Long Cheers Greet Report of Vote.

ISSUE BEFORE PEOPLE JUNE 4

Legislature Works Far Into Night to Clean Up Bills.

CONFLICTS ALL CLEARED

Route of Some Roads Changed and New Ones Ordered in Other Cases by Measure—$1,000,000 Is Limit for First Year.

STATE CAPITOL, Salem, Or., Feb. 19.—(Special.)—The Legislature adjourned sine die at 2:30 o'clock this morning.

STATE CAPITOL, Salem, Or., Feb. 19.—(Special.)—At 12:30 o'clock this morning the joint conference committee from the House and Senate agreed on all disputed points in the $6,000,000 road bonds bill.

A few minutes later both Houses concurred. The bill now goes to the Governor.

The joint conference committee was composed of Senators Orton, Shanks and Vinton, and Representatives Rittner, Schimpff and Laurgaard.

Except for a few bills on which conference committees are still working both Houses had completed their work at 12:30 o'clock this morning.

STATE CAPITOL, Salem, Or., Feb. 19.—(Special.)—With only four dissenting votes the $6,000,000 road bonds measure, amended to provide for its submission to the people at a special election next June 4, passed the Senate at 8:25 o'clock today.

It was sent immediately to the House for concurrence.

Late tonight the House passed the Senate's special election bill. The House amended the bill, however, so that the Normal School question and the proposal to build a $200,000 home for delinquent children, both of which were referred to the people by Legislative resolutions, will not be voted upon by the people until the regular election in November, 1918.

Twenty-five to four was the vote by which the measure passed the Senate.

The four Senators who held out against any bonding measure to the bitter end, even after friends of the bill had made almost every concession asked and its ratification by the people had been accepted as a condition of its passage, were Dimick, La Follett, Pierce and Strayer.

BONE-DRY LAW IS SIGNED BY LISTER

FUNDS FOR REFERENDUM EFFORT SAID TO BE LACKING.

Law Prohibits Possession of Liquor Except by Ministers and Radical Penalties Are Provided.

OLYMPIA, Wash., Feb. 19.—Governor Lister signed the bone-dry prohibition bill at 1:45 o'clock this afternoon in the presence of Representative Elmer Halsey, author of the bill, officers of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, and other advocates of the bill.

There was handclapping from the group surrounding the Governor when he wrote his name. Unless referred by petition to the 1918 election, the law will become effective 90 days after adjournment of the Legislature. A total of 23,656 names would be necessary to send the law to referendum, and so far as known, no steps have yet been taken to obtain names, further than to ask liquor dealers and organizations in other states whether they would bear the expense of collecting the names.

The answer was said to have been that the liquor dealers would expend no more money in this state. The law prohibits possession of intoxicating liquor by any person except regularly ordained clergymen, priests and rabbis actually in charge of congregations, for sacramental purposes. It allows wholesale and retail druggists and manufacturing chemists to handle alcohol only if granted a license after public hearing and provides radical penalties for violations.

LONDON, Feb. 19.—British troops on the left bank of the Tigris River in Iraq took the offensive on Saturday against the Turkish positions at Sannaiyat, says a British official statement issued today, and occupied two Turkish front lines on a frontage of 350 yards and 540 yards, respectively.

The Turks launched two heavy counter attacks and forced the British right wing back to its original line. The British left wing repulsed a Turkish counter attack, but when night came the troops were withdrawn from their newly won positions.

SPY PLOT AGAINST BRITISH IS CHARGED

ARRESTS MADE FOR USING UNITED STATES AS BASE.

Agents Sent to England Said to Have Sent Back Information Written in Invisible Ink.

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—Agents of the Department of Justice arrested here tonight two men, giving their names as Albert S. Sander and Charles W. Wunnenburg, charged with violating the Federal law against carrying on a military enterprise against a foreign country.

They are accused of conspiring to obtain military information in England to be sent to this country and then forwarded to Germany.

The complaint charged them with conspiring to employ agents to obtain maps, photos and other military information in England and Ireland for the benefit of Germany.

Sander, who is 35 years old, is president of the Central Powers War Films Exchange in this city. Wunnenburg, 40 years old, is his assistant. Counsel for the accused men said tonight that Wunnenburg has been a naturalized citizen of this country 25 years.

The men are accused of sending to Great Britain agents who obtained military information which was transmitted to this country in letters written in invisible ink. This information, it is alleged, was disseminated in the United States to agents of the central powers.

Secret service agents had been working on the case for months. They began soon after the arrest in England of George Vaux Bacon, who claimed to represent American newspapers. Bacon's photograph was forwarded to this country by the British authorities and by means of it, Superintendent O'Flynn said, the secret service was able to connect him with the operations of Sander and Wunnenburg.

The Federal agents' investigation is said to have involved at least 15 so-called newspapermen employed by Sander and Wunnenburg and ordered by them to England and Ireland. Military data were brought to this country by some of their number traveling as American citizens. Women frequently were used, sometimes innocently, to carry this information.

The ink used deceived the British authorities for some time because it does not become visible under heat, but requires a special chemical preparation.

MRS. CADWALLADER WITH GIRL AT HOTEL

Employer Not Along, Is Testimony at Trial.

GIFT OF CANDY IS DISPUTED

Husband Admits Taking $1000 From Troeh for Intrusion.

TRIP TO SEAVIEW RECITED

Witnesses Say James E. Cameron, Rich Timberman, and Pretty Stenographer Were Not Alone at Beach Resort.

Charles L. Cadwallader offered reasons of his own and testimony of witnesses in the court of Circuit Judge Davis yesterday to show why he believed James E. Cameron, wealthy timberman, has stolen the love of Mrs. Dorothy Cadwallader—his pretty stenographer—the injury of Mr. Cadwallader in the sum of $50,000.

He admitted receiving a note for $1000 from Jesse Troeh, assistant manager of a local candy shop, last April, in recompense for an alleged intrusion in the Cadwallader home, but said that this was not the cause of the broken ties, as he and his wife agreed to live together following what he referred to as the "Troeh incident."

"Troeh Incident" Explained. Mr. Cameron's attentions to his stenographer were responsible for the desertion which led Mr. Cadwallader to secure a divorce last November. He cleared the aggrieved husband, Mrs. Cadwallader, on the other hand, testified that she lost her respect for Mr. Cadwallader when he could not work and support her and that the Troeh case was a direct cause of her leaving her husband.

Mr. Cadwallader's own testimony of the note incident at his home, after his wife had admitted to him that Mr. Troeh had visited her one night, was: "There was a silence for some while when I told Troeh my wife had admitted things. He asked me what my sentiment was.

"I told him I wouldn't settle things in the usual way—that I'd make it a matter of dollars and cents. I said $1500 would be about right. He said he couldn't pay it, but if I took off $500 he could. So I made out the note for $1000."

He testified he had not yet cashed the note, which was payable last July, because he did not feel that Mr. Troeh was the real one who had broken up his home.

Chief allegations in the plaintiff's case, as presented yesterday, were six in number.

First in importance may have been the charge that Mrs. Cadwallader stayed two nights at the Cornelius Hotel and one night at the Portland Hotel while her husband was out of town and that Mr. Cameron paid for her room each night. Henry E. Fletcher, manager of the Cornelius, and Joseph Herman, clerk at the Portland, were witnesses called by the plaintiff.

In cross-examination by Attorneys McCourt and Watkins it was shown that the rooms were occupied by Mrs. Cadwallader and a girl friend, Alice Troeh, on February 2, 3 and 4. This was during the silver throb when cars were not running to Mrs. Cadwallader's home in the Mount Scott district, and at a time when hundreds of other young women were provided with hotel accommodations by employers.

Mr. Cameron Not Alone. There was no evidence that Mr. Cameron had visited Mrs. Cadwallader at her hotel, though he took her to the Cornelius the night of February 2. Mr. Cameron was registered at the Portland the first night Mrs. Cadwallader was at the Cornelius and was not registered at either hotel the other nights.

A second charge of the plaintiff was that Mr. Cameron gave his wife a large box of candy on Christmas, 1912. He produced the box in court. His divorced wife took the stand and identified the box as one he himself had given her the first Christmas following their marriage in 1912.

She remembered it particularly, she said, because her husband was so pleased at being able to get it at a wholesale house, where it cost less than it would have cost at retail.

Visit to Beach Gone Into. Then there was the incident of the 1913 vacation at Seaview, Wash. Mr. Cadwallader said his wife went there alone, that Mr. Cameron followed her, went swimming with her and stayed nights at the same cottage with her.

On cross-examination of Mrs. Minnie Misner, at whose cottage the two stayed, Mrs. Misner asserted that Mrs. Cadwallader slept with her every night of her visit, and that her mother and sister were in the cottage at the same time. Mr. Cameron was invited to stay there because there was no room at the hotel, she said.

When they went swimming there were hundreds on the beach. Mrs. Misner said Mr. Cameron paid no more attention to Mrs. Cadwallader than he did to her, and that Mrs. Cadwallader
