Bronson wiped out the hair-line decision awarded the San Francisco Conat champion featherweight at Seattle six weeks ago.

The Portland pride won all the way and displayed to the populace that he can box as fast as the shiftiest boy on the Coast and hit harder. Although there was a lot of talk about Bronson's being heavier than Felsinger, the sur-

Jimmy Duffy, 118-pounder from Oak-land, hopped into the hempen square with yellow trunks on and the word "shadow" across them in bold, black letters. He was a shadow, too. Duffy danced around Wing with the pepper of a veteran ballplayer in the Spring and walked away with an easy decision.

Valley Trambitas came through with Valley Trambitas came through with the greatest battle of his career, wal-loping "Young Jack" Johnson, of Bes-ton, at 150 pounds. Trambitas kept on top of his colored competitor and won all the way. After the first two rounds were even the Roumanian land-ed a right-hand punch which seemed to have caught the negro on his wish-bone.

This started Johnson on the skids that lead to defeat. Valley rushed after him, and had Jack on the floor a couple that lead to defeat. Valley rushed after him, and had Jack on the floor a couple of times partly through silpping and partly through being smitten. The referee cautioned Johnson in the Tirst round for wrestling, and when he persisted in the second told Trambitas to perform in that fashion also. When Referee Grant gave Trambitas the verdict it met with popular approval.

Decision Brings Heets.

"Denver Ed" Martin, who officiated in the first three battles, pulled two "Soots," the first since he took it upon himself to referee here.
