

BILL TO PAY FOR ELEGY PASSES

House Suspends Rules to Provide $12,000 for Vote on Road Bonds Measure.

LULL SPENT IN DANCING

In Spite of Lobby of Banks, Bill Is Passed Requiring Interest on Port Deposits—Albina Ferry Is Saved.

STATE CAPITOL, Salem, Or., Feb. 19.—(Special.)—While the Senate was battling with the road bill today, the House was indulging in a little road legislation of its own.

And the House's part involved in no small way the entire road program.

In the rush of other business on Saturday the House indefinitely postponed the bill appropriating $12,000 for the special election proposed by the big bond bill as amended in the Senate.

The House rules prescribe that no question once postponed indefinitely can be considered again at the same session. It requires a two-thirds vote to suspend the rules, and the opponents of the road program were in good position to prevent the other side from getting the necessary two-thirds majority.

Paving Influences Charged. Representative Schimpf, chairman of the roads committee, appealed to the House to suspend the rules and re-urget the bill so that it could be passed over to the Senate. He pointed out that if the Senate failed to pass the big bond bill the special election bill could be killed over there, too.

Representative Childs, who opposed the bond bill on final passage last week, struggled to retain the parliamentary advantage gained by the unintentional indefinite postponement.

Childs intimated that the assembly undue haste to get the bond issue before the people is inspired by the paving interests. He read a letter from John M. Lewis, state engineer, declaring that the patents on bituminous pavement held by the Warren Brothers Company expire in 1920. He thought this situation more than an accident.

But many members who voted against the bond bill the other day took the view that good roads people should have a fair chance to get their question before the people and refused to vote with Childs. The rules were suspended, the bill reconsidered and passed with a big vote.

House Move Affects Election. Had the House refused to suspend the rules it is probable that the whole bonding question would have been deferred until the next general election in November, 1918.

The House had a pleasant and comparatively easy day of it. Only two House bills remained on the calendar. One carried an appropriation of $500 for the Interstate Fair at Prineville. Representative Forbes explained that this money is to be used in paying premiums on livestock exhibits, and that it will aid materially in developing the livestock industry of Central Oregon.

The House killed the bill put through by the Multnomah delegation of the Senate granting the Multnomah Commissioners of Multnomah County full power to establish ferry routes across the Willamette. It seems that the Commissioners want to put out one of the Albina ferries, and the Multnomah delegation in the House, led by Scott, put the skids under the scheme.

Hanks' Lobby Defeated. Despite the active little lobby conducted by representatives of some of the country banks, aided by a few busy little members of the House, Senator Olson's bill requiring banks to pay interest on deposits of port districts was passed. This bill affects every port district within the state.

The House amended the bill so that the Port Commissioners can deposit the money outside their own districts if the banks within the district refuse to pay the interest.

The House got through with its business and cleaned up its desk about 6 o'clock. Adjournment then was taken until 8 o'clock to consider business coming over from the Senate.

A piano was moved into the House chamber and the members, their wives and clerks enjoyed some music and dancing while waiting for the more dilatory Senate to catch up.

RURAL BILL PASSED Oregon Farmers to Get Cheap Money.

LAND BOARD TO OFFICIATE Loans Will Be Made at Not More Than One Per Cent Higher Than Rate Bonds Bring and Repayment Runs to 36 Years.

STATE CAPITOL, Salem, Or., Feb. 19.—(Special.)—Cheap money—the dream of the Oregon farmer for generations—is to become reality through the rural credits bill passed by the House this morning.

The measure already had passed the Senate and was amended in a few minor particulars. Upon the passage of the measure the Governor's signing the bill it will become a law, as it carries an emergency clause.

The bill is intended merely to carry into effect the rural credits constitutional amendment passed by the people at the general election last Fall.

Land Board to Administer. Administration of the rural credits system is placed in the hands of the State Land Board. In this particular the measure meets the views of State Treasurer Kay as distinguished from the views of Senator Shanks, whose rural credits bill was killed in the Senate after Kay and Shanks had aired their respective views in the newspapers.

The Board is authorized to sell bonds in series of $50,000 or multiples thereof, in amounts necessary to carry out the provisions of the constitutional amendment.

The terms under which the bonds are to be sold and the money lent to the farmers is prescribed by the constitutional amendment itself. The bonds are to bear interest at a rate fixed by the Board, but it is believed that they will run about 4 per cent. The farmers are to get the money at a rate not more than 1 per cent in excess of the interest rate on the bonds.

All applications for loans must be accompanied by a fee of 1 per cent of the amount asked for. The Board is authorized to send out inspectors to determine the value of the property. No loans can be made in excess of 50 per cent of the appraised value of the land.

Water Rights Estimated. An amendment inserted in the bill this morning by Representative Rittner provides that water rights appurtenant to the land are to be taken into consideration in estimating the value.

Borrowers must be actual residents on the land for which they borrow, but a land owner may borrow for the improvement of holdings other than those upon which he lives, providing he owns the property upon which he lives.

The inspectors working under the Board are to be paid at the rate of two-fifths of 1 per cent of the amount of the loan granted, but in order to prevent inspectors granting loans for the purpose of earning the fee only one-third is to be paid if the examination is made and the bonds are sold.

Bonds authorized under provisions of the bill are to run for a period of 36 years. Farmers will have that length of time to redeem them. A system of payments has been devised that provides for amortization of the principal without interest, with the balance of the principal being paid to the banks for interest alone.

MERGER PLAN PASSES STANFIELD RESOLUTION PROVIDES FOR BUSINESS MEN ON TASK.

Opposition of Office-Holders Is Held Responsible for Failure to Consolidate This Time.

STATE CAPITOL, Salem, Or., Feb. 19.—(Special.)—Speaker Eakin's resolution, laying the foundation for a programme of constructive consolidation of state departments by the next Legislature, has passed both houses.

It provides for appointment by the Governor of a commission of seven business men. They are to study the consolidation problem from the viewpoint of business men, to the end that consolidations based on scientific business principles may be recommended.

They are authorized under the resolution to spend not to exceed $2000 in their investigation.

The Commission is to report its findings to the next Legislature.

The ambitious consolidation programme planned fell by the wayside chiefly because the legislators were up against almost a hopeless task from the start.

It was their thankless job to try to work out in 49 days consolidations that would require months to map out scientifically. Every proposed consolidation naturally brought up every plan proposed.

"This resolution ought to be adopted," was the comment of Senator Dimick, of the Senate consolidation committee, when the Standfield resolution came up tonight. "It's the only hope there is for future consolidation. We on the consolidation committee have done our best, but we have had to combat those in office, and it has been too much."

SENATE WORKS; HOUSE PLAYS Lull Between Bills Is Occupied With Literary Programme.

STATE CAPITOL, Salem, Or., Feb. 19.—(Special.)—While the Senate was wearily grinding out appropriation and other routine legislation tonight the House was enjoying itself with a high-class musical and literary programme.

Under the direction of Representative Ivan Martin, who lives in Salem, a number of talented performers were introduced through the course of the evening.

As fast as it disposed of the business sent over by the Senate the House went into committee of the whole and listened to the entertainment. When some of the assistants in the Senate committee would arise and the House would get down to business. Thus the entire night was delightfully spent.

Some of the principal entertainers were L. G. Hunter and his mother, Mrs. Ida Hunter, saxophone and piano duet; Representative Fuller, who told some dialect stories; Miss Marie Briggs, the pretty girl page of the House, who told of her pleasant experiences during the session; Representative Mrs. Thompson, in character readings; Mrs. Laura

MUSTEROLE—QUICK RELIEF! NO BLISTER!

It Soothes and Relieves Like a Mustard Plaster Without the Burn or Sting

Musterole is a clean, white ointment, made with the oil of mustard. It does all the work of the old-fashioned mustard plaster—does it better and does not blister. You do not have to bother with a cloth. You simply rub it on—and usually the pain is gone!

Many doctors and nurses use Musterole and recommend it to their patients. They will gladly tell you what relief it gives from sore throat, bronchitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet, colds of the chest (it often prevents pneumonia).

WOMEN TOO AMBITIOUS.

Excessive ambition leads all sorts of women to exert themselves beyond their strength. The girl striving for honors in school, the busy housewife, the shop-girl, the society climber or leader, all overtax their natural powers of endurance. Then come nervous troubles, backaches, headaches, frequent organic troubles, which reduce them almost to despair.

Influenza or La Grippe

It is quite refreshing these days to read of a clearly defined treatment for Influenza or La Grippe. In an article in the "Lancet-Clinic," Dr. James Bell of New York, says he is convinced that too much medication is both unnecessary and injurious. When called to a case of la grippe, the patient is usually seen when the fever is present, as the chill which occasions the onset in the disease, has practically passed away. Dr. Bell then orders that the bowels be opened freely with salts, or effluvia of magnesia. For the high fever, severe headache, pain and general soreness, one anti-kamnia tablet every three hours is quickly followed by complete relief. Ask for A-K Tablets. They are also unexcelled for headache, neuralgia and all pains.

They clear away pimples, redness and roughness, stop dandruff, and form a most valuable household remedy for sores, chafes, cuts, burns, etc. Resinol Soap, used for the shampoo keeps the hair healthy.
