Governor Excoriates Attempt to Link Improvements With Paving Concerns.

SUPPORT BY ALL IS ASKED

S. Benson, Dr. C. H. Chapman and Mrs. Winnie Braden, From Dallas, Also Speak in Favor of $6,000;000 Bond Issue.

WALEM, Or., May 29.—(Special.)—The gospel of good roads and the $6,000,000 bond issue was preached tonight by Governor Withycombe, S. Benson, chairman of the State Highway Commission. Dr. C. H. Chapman, of Portland, and Mrs. Winnie Braden, road booster, from Dallas, at a meeting here in the Arm-

Governor Withycombe, who presided, xcoriated those who are attempting to link the members of the State Highway Commission with paving concerns, de-claring that they are "spreading slan-der to deceive the people into opposing the bond issue."

"I have been a Granger since 1873," asserted the Governor, "and I believe in the aims and objects of the Grangers, but they have been deserved and deluded as to this bond issue. There never was a better road measure. Support of All Is Asked.

"At this time every citizen should support this bill as a patriotic meas-ure. Officials at Washington are beg-ging us to pass this bill, for they realize what an immense benefit it will mean to the Nation. The roads under this bill will cost the taxpayers not a single farthing. Automobile owners must pay the increased license tax whether the bill passes or not."

Mr. Benson explained at length the benefits which this benefits which this state will derive from the passage of the bill, showing the immense profits that good roads will bring to the people of the state and citing the fact that California is paying for its second issue of bonds from the profits derived from the first issue.

"States are as individual?" said Mr Benson. "They must meet each prob-lem successfully as it arises if they would be successful themselves. If we develop good roads the state will develop, if we don't the state will retrograde."

Theory of Issue Explained. Dr. Chapman explained the theory of the bond issue, how it will care for itself, and outlined the advantages to be derived from its passage, while Mrs. Braden gave a snappy and enthusiastic talk on the benefits which will be de-rived by Marion and Polk Counties from the issue.

The speaking was interspersed with musical selections by George C. L. Sny-der, of this city, and Cora Hansen Ol-son, nightingale of Silverton; by music from the Hebel's Cherry Bud band, and selections by the Misses Thelma and Hazel Martin.

The meeting was preceded by a par-ade of the Boy Scouts of this city.

Incident of Trans-Pacific Voyage Is Recalled When Physician Tells Story at Eugene.

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene, May 29 .- Colonel H. E. Dosch. of Portland, and father of Arno-Dosch of Portland, and father of Arno-Dosch Fleurot, war correspondent, once saved the life of Dr. George Rebec, professor of pholosophy of the University, and the man who will be the head of the Summer School of the University in Portland. The incident was forgotten, however, until they met on the campus last Saturday. True they have been friends for several years. But it was friendship that was formed years after the life-saving incident took place.

In the course of the voyage the passengers became violently ill with ptomaine poisoning. Among those ill was the ship's doctor. Colonel Dosch, however, was exempt and when Dosch, however, was exempt and when the steward came to him and told him a "young Dutchman" was about to die, he took some pink pills he had and gave them to the lad. They were just the medicine for the "Dutchman," and soon he was on the road to recovery. The voyage ended and the party of friends broke up, expecting never to broke up, expecting never to ace each other again.

See-each other again.

Colonel Dosch settled in Portland and years later Dr. Rebec became associated with the university. As a university professor he became acquainted with Colonel Dosch, but neither ever suspected the identity of the other.

Peace Will Follow Only on Accomplishment of Plain Duty of Nation, Declares A. L. Mills, at Chamber Meeting.

Five minutes after the first lone ontribution had fired the train, Portand wholesalers and retailers, met in conference at the Chamber of Commerce last night, had contributed $140,-900 to the liberty loan bond issue. The meeting was called for the dis-cussion of plans whereby employes might be assisted in the purchase of bonds. The attendance was small and gave rise to bitter comment on the apathy of Portland toward its duty, serving in the end, however, to awaken real enthusiasm among those who did attend.

A. L. Mills, of the First National Bank, introduced by Chairman Nathan Strauss as the first speaker, declared that Americans were not aroused to the war conditions and had prospered for three years on the misfortunes of Europe without arriving at understanding.

Mistuken Ideas Assailed.

"Ask Belgium, Poland, Armenia or France what it means," said Mr. Mills. "It means desecration, desolation, death —and worse. And, unless we do our part we ourselves will suffer. We may be slaves to the German empire, serfs to the mad Kaiser."

If peace is to be gained, said Mr.
Mills, it will only follow on the accomplishment of the plain duty of the Nation, to furnish men and money for the successful prosecution of the war.
He commented bitterly on the lack of interest evident by the small attendance.

"If it had been announced that this meeting was for the purpose of pro-moting a shipbuilding plant," said Mr. Mills, "this room would have been so filled that you could not move, be-cause of the chance for profit."

He bludgeoned the mistaken ideas regarding the liberty bonds, and de-clared them to be the finest investment and the safest in the world, backed by the note of the richest Nation, the United States. "And if we do not lend Uncle Sam the money, he'll take it any-how, by taxation," he added as a

John A. Keating, of the Lumbermens Trust Company, urged full confidence in the bonds, and advised that they be widely subscribed for, even in small amounts. "Great flotations seldom succeed unless there are a multitude of subscribers," said Mr. Keating. "We must reach as many as possible."

The plan of Mr. Strauss, of Fleischner, Mayer & Co., to aid employes in the purchase of bonds, by small monthly payments, was discussed and met with general approval.
