E. Hitchcock Tells of Frightening Away Marauders. Taking Their Loot.

CONFESSION FREELY MADE

Homes and Stores Robbed of Small Articles and Cash and Plunder Is Found in McCoy's Home. Latter Refuses to Talk.

Teggdom hath its jests no less than reggiom hath its jests no less than waudeville, to paraphrase one amusing confession of Elton Hitchcock, companion of Archie McCoy, alleged cyclist purse-snatcher and store prowler. Both young men are in the city jall, where Hitchcock related the lively anecdote of their adventures to Detectives Swennes and Moloney.

"I don't remember where that store

"I don't remember where that store was," mused Hitchcock. "Do you, Archie?" McCoy'e denial was a sullen head-shake. "Anyway, we jimmled the back-door and broke in. Say, there was two guys in there aiready, just kids. We sneaked up on 'em. "What are you doing in here?" we says, and you cught'a seen 'em run. They had jimmled the front door. We took the stuff they had piled up and went out again." Ranging the East Side district from end to end, according to the confesd to end, according to the confes-ns of Hitchcock, the two thieves colalized in breaking into groceries and drug stores, choosing goods from the stocks and taking what small change the cash registers held. At least a dozen robberies, occurring within the past month, are attributed to them by the police, and are included in Hitchcock's memoirs of their nights a-prowl

Hitchcock Gives Details. Hitchcock Gives Details.

In addition to previous confessions, Hitchcock admitted yesterday morning that McCoy and he had broken into the Rose City Pharmacy, 1531 Sandy boulevard; the E. S. Peterson hardware store, 428 East Burnside street; the J. C. Mann grocery store, 401 Hassalo street, and the Thomas grocery at 4028 Forty-second street Southeast. Other addresses escaped Hitchcock's memory, and McCoy steadfastly declined to aid his pal in revealing the extent of their operations.

While the pair plundered stores as their regular vocation, in at least two instances they branched into house burglary, it is said; robbing the residence of Dr. Ralph A. Fenton, 283 Cornell road, and carrying away many choice phonograph records; and attempting to rob the home of H. H. Herdman, principal of Washington High School. The latter attempt was frustrated by the return of the family, and the exit of the burglars carried away a window, pane and sash.

Cache Is Revenled.

Much of the stolen goods was reserved. Saturday, when Elton Hitch-While the pair plundered stores as Cache Is Revealed.

Much of the stolen goods was recovered Saturday, when Eliton Hitch-cock accompanied Detectives Goltz and Howell to McCoy's home, at Seventeenth and Morrison streets, where the detectives discovered a conglomerate cache of bacon, canned goods, cameras and phonograph records.

McCoy is 25 years old and has served various sentences, having been released recently on parole. Hitchcock is 19 years old and declares that he is a novice at the midnight craft. Both will be given hearings on largeny charges today, before Municipal Judge Stevenson.

The arrest and exposure of McCoy and Hitchcock followed the attempted that of a purse from Mrs. Harry S. McCraken, of 533 Twenty-fourth street North. A bicyclist, said to have been McCoy, rode his wheel to her side, anatched the purse neatly with a smatched the purse neatly matched the purse of the political profession. # SATAN HAS POLITE ROLE in the alluring role of a gentleman; that he comes to church as often as the preacher and is continually rubbing elbows with the people of the world, were declarations made about the fallen archangel, by Rev. A. L. Hutchison, D. D., in his sermon yesterday morning at Piedmont Presbyterian Church, on "Satan."

DR. HUTCHISON SAYS HE IS REAL AND PRESENT LIKE JESUS.

Milton's Idea of His Being Pent Up to Hell Declared Opposed to Teaching of Scriptures.

What is more, says Dr. Hutchison, we cannot escape Satan, and that he is as real as Jesus Christ, that at all times he is present to kill joy, and that the prevalent idea that he is pent up in hell was propagated by Milton and not in the scriptures.

"The facts of Satan rest upon the same evidence as the fact of Jesus—the credibility of the scriptures.

"Ellminate Satan from the scriptures and you lose Jesus out of the record by the same process. Satan is the highest spirit below the Godhead. The archangel was unable to rebuke him, or was not permitted. To Jehova alone belongs the right. The angels were created of the highest order of alone belongs the right. The angels were created of the highest order of composite substance. The highest of these became Satan.

"Three times Jesus gives him the title of 'Prince of this world'. The political world system is dominated by force, greed, selfishness and sensuality, and all this is the spirit of Satan under the limitation of the gospel.

"Satan has power to test faith and character, as was shown in the case of Job and Peter. In the Book of Hebrews we learn that he has the power of the physical death. There is no death in physical death. There is no death in God's realm, where all is life, love and
