SNOW GIRLS BILLED

Classical Dancers, Who Made Gotham Gasp, at Orpheum.

ALL FROM LOS ANGELES.—Western Maids Are to Be Feature of Road Show Sunday and Car of Elaborate Scenery Is to Be Used in Act.

Sixteen girls gleaned from the Far West, who astounded New York last Winter by dancing in the snow in Central Park, will arrive here next Sunday for a four days' visit. They are the "Greater Morgan Dancers," stars of the Orpheum road show and which they will present the same act that set Old Manhattan agog.

The war forestalled foreign bookings for the act and Mr. Beck, managing director of the Orpheum circuit, prevailed upon Miss Morgan to traverse the storm and in a month's time to have been sought long and tirelessly by Eastern devotees of classical dancing.

Girls Are Californians.—Miss Marion Morgan is an American girl. She took a two years' course in physical culture at the New York Normal school and was appointed supervisor of city playgrounds in Los Angeles. Then she was appointed head of the physical education department of the Manual Arts High School of that city.

Miss Morgan then went East with a pupil intending to revel in European art and outdoor Continental life. When in New York she was invited to the Morgan home by a friend and entered the Academy of Art. She spent a California history 15 of her former pupils and in a short while she had arranged a dancing act which commanded the attention of New York's producers.

The act offered by "The Greater Morgan Dancers" is a historical ballet in three episodes, featuring the ballet of the Vestal Virgins. The story is historically accurate and relates the adventure of a young man who enters the inner shrines of the temple of Vesta and is killed by a thunderbolt when he attempts to steal away the chief of the vestals after he has dared to look upon the virgin.

Car of Scenery Carried.—The act requires a carload of special scenery and seven men are carried to handle the mechanical details and lighting effects, which are designed to be the most magnificent ever seen in vaudeville. Ashton Stevens, the New York dramatic critic, in reviewing the act said:

It is to be doubted if the Palace could have obtained anywhere a more dramatic act than Marion Morgan's classic dancers. In the tallest definition of the word, it would find that the Russians themselves have done nothing finer. The history of the Roman ballet executed by Miss Morgan's William Williams, albeit the fact for people at the vestals is sudden death.

Students would have marveled in the color Miss Morgan has chosen for the girl. Her costumes, as Miss Morgan says, "would applaud the austere beauty of iron scales and the nicely calculated admirer of the light and airy a liberal education in art while you are painting."

HOMER F. FORD SOUGHT FOR EMBEZZLEMENT OF LUMBER CO.—One Check for $6200, Payable to City Treasurer, Cashed—Woman Taken Along Belief.

Homer F. Ford, for the past year employed as bookkeeper by the Peninsula Lumber Company, has disappeared, taking with him money estimated at approximately $9000 obtained by means of forged checks, according to information in the hands of the authorities. He is being sought by the Sheriff's office and by the Burns Detective Agency, Ford's wife was bonded.

Ford is said to have confined his operations to Saturday, and as a consequence the work was not discovered until Monday morning. The authorities can learn the man left late Saturday night or Sunday morning. He is believed to have left with a woman with whom he is said to have been living in a Washington street apartment-house. According to F. S. Alkua, of the Burns Detective Agency, Ford's wife was separated from him recently.

Ford made out and paid all checks for the company, procuring the signature of William Anderson, cashier, to each. One check for $37,700 made originally to William Adams, City Treasurer, he is said to have been raised to $200.

J. L. YOST IS CAPTURED.—Man Accused of Buying Diamonds With Bad Checks.

The bad-check operations of J. L. Yost, 37 years old, which secured him $900 worth of diamonds in this city, and stones of equal value in Spokane, according to the police, were brought to an end by his arrest in the latter city, according to information furnished by City Detectives Royle and Vaughn. Yost was brought back to Portland yesterday by Detective Royle.

Dapper and self-assured, Yost is said to have presented a worthless $600 draft for collection at a local bank, the paper being drawn on the Conrad National Bank of Billings, Mont. Immediately afterward he is said to have visited the jeweler and selected the diamonds, telling them that he must pay by check and advising that they call up the bank to verify his claim regarding the draft. On the meager representation he was given the stones.
