Four Additional Routes on East Side Proposed on Streets Lacking Service.

CITY'S TERMS ALL MET

Intimation Given That Still Other Applications Will Be Filed. Council Control Provided. Sale of Grant Forbidden.

Stephen Carver, president of the Portland Trackless Car Company, yesterday formally applied to the City Council for four more litney routes. He agrees to accept all the regulations and terms asked by the Council, in addition to taking long runs, maintaining a definite schedule and serving new territory.

new territory.

The four additional routes take in Rose City Park, the districts between Belmont and Sandy Boulevard, the Alberta district and the East Side district south of Alberta and east of Union avenue. The four routes approved hereevenue. The four routes approved here-tofore are principally in the southeast-ern part of the city, extending as far out as Lents. Only where necessary do the lines extend over streets now used by the street railway company. used by the street railway company. In part these are routes offered by the City Council to the Jitney Drivers' Union, but rejected by that organization as being impractical of operation under the most favorable conditions and particularly under regulations such as the Council proposed. Mr. Carver agrees to all of these regulations, including the furnishing of a bond of $10,000 for the protection of passengers in case of accident.

Further Routes Proposed. L. M. Lepper, attorney for Mr. Car-ver, said yesterday that other routes are to be sought. It is believed the company will apply for franchises within the next two or three weeks extending to every part of the city now without service.

The four routes asked for in the franchise application filed yesterday are as follows:

Mr. Foster agrees to all regulations asked by the Council and agrees to a license payment, which, it is figured, will amount to 5 per cent of his gross earnings. He also agrees to furnish a bond of $10,000 for the protection of persons who may be injured in accidents, to give regular scheduled service and to put on additional service at the will of the City Council. He will charge a 10-cent fare.

It is planned by Mr. Foster to operate 11 passenger busses. He proposes a minimum service of one hour during certain parts of the day and every 20 minutes during other parts of the day. He will operate from 6 A. M. to 11 P. M. continuously. The Council, in considering his proposal, made several changes in his route so as to take his busses off congested streets.

Mr. Foster agrees to pay a license of $50 for each car every three months and to carry pelicemen and firemen free of charge. He agrees also to all the minor regulations asked for by the Councils. The large of the proposed franchises. The length of the proposed franchise is three years.
