Far from dying down, the sentiment against Senator Lane's action, now that the people have had time to think it calmly, appears to be stronger ever. More interest was taken in the petitions yesterday than on the day before.

One of the _tters in Mr. Wells' mail was from George Putnam, editor of the Medford Mail-Tribune. He said he had prepared a couple of petitions and was having them signed as people dropped in at his office. He also inclosed an editorial the Mail-Tribune had published on the subject.

"Senator Lane never has represented Oregon," said the editorial, in part. "Erratic and eccentric, he has been regarded as a lightweight and a good deal of a loke at Washington, but when he acts as he has in a National crisis, advocating a National surrender, demanding peace at any price save that of actual armed invasion, and cham-pions the cause of the Nation's enemies, be becomes a sorry joke, indeed.

The fillbuster was unjustifiable, inexcusable and indefensible. Senator Lane has humiliated Oregon as well as the Nation. He has, as the President says, helped make this 'great Government helpless and contemptible. Denouncing Filibusters. On the recommendation of its executive committee the Portland Realty Board yesterday adopted a strong reso-lution condemning Senator Lafe and the others who participated in the re-three to express the unanimous senti-ment of the Board to the Senators. Following an address by George Howard, Oregon manager for the presi dential primary campaign of Senator Cummins, of Iowa, in which he ex-plained Senator Cummins' attitude in the so-called filibuster, a few members of the realty board voted against the recommendation, but the vote was over-whelming in denunciation of those who stood against the President in the re-cent controversy. Though he defended Senator Cummins, Mr. Howard declared that he stood for war and that he be-lieved the United States should have declared war against Germany long ward the California line.

submarine attack, for which he would have voted. Senator Cummins' telegram was in response to a message from Mr. How-ard, expressing regret at his stand and asking for an exptanation, Senator Cummins' explanation follows in full:

WASHINGTON, D. C.—George C. Howard.
Portland, Or.: I was willing to give our merchant ships the right to arm and defend themselves against submarine attack, and the amendment I offered so provided.

I was willing to give the President the authority to supply our merchant ships with defensive arms and with ammunition, subject to one condition, viz: That if the Government did so supply them they must not be loaded with arms and munitions of war destined to a beiligerent country, and my amendment so provided.

I was not willing to authorize the President to make war until Congress declared war, in disguise, this is just what the Sensite bill attempted to do.

I was not and am not willing to declare war, however anxious I may be to give our merchant ships an opportunity to defend themselves against unlawful attack.

I believe that Congress alone should determine the vital questions of peace or war, and there are no circumstances which can induce me to surrender that responsibility and transfer to the President a power which the Constitution imposes upon Congress.

That is the issue, and I, for one, stand Cummins' explanation follows in full
