EX-LOVERS AT WAR

Mrs. Emma Trout Accuses W. H. Lyness of Kicking Her.

COURT UNCOVERS ROMANCE

Defendant, 62 Years Old, Expresses Sympathy for Plaintiff, Who Responds by Slapping His Face After Hearing Is Over.

"He was bound I wasn't going to have those grain boxes. He just ripped and tore around there. I stooped over the boxes and the first thing I knew I got a good one."
"Did you say that?" queried Deputy District Attorney Deich.
"Thuh! I should say so! I can show you the big black and blue marks."
Such was a portion of the testimony offered yesterday in Municipal Court by Mrs. Emma Trout, the complainant, against W. H. Lyness, a salesman, 62 years old, of 2170 East Market street, charged with assault and battery. Mrs. Trout is 51 years old.
Both testified that the argument arose over the ownership of a small shed, which Lyness claimed had been given him by the owner and which Mrs. Trout was equally positive belonged to her. She sent workmen to tear it down and remove it.
Her manner was pert yet deadly when she confronted Lyness before the court—a vehement little woman in a tailored suit and a white-pompadoured pleasant-faced elderly gentleman.
"Courtesies" Are Exchanged.
"Didn't you say, 'Go 'way, you old hypocrite' 'Go 'way, you old rascal'?" demanded the defendant in examination. "Thuh, mebbe I did," was the affirmation. "You say I kicked you?" The answer was shrilly positive. "You certainly did! When I stooped over, you gave me a good one."
The defendant prefaced his remarks to the court by declaring that he felt sorry for Mrs. Trout, but that she had repeatedly attacked him. He entered emphatic denial to the alleged kick or to having struck Mrs. Trout in any manner.
"Have you folks ever been lovers?" said Judge Langguth with sudden inspiration. The defendant colored and turned his head, but Mrs. Trout held her head high and her eyes sparkled. "Sure we were," she triumphed. "He courted me for three years before he took me away from a good home. He got all my money and I slaved for him."
Valiantly Lyness rallied to the ex-

200 GRADUATE TONIGHT

EXERCISES TO BE HELD IN FOUR PORTLAND HIGH SCHOOLS.

About Half of Those Getting Diplomas From Lincoln, Washington, Jefferson and Benson to Attend College.

Graduating exercises will be held tonight in four Portland schools. Two hundred boys and girls will finish their courses in Lincoln, Washington and Jefferson high schools and Benson Polytechnic.
There will be addresses to the classes at each place, supplemented by musical features, award of prizes for excellence in German and the presentation of diplomas.
E. P. McKey will address the graduates of Jefferson High School; Rev. Joshua Stansfield will speak at Lincoln; E. B. Piper will speak at Washington, and N. G. Pike at the Couch School, where the Benson exercises will be held.
O. M. Plummer is to present the diplomas at Jefferson, Dr. J. Francis Drake at Lincoln, Dr. Alan Welch Smith at Washington and S. P. Lockwood at Benson.
Thirty-nine of the Jefferson High School class expect to enter college. Washington will send 25, Lincoln 24 and Benson 7.
Eleven colleges and schools will draw the 103 students who expect to matriculate at them. The most popular are Oregon Agricultural College and the University of Oregon. Other colleges to be represented are: Oregon State Normal School, Boston Tech., Purdue, Reed College, University of Michigan, Stanford University, University of California, University of Washington, Willamette University and the Portland Arts School.

RECEIVER ASKS DELAY

CASHIER COMPANY NOT NOW ABLE TO PAY $35,000, HE SAYS.

DEBT TO MONEY MACHINE CO. SHOULD BE CONTINUED IN INTERESTS OF STOCKHOLDERS, COURT IS INFORMED.

Extension of time for the payment of a $35,000 balance on a $100,000 debt incurred by the International Money Machine Company by a contract with the now defunct United States Cashier Company is asked by Receiver S. M. Meares in a petition filed in the Circuit Court yesterday.
Payment was due January 1, 1917, and extension is asked until July 1, 1917, for the best interests of stockholders in both companies.
The value of shares of the capital stock of the International Company held by the United States Company and one of the chief assets of the defunct concern; also the ability of the International Company to pay the $35,000 debt, depend entirely on the success of the International Company, which would be endangered seriously if the extension is not granted, he says.
In 1914 the United States Company sold its United States, Canadian and Mexican patent rights to the International Money Machine Company, receiving in return 75,000 shares of the capital stock of the International concern.
In 1914 and 1915 Federal prosecution against the United States Cashier Company for fraudulent use of the mails resulted in the conviction and sentence of the president, vice-president, sales manager and three sales agents of the corporation to the Penitentiary. This embarrassed relations with the International Company, but a contract was drawn up returning a majority interest in the Eastern concern for $100,000. The International Company is now engaged in the erection of a $120,000 factory at Reading, Pa., and insistence on the fulfillment of the contract payments now might be disastrous, it is held.
Fine Holstein Bull Dies Suddenly.
KLAMATH FALLS, Or., Jan. 25.—(Special.)—Galea Walker Dekol, the thoroughbred 3-year-old Holstein bull owned by Eszel Bros., of this city, died Monday night in his stall at the Eszel Stock Farm, a few miles southeast of this city. The bull was apparently in good health the day before. Galea Walker Dekol was purchased by the Eszel Bros. when a yearling for $1000. The cause of his death is not known.
