Victory for Quakers by No Means Certain-Loomis Thought to Have Done No Harm to Westerners' Chances.

BY ROSCOE FAWCETT. The University of Oregon football team will take the field against Pennsylvania on New Year's day just as it lined up against Washington and against California in two of its big games of the year. This was Hugo Bezdek's parting injunction when the lemon-yellow athletes left Eugene last night for Pasadena. There were rumors that Captain Beckett would remain in the backfield against Penn. Beckett was switched to a halfback berth when Johnny Parsons' ineligibility for coast conference games barred him from the Oregon Aggle contest. Beckett did sterling work in that imbroglio.

Evidently Coach Bezdek thinks the

Mitcheil's bad ribs are said to be right again and the brick-topped lad will be back at end again.

up and down the coast seem to favor Pennsylvania by anywhere from 6 to 15 points, the Oregon boys are well-coached, brawny, and as scrappy an outfit as any the coast has seen in several seasons, and these odds seem too lopsided.

The New Year's day game will be played at Tournament Park, in Pasadena, which has the reputation of being the best turf field on the Pacific Coast. CHRISTMAS SWIM IS FLIVVER

Only One Winged "M" Man Jumps in River; Girl Dares Icy Water.

Harry Eddas was the only member of the Multnomah Amateur Athletic Club who scraped up enough courage to swim around in the Willamette River yesterday morning in the scheduled Christmas-day swim. He managed to jump off the Morrison-street bridge, but that was the extent of the entertainment afforded the gathering that came ready for anything.

Mrs. Anna Schrader performed her stunt as scheduled in the afternoon. She had to pay an election bet by swimming in the waters of the Willamette River on Christmas afternoon. She got into the water at the foot of Salmon street and remained for some time. Quite an audience witnessed her performance. A remarkable part of her swim is the fact that she has been swimming for only a little more than a year. She was a pupil of Miss Mills.

Hayward, Manager Geary and Graduate Manager Tiffany entrained on the Shasta Limited tonight for Pasadena, where they will meet the Pennsylvania eleven on New Year's day. There was a large gathering of Eugene folk to bid the boys farewell, but owing to vacations at the university there was only a sprinkling of students.

Twenty-seeven men, including officials, substitutes and recommendation.

clais, substitutes and rooters, accompanied the team. All the men werenthusiastic and realized the hard work before them, and all agreed th F the eight leagues rolling on the Oregon Bowling Alleys only one hardest game of their football career. That it is not a pleasure excursion is understood by all, and from the tem-per shown around the training table the past week every man on the team is in good condition and, whether win or lose, intends putting forth his best efforts.

"We are going down to Pasadena to play football the very best we know how and we are going to win if de-termination and good work will do it," said Coach Bezdek tonight.

The team will arrive in Pasadena about 9 o'clock Wednesday morning, and will have practice and light scrimmage that afterneon. They will also probably scrimmage Thursday and Fri-day, and end up with light work Sat-urday. The probable lineup is as fol-

California wants racing revived. Manager Huggins, of the Cardinals, announces he won't trade any stars for inferior players. Why not, Miller? You can always buy them back at an advanced price. It's been done before.

Did you every stop to think that if you took a hollow hill and turned it upside down you could make a nice valley out of it? Let's go. Charlie Ebbets has started talking again. As one understands it, Mr. Ebbets, in abolishing the bleacher seats, is not going to tear them down; be is only going to call them a grandstand and charge one buck, or as much as he can get. Jess Willard is in Chicago for the Winter, Jess is getting so big you'd hardly know him.
