

WAR MOST THE HIGH
Rev. J. M. Skinner Says America Has Great, Holy Cause.
HUMANITY NOW SHACKLED

Men and Nations Are Learning Basic Moral Law Is Broken Only at Their Peril, Pastor Declares in Sermon.

"America's entry into the war can mean only that she brings a clear mind, a tender heart and an indomitable will to a great and holy cause. There is nothing but love in our action, nothing but love and pity. We are not led by vindictive nor ambitious, but with faces stained with tears we go amid the solemn resolution of our souls to do the right as God gives us to see the right. And many God help us, see it.

In these words Rev. J. M. Skinner, pastor of Rose City Park Presbyterian Church, summed up the arguments of his sermon on "America in the Great War," delivered yesterday to a congregation of several hundred.

"Humanity stands at a moment shackled by tyranny," declared Mr. Skinner. "America cannot stand by and see the extinction of democracy, the eclipse of freedom. America is free, sane and religious. She enters the war not for the acquiring of more land, or power, or profit, but because she stands for right. She enters for the vindication of great and holy principles."

Moral Law Binds Nations.

Of the moral lesson of the war, Mr. Skinner said: "Everywhere men and nations are learning that a basic moral law exists which nations, not less than individuals, must observe as a condition, they do so at their peril. America has come to realize that our moral support, our spiritual comfort and our actual physical reinforcement are a tremendous help to the men who are in the death struggle for truth for truth's sake and fighting for right's sake."

High Motive Needed.

"When I think of the great heaps of slaughtered men, the desolate stretches of wasted land, the razed villages, the impaired creature, the suffering and the mounting debts, I am aware that no philosophy of personal or national advancement, no doctrine of indispensable culture, no accumulation of material virtues will atone for the awful cost," said Mr. Skinner, declaring that: "There must be found a higher motive. To enlist trained minds in the fight with fear and superstition and to summon devoted and disciplined men and women to annihilate the forces of man's welfare, to captain the host who shall become soldiers of the common good, is higher than war itself."

GUARDS TO BE DEPUTIES

Centralia Home Defenders to Be Sworn In Tomorrow.

CENTRALIA, Wash., April 15.—(Special.)—At a conference in Seattle Friday between Captain E. F. Kirkin, commanding the newly organized home guards here, and the Adjutant-General, the former was advised to have the local organization sworn in as Deputy Sheriffs by Sheriff John Berry, so that, in case of a local disturbance, the guards would be authorized to act.

Insulting Germans Arrested.

EL PASO, Tex., April 15.—Two Germans and a regular soldier of German birth who was in their company were arrested by the provost guard last night for making remarks insulting to the United States. The men were placed in the county jail.

Majestic.

"A TALE OF TWO CITIES" is in many respects the best picture that William Fox has ever produced. The dramatic and the spectacular, tender romance, unrequited love and magnificent sacrifice are wonderfully blended together in a production that unquestionably will stand as one of the greatest of screen dramas.

Sunset.

A booking mixup caused a triangular shift at the Sunset Theater programme for the early week. "American Aristocrat," the Douglas Fairbanks picture originally scheduled for the early week, has been postponed; yesterday "The Heiress at Coffee Dan's," a Beaulieu feature, was screened today.

Columbia.

"The Law of the North" is a picture that twangs the nerves and pleases the eye. It is full of good acting, and plenty of action, and is bulwarked by splendid photography with the red-blooded Northland as its background.

Mystery of the Double Cross
WITH MOLLIE KING
VERY element that enters into the making of a great motion picture serial is contained in "Mystery of the Double Cross." Thrills, mystery, tense interest, romance, a beautiful star supported by a superb cast, and an extraordinary production by Astra combine to lift this serial out of the commonplace and make it an exceptional production. Don't miss a single episode.
