GOLDEN CATE conflicts in interest in the land grant.

The question has been raised as to whether or not the Chamberlain-Ferris act gives authority to the Secretary of the Interior to pay taxes, including in-terest, penalties and costs beyond June 9, 1916, the date of the act. In the opinion of Oswald West, further legislation is needed. He said:

limitation and insure the payment of all consts, interest and penalities down to the date of payment, a bill will be introduced at once by Senator Chamberlain, which will fully meet the situation. The amount due on June 9, 1916, can be paid in the meantime.

"One of the big questions bearing upon the adjustment of the grant and yet to be settled is the status of a large acreage covered by outstanding contracts. There is a question whether title to lands covered by old contracts uncanceled at the date of the passage of the Chamberlain-Ferris act, but still canceled by the company, has been after will be taken up for adjustment at an early date and the rights of all concerned will then be determined."
