Next Game.

Monday—Multnomah Club versus Police.

The Multnomah Amateur Athletic Club ice hockey team remained at the top of the Portland Amateur Hockey Association by virtue of a sensational 1-to-0 overtime victory over the Northwest Auto Hockey Club puckchasers in the Ice Palace last night. After battling for three periods without obtaining a score, the teams changed goals and within 30 seconds Deo Mallett went down the ice and netted the puck on a long shot from Bill Royle.

It was by far the most exciting amateur game that has ever been played in Portland, and both septets were keyed up to the highest pitch. The Winged "M" athletes have won the championship of the circuit for the last two years and they are in a fair way to repeat. Manager M. D. Wells and his Police hockeyists will be seen in action against the fast-going Cardinal and White wearers in the Ice Palace next Monday night.

In the afternoon yesterday the Jefferson High won from the Washington High, 4 to 1. Lincoln High and Washington High play next Friday night.

The line-up of last night's game follows:

James Seaborn, last year with the Vancouver Millionaires, is in Portland to officiate with George Irvine in tonight's ice hockey game between Portland and Vancouver in the Ice Palace. He may wear an Uncle Sam uniform during the 1917-18 season, but he has been looking over the situation and he is willing to come to an agreement with the local manager.

He intends to remain in Portland this Summer if everything is satisfactory. If arrangements can be made the Ice Palace may be turned into a natatorium during the Summer months this year. This may be done as soon as the 1916-17 ice skating season is completed.

The announcement that "Cyclone" Taylor was going to get into the game tonight caused a flurry among hockey followers. He was operated on for appendicitis early last month and his return means that the greatest hockey player ever seen in the Pacific Coast Hockey Association, or the National Hockey Association, again will offer his thrills and dashes to Portland enthusiasts. The game will start at 8:30 o'clock.

ELLIOTT BUYS PRUNE RANCH

Rowdy Prepares to Raise Fruit if Cubs Spurn Salary Demand.

OAKLAND, Cal., Jan. 29.—(Special.)—Meet Howard Elliott, grower of prunes!

The chubby little catcher of the Chicago Cubs has announced that he has secured a half interest in the Gordon ranch at Colusa, Cal., and would devote all his spare cash henceforth towards bulling the prune market. He may manage the Colusa club, also!

The Gordon ranch consists of 330 acres, so it can be seen right away that "Rowdy" doesn't intend to be a minor leaguer in the horticultural game.

"Yes, it's true," admitted Elliott. "A wealthy friend of mine has made me a mighty generous business proposition and I intend to accept it. Whether I remain in baseball or not I intend to invest my savings."

Elliott declared that if the Chicago Cubs declined to give him a substantial increase in salary he would remain in Colusa and run the home town baseball team, by gosh!

Harvard and Cornell May Break.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Jan. 29.—Probability of a break in rowing relations between Cornell and Harvard developed at a meeting of the Harvard rowing committee tonight. P. S. Howe, undergraduate crew manager, said after the meeting that Cornell had invited the crimson to row at Ithaca on May 25, that Harvard had replied the date was too late and suggested an earlier be named, but Cornell answered that May 25 was the best available date.

Palmer is going better in San Francisco. He stopped a good boy named Coggins there the other night.

7 DOG TEAMS TOGETHER

FOUR CATCH UP WITH 3 LEADERS AFTER HARD DAY.

Eighth Entry Struggles Along Far in Rear With One Husky Gone and Swollen Knee as Handicaps.

ROTHSAY, Minn., Jan. 29.—Three teams in the Winnipeg-to-St. Paul dog race, leading since the second day, were overtaken here tonight by four of the remaining five contestants, who had put in an 18-hour day and covered 75.9 miles, a record day's run.

The eighth entry, Fred Hartman, an American, who has continued in the running despite the loss of one of his dogs, was reported late tonight to be somewhere between Fargo, N. D., and Barnesville, Minn., traveling under the additional handicap of a swollen knee.

Rothsay, 286.6 miles from Winnipeg, where the start was made last Wednesday noon, was reached by the three leaders—Hyurtur Hanson, Mike Kelly and Gunnar Tomasson—at 8 o'clock tonight and two hours and eight minutes later the four other teams crawled into town.

BRIDGE TYPE IS UNFIXED

POLK COURT WANTS CONCRETE AND MARION STEEL.

In Meantime West Salem Residents Start Move to Cut Selves Off From Polk County.

DALLAS, Or., Jan. 29.—(Special.)—The County Court of Polk County stands ready to accept plans and specifications for the construction of a bridge across the Willamette at Salem, provided the plans call for a high, level concrete bridge, with a 30-foot roadway.

Plans for such a structure have been submitted by a Portland architect and engineer, and have received the approval of the local court. However, Marion County Court desires a steel bridge.

The decision of the Southern Pacific Company to permit the use of its steel bridge across the river for public travel has been received with much gratitude by the people of Polk County. The railroad company will not permit the planking of its bridge until a contract has been let for the new bridge. Tolls will be charged.

STATE CAPITOL, Salem, Or., Jan. 29.—(Special.)—A mass meeting has been called at West Salem for next Saturday to discuss the possibility of voting on dividing Polk County, according to information reaching here today. The county division agitation has resulted from discord over the proposed intercounty bridge across the Willamette River.

It is said considerable agitation has arisen in West Salem, Eola and other precincts near the eastern boundary line of the county.

ALIEN BILL IS OPPOSED

PORTLAND SPEAKERSPOINT OUT THAT ACT IS NOT NEEDED.

Chamber Secretary Feels Chances for Steamer Line to Orient Would Be Seriously Injured.

STATE CAPITOL, Salem, Or., Jan. 29.—(Special.)—W. D. B. Dodson, secretary of the Portland Chamber of Comerce; H. B. Miller, ex-United States Consul-General at Yokohama, and others appeared before the Senate judiciary committee tonight to voice vigorous protest against Senator Wilbur's bill modeled after the California law to debar Japanese and Chinese from owning land in Oregon.

Mr. Dodson said that such action not only was entirely unnecessary, but that it would endanger commercial relations with Japan and China. He said that there is no demand for such a law and that the number of foreign-born Japanese and Chinese in this country is decreasing each year, so that the problem is solving itself.

He particularly emphasized the fact that efforts of the Portland Chamber of Commerce to obtain a direct steamship line from Portland to the Orient would be injured by such a law.

The fact that California and Washington have such laws, he said, and that Oregon has not, have bettered Oregon's chances for such a line.

Mr. Miller laid stress on the fact that the Japanese government has agreed to restrain immigration itself, and that it has been living up to its agreement. To pass such a law, he said, would be construed as an insult by the Japanese people.

Other speakers were Arthur Emmons and W. W. Banks, representatives of Portland Japanese and Chinese.

WEATHER TO BE FAIR AND COLDER

Sunday's Varieties Are Reproduced in Portland Again on Monday.

DELAYED TRAINS ARE DUE

Snow Blockade in Wyoming Is Reported Pierced and Railroad Communication Is Re-established—Mails Will Arrive.

"Fair and colder" is the weather prediction from the office of the Weather Bureau, while the railway offices predict that the interrupted mail communications with the East will be restored and some of the delayed trains will begin bowling into Portland today.

Yesterday was as fickle a day as Sunday, with alternating brands of weather that might indicate anything from the breaking up of Winter to the breaking down of Fall. Heavy snows that have fallen in Eastern and Central Oregon have caused the delay of the mail trains from the East. Not a single through train over the Union Pacific from Chicago has reached Portland since Friday.

The snow blockade in Wyoming has been pierced, according to announcements yesterday, and the 19 passenger trains stalled back near Laramie, Wyo., began to move westward once more. The Northern Pacific, Great Northern and Milwaukee trains have been similarly tied up and the principal railway communication on the Pacific Coast for the past few days has been north and south.

About 19 freight trains were stalled on the Union Pacific also, but are now moving west.

The passenger and mail trains will begin to get into Portland this afternoon, it is hoped, provided no further interruption develops.

BLIZZARD STRIKES HOQUIAM

Six Inches of Snow Falls and Weather Is Squally.

HOQUIAM, Wash., Jan. 29.—(Special.)—The Gray's Harbor district has been swept by a severe blizzard most of today and tonight. It became most severe late today, with wind increasing in velocity and shifting to the northwest. The storm wasn't steady and the snowfall on the harbor was by squalls.

On the harbor about six inches of snow has fallen, the heaviest fall this Winter. Further back in the high country the fall is much heavier, being a foot or more in most of the logging camps. The snow has forced practically all of the logging camps in this district to close down. The first northwest storm warning received in five years was issued tonight.

ORCHARDISTS WELCOME SNOW

Heavy Fall Follows High Wind at Hood River.

HOOD RIVER, Or., Jan. 29.—(Special.)—A steady snowfall, beginning with a wind storm from the West yesterday, has continued throughout the day. The depth in the Lower Valley varies from three inches in the city to 10 inches on higher levels, while more than a foot of new snow, it is estimated, fills the canyons of the higher mountainous districts. The precipitation is welcomed by fruit growers.

Forests of the Mid-Columbia and precipitous gorge sides, all enshrouded in a blanket of the moist, clinging snow, have aroused many expressions of admiration from passengers on O-W. R. & N. trains today.

SEATTLE'S WEATHER COLDEST

Streetcar and Railroad Traffic Is Not Impeded.

SEATTLE, Jan. 29.—More snow fell today. The coldest weather of the Winter is predicted for tonight by the Weather Bureau. On two nights already this Winter, the temperature has fallen to 26 above zero, but tonight the thermometer is expected to fall perhaps as low as 22. The cold spell will be of brief duration, however. There has been no interruption of street-car or railroad traffic.

The amount of snow in the Cascades is less than is usual at this time of the year, the Winter snow fall having been much below normal.

LOGGING CAMPS MAY CLOSE

Grays Harbor Country Covered With Snow and Storm Lasts.

ABERDEEN, Wash., Jan. 29.—(Special.)—From three to six inches of snow is mantling Grays Harbor and if the storm continues, as it threatens to do, all the logging camps in the county may be forced to close. One camp of the Wishkah water project has closed, but all others in the county operated throughout the day.

A heavy wind is accompanying the snowfall.

Snow Melts Fast at Astoria.

ASTORIA, Or., Jan. 29.—(Special.)—A snow storm with a southwest wind blowing is rather unusual for this section, but that is what Astoria experienced this morning, and during the early hours fully two inches of snow fell. The temperature was several degrees above freezing and before night the bulk of the snow had disappeared. This afternoon the wind shifted to the northwest and since then there have been frequent squalls of rain, hail and sleet.

Foot of Snow at South Bend.

SOUTH BEND, Wash., Jan. 28.—(Special.)—A blizzard is sweeping over Pacific County and has covered the ground with close to a foot of dry snow. The temperature at 7 o'clock tonight was 29 above with a violent snow storm raging.

Ridgefield Farmers Rejoice.

RIDGEFIELD, Wash., Jan. 29.—(Special.)—Snow fell at intermittent periods Sunday in Ridgefield. Late Sunday night snow fell to a depth of several inches and still remains on the ground. Snow flurries occurred today which added to the fall already on the ground. Farmers with Fall grain are rejoicing at the arrival of snow, as it will materially aid their crops.

Snow at The Dalles Helpful.

THE DALLES, Or., Jan. 29.—(Special.)—A heavy snow storm preceded the rainfall yesterday and about four inches has fallen and will be a great benefit to this section. There seems to be no let-up on the storm.

Dallas Has Four Inches of Snow.

DALLAS, Or., Jan. 29.—(Special.)—About four inches of snow fell in this section of Polk County last night, and it is still snowing. The wind is from the southwest. The present storm found a great many of the prune orchards ready to bud. About two weeks ago a blossom was picked from one apple tree in this city. A great many of the trees were budding. What effect a cold spell will have upon the fruit crop is problematical.

RIVAL BOARDS SEEK AID

State Health Body and Hygiene Society Case to Be Heard.

SALEM, Or., Jan. 29.—(Special.)—Thursday evening is the time set by the joint ways and means committee for what promises to be one of the liveliest sessions before that body. The State Board of Health and representatives of the Oregon Social Hygiene Society will appear and present their respective claims for appropriations. The Board of Health wishes to take over the work of the Hygiene Society and to do away with the other society in all respects but in an advisory capacity. The Hygiene Society objects.

The State Board of Health wishes to procure $44,558 for the biennium, to handle its own work and the work of the Social Hygiene Society as well. The society wishes $40,000 for the next two years to handle its own work. It received $15,000 two years ago, while two years ago the State Board of Health was granted $31,000.

STANDARD CHEESE IS AIM

All Factories in Coos and Curry Counties Join Association.

MARSHFIELD, Or., Jan. 29.—(Special.)—Patrons of the Norway cheese factory, the last factory to hold out from joining the Coos and Curry Counties Cheese Association, which was organized to standardize the product in this territory and establish a selling agency, have voted to identify with the association. The action adds much to the strength of the corporation, since the Norway establishment is one of the best known in the state.

The Norway factory last year manufactured and sold 334,008 pounds of cheese, and its patrons received an average of 38.5 cents a pound for their butterfat. Guy Ford, of Tillamook, an expert cheese manufacturer, has been engaged to standardize the output of the association.

Astoria High School Grows.

ASTORIA, Or., Jan. 29.—(Special.)—Nearly 300 students enrolled at Astoria High School this morning for the second term. The enrollment of last term was 246 and the addition this morning came from the city grammar schools and the several small towns in the vicinity. A majority of the students are girls.

Timber Company Changes Name.

ASTORIA, Or., Jan. 29.—(Special.)—Supplementary articles of incorporation of the Washington & Oregon Timber Company were filed in the County Clerk's office today changing the name of the corporation to the Kerry Timber Company.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

A moderate disturbance has developed over interior Washington and southwest storm warnings were ordered displayed at 6:10 P. M. today at the mouth of the Columbia River, and northwest warnings for all remaining Washington seaports. Maximum wind velocities of 52 miles west at North Head and Tatoosh Island, 28 northwest at Port Angeles and 30 southwest at Seattle were reported. Another depression is over Northern Colorado and the Northeastern "low" is moving rapidly down the St. Lawrence Valley. A large high-pressure area with attendant very low temperatures is advancing southward over Western Canada. Precipitation has occurred in most of the Northern states, in California, the Lower Mississippi Valley and northeastward to the North Atlantic Coast. The weather is warmer in most of the Southwestern and Southern border states, and from the Gulf of Mexico northeastward to Canada; in general it is colder in Northwestern and North-Central United States and Western and Central Canada. Temperatures are 40 degrees below normal in Alberta and 30 degrees below normal at Havre this evening.

Although conditions continue somewhat unsettled over this district, they are favorable for generally fair weather in this district Tuesday with lower temperatures, probably developing into a cold wave east of the Cascade Mountains. Winds will shift to northerly.

FORECASTS.

Portland and vicinity—Tuesday probably fair, colder; northerly winds.

Oregon and Washington—Tuesday generally fair; colder with cold wave east portion, winds becoming northerly.

Idaho—Tuesday generally fair, colder with cold wave.

North Pacific Coast—Tuesday occasional rain or snow, moderate to strong westerly to northwesterly winds.
