

DOMESTIC NEWS BY GERTRUDE P. CORBETT

AN ENGAGEMENT of unusual interest is that of Miss Ruth Ralston, which was announced yesterday, to Ensign Arthur D. Struble, who is aboard the United States steamship Glacier, the supply ship of the Pacific fleet. The steamer is now in San Francisco Bay, awaiting orders to move, and plans for the wedding are contingent upon this order. The marriage originally was planned for September, but probably will take place earlier.

AN ATTRACTIVE BELE WHOSE ENGAGEMENT WAS ANNOUNCED YESTERDAY.

Miss Hazel Ralston is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Ralston, and received her earlier education at the old school, where she and her fiancé were classmates. Later she was graduated from Portland Academy, taking a course at Mount Vernon Seminary, Washington, D. C., and closing her educational career with her graduation from University of Oregon. At the same time, Mr. Struble was graduated from the University of Oregon. The party originally was planned as a coming-out party for Miss Ralston, but when she and her fiancé were classmates, she was graduated from the University of Oregon. At the same time, Mr. Struble was graduated from the University of Oregon.

DOMESTIC SCIENCE BY LILLIAN TINGLE.

PORTLAND, Or., May 11.—Dear Miss Tingle.—Will you please publish a recipe for Roquefort Cheese Dressing for lettuce and other salads? R. ROQUEFORT Cheese Salad Dressing. No. 1.—One-fourth pound Roquefort cheese, one-fourth teaspoon paprika (or more to taste), four tablespoons olive oil, three tablespoons lemon juice or vinegar or a mixture of the two. Use tarragon vinegar if available. Put the cheese through a ricer or mash smooth with the oil, then add the lemon juice and acid and mix to a smooth cream. A few grains of cayenne may also be liked. If Roquefort Cheese Dressing, No. 2.—Make as above, but use thick sweet or sour cream instead of oil. Similar dressings can be made with any soft, rich cheese, such as Swiss, cheddar, pimiento or club cheese, the flavor of course will vary with the cheese used.

ALBANY, Or., May 7.—(To the Editor.)—I saw your request for methods of canning salmon in the Saturday Oregonian and am giving my recipe: Have salmon carefully and remove fins, cut in small pieces to fit into jars tightly. If the fish is fat cook the oil from the fish and use it for the fat. Use water and add one tablespoon of olive oil to the quart. Place cap (if use Economy jars) and cook three hours in washbowl. Canned salmon in this way for three years and find that without the water and oil it is dry and tasteless. MRS. L.

WHAT YOU CAN MAKE AT HOME BY MRS. PORTLAND.

SHADOW applique is one of the daintiest of trimmings for net, satin, cotton voile, swiss and all such materials used in curtains and bedspreads. A floral border of this kind of work may be made for all the belongings of the bedroom, bedspreads, bed covers, bureau scarfs, cushions, curtains, etc. If you want to save pennies, take your design direct from nature by laying a leaf and flower on a piece of paper, tracing a pattern about the edge of same, then cutting this out as a guide. The flower and leaf may be then easily be filled in with natural beads and twigs.

as at the present time, it would be well to can or dry rhubarb now. Direction for Canning.—Cut into pieces about 1 1/2 inches long, scald one to two minutes and cold dip, and pack tight in sterilized jars. Three pounds will fill a quart jar. Make a syrup of one cup sugar to one-half cup water. This amount will be sufficient for one quart. Fill crevices with syrup, put on cover, partially tighten, and sterilize 20 minutes. Since there will probably be a shortage of cans this year, it will be wise to dry food instead of canning, when practicable. Rhubarb may be dried by cutting into short lengths and drying in warming oven or sun. String bean is another vegetable which may be dried. String and prepare as for cooking. Dry in the sun or warming oven. They will keep all winter and are just as good as the canned ones, but must be soaked overnight before using. Some people prefer to parboil the beans before drying, as it does not require such long cooking afterwards.—Sarah L. Lewis, assistant professor of domestic science at O. A. C.

Preparing Eggs for Storage. It is essential that eggs for cold storage or preservation in waterglass should be clean, yet they must not be washed. They must not be allowed to become damp, either by allowing rain to fall upon them or by storing them in a place which is alternately damp and cool and dry and warm. It is almost impossible to cold store an egg which is allowed to become moist on the surface. Washing removes the mucous coating on the shell, thus allowing bacteria to penetrate the shell more easily. Dirty eggs should be discarded. The eggs should be stored in a clean container in a dry, cool place. Eggs collected in case lots for a central cold storage plant must never be stored, even for a short time, in the vicinity of a moisture condensation which appears on the surface of the eggs and causes bacterial growth.—T. D. Beckwith, professor of bacteriology at O. A. C.

(Oregon Agricultural Department Extension Service and United States Department of Agriculture Co-operating.) Rhubarb. RHUBARB is a plant whose leaf stalks are the most useful portion, and from its use, it would be classed as a fruit rather than a vegetable. The various acids and other flavors it contains are very desirable in the early Spring, when it is at its best. Later in the season when it becomes tough and fibrous it may be extracted for jelly-making. When there is such a need for the conservation of food.

OREGON CITY, Or., May 10.—Mrs. Charles H. Castner, of Hood River and president of the Federation of Women's Clubs of Oregon, was in this city today, where she addressed the members of the Oregon City Women's Club, and many visitors, who had been extended an invitation to attend. Mrs. Castner's address was thoroughly enjoyed by the large assembly of women. Her subject being on "Civics," she illustrated the same by giving a number of interesting facts. She believes that the women's clubs of the present day are doing much for the betterment of the cities in which they are organized, and do not favor pink tea and such affairs as doing the good work of the former. She stated that women can make the town what they desire, and that women and children make better citizens when the streets are made attractive. Many other interesting points were brought up by the speaker. The Derthick quartet, which is composed of Mrs. Theodore Osmund, Mrs. G. Miller, Mrs. A. C. Hayward and Mrs. L. Porter, gave several vocal selections.

The club decided to earn money towards the Oregon soldiers' hospital fund. Each member is to earn her 50 cents, and this will be turned into the fund in June. The club has already donated $10 toward the same. The subject for next meeting will be on "The Oregon Penitentiary," when it speaks will be in attendance favoring the improvements. This matter was brought up for discussion today.

One of the important events of the week in club circles was the luncheon yesterday by the Portland Women's Research Club in the Hotel Portland. Mrs. M. W. Wylie presided. The dining-room was decorated with American flags and in accordance with a custom inaugurated by the club many months ago the programme opened and closed with the guests singing a National anthem.

Four of the candidates for Mayor—W. H. Warren, W. H. Daly, E. N. Wheeler and George L. Baker—spoke briefly, each stating his platform and particular qualifications for the office. The principal speaker of the day was Samuel C. Lancaster on "Notes and Observations Along Our Eastern Seaboard in the Midst of Historic Events." Mr. Lancaster, who has lately returned from visiting the principal cities of the East, where he delivered a series of lectures in conjunction with the exhibition of "Berger-Jones" scenic pictures, was in Washington when war was declared. Picturing vividly the impressive scenes enacted in the Capital during the recent crisis, narrating his interesting experiences in the cities along the Atlantic seaboard during that period, and depicting the effect on the citizens of the East, he delivered a most interesting and instructive address. Referring to conservation of food, Mr. Lancaster said the people of the East feel the war is right in their door-ways and are making extensive preparations for the growing of all kinds of food. "They have stopped all work on road building," said he, "and are using that force for growing crops. Even the golf links along the Hudson are being plowed for this purpose." In his closing remarks Mr. Lancaster said: "We are facing the supreme test of this Nation. And I believe it is the duty of every man and woman who can, to do his utmost—not sing the hymns as we have here today and then go out and do nothing but do what we can at the moment to help win this war." The violin solos of Miss Molly Nadine Pierce and vocal solos of Mrs. R. F. Peemster were much appreciated. Miss Mildred Pierce and Mrs. J. D. Sherrick were the accompanists. Following the luncheon the club's Williamette Chapter, O. A. R., held a delightful meeting on Wednesday with Mrs. Warren Swart. Assisting hostesses were Mrs. Ada Hertche, Mrs. Adie Ingalls, Mrs. J. P. Johnson, Mrs. Hitchcock, Mrs. Esther Jobs and Mrs. Charlotte Hull. The chapter voted to give a flag to Alameda School, fulfilling a custom of donating a flag to some school each year. The members voted to meet each Thursday at Meier & Frank's or Lipman & Wolfe's stores for Red Cross work. Able papers were read by Mrs. William Duggan, Mrs. T. W. Sharpe, Mrs. Julia Hays and Mrs. U. G. Smith. Dainty refreshments were served.

At the meeting of the Alberta Women's Improvement Club yesterday Mrs. Josephine Sharp was re-elected president. The club met with Mrs. Cora Burk. Veterans to Unveil Portrait. SALEM, Or., May 10.—(Special.)—Hal Hibbard Camp, Spanish War Veterans, of this city, plans to have a formal unveiling of the oil painting of General Owen Summers, recently purchased by the state. The painting was hanging in the Multnomah County Courthouse, but the last Legislature provided an appropriation for its purchase, and it has been removed to a corridor of the State Capitol. It is probable the unveiling will take place Memorial day.
