlin conference was finally treated by Austria as a scrap of paper. "When the nations met at Algedras, France having reluctantly accepted Germany's invitation on the strength of conciliatory promises, Germany wanted everything. At times in that conference all the nations were against her, even her ally.

er, even her ally. "Lloyd George, before the Commons tomorrow, will make it clear that the allies cannot now get around the table with Germany and her allies. He will be speaking for the benefit of the people of the entents powers and for neu-trals. He will not speak so much for the benefit of Germany, because it is clear that Germany does not yet understand for what we are fighting. Serbia Not to Suffer.

Question of Raising Revenues to Meet Threatened Situation May Be

Question of Address.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18.—President Wilson and the Cabinet aiready have begun consideration of ways and means to raise revenues to meet the threatened deficit on June 30, 1918. The President let it be known today that he had reached no conclusion, but, in general, was opposed to bond issues except to meet expenditures of a temporary nature. He probably will address Congress on the subject later.

Democrat Active for 40 Years Gives Up Seat He Retained Last Year After Fight to Unanimous Choice, Dr. E. T. Hedlund.

Colonel Robert A. Miller, for 40 years and more a Democratic stalwart and campaign orator of the old school, has announced his permanent retire ment from politics.

The Colonel made the announcement in his valedictory speech as retiring president at the annual election of the Jackson Club, a Democratic political organization, held in the Central Li-brary last night. To make a complete job of it, he also withdrew as chairman of the club's banquet committee in which capacity he was to have been toastmaster at its annual banquet the night of January 8.

Constipation. Take paraffine oil inwardly and lubricate the intestinal channels if you are troubled with constipation. Such is the advice of the many who have been benefited by this method. To lubricate the inside of the bowels with highly refined petroleum is the basic principle of a treatment for constipation now being used in North America and Europe with remarkable success.

The value of petroleum for such a

The value of petroleum for such a purpose was first adjocated by Wm. Arbuthnot Lane, M. D., an eminent English physician.

The new remedy, which is being sold by The Owl Drug Co. under the name of Ameroil, is not a medicine in the ordinary sense of the word; it contains no drug, alcohol or poison. It is a colorless, tasteless and odorless liquid paraffine which, when taken, passes through the bowels, oiling the passage as it goes and softening the hardened masses which have caused the constipation. The resulting movement is absolutely natural, easy and agreeable. Ameroil does not absorb into the system. It causes no pain or griping, and is not in the least weakening in its effects. It is sold in pint bottles
