

$200,000 IS CITY'S RED CROSS STENT

Plans for Raising Northwest's Share to Be Made at Conference Here.

H. L. CORBETT TO PRESIDE

Financiers Prominent on Pacific Coast, and Delegates From Many Cities of Four States Will Attend Meeting Monday.

Portland is asked to contribute $200,000 as her share of the $1,000,000 to be raised in this country for Red Cross work, it was announced last night, following the receipt of advices from the War Council of the American Red Cross.

Plans for the raising of the Northwest's share of the $1,000,000 in the four states of Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Montana will be taken up at a conference of Red Cross workers and financiers which will be held at the Portland Hotel Monday, opening at 10:30 A. M.

Local Committee Reorganized.
Among those who will attend Monday's gathering will be Fred Harvey, of Kansas City, Mo., who is the Western representative of the War Council, and Lyman L. Pierce, Western executive secretary.

The local committee for the Red Cross campaign has been reorganized. It now consists of Elliott H. Corbett, chairman; R. H. Strong, campaign manager; John C. English, W. P. Strandberg and C. E. Berg.

Mr. Strong will have charge of the big drive for raising the $200,000 in Portland, and will devote his entire time to the work throughout the month of June.

H. W. Stone, general secretary of the local Y. M. C. A., will take charge of all the campaign work throughout the entire Northwest division, embracing Oregon, Washington and Idaho. L. G. Nicholls, general secretary of the Denver Y. M. C. A., has also been secured to assist and will be in charge of campaign work in Oregon.

Financiers Will Attend.
Western financiers who will be at Monday's conference include John B. Miller, president of the Southern California Edison Company, of Los Angeles; Lawrence C. Phipps, Sr., capitalist, of Denver; William H. Crocker, president of the Crocker National Bank, of San Francisco; Henry L. Corbett, vice-president First National Bank; Charles A. Peabody, banker of Seattle; Judge George B. Taliaferro, of San Antonio, Tex.

Northwestern representatives who will be present follow:
From Montana—H. M. Allen, of Billings; G. W. Church, Great Falls; E. C. Day, Helena; W. Watson, Butte.
From Idaho—S. C. Beach, Lewiston; James H. Hawley, and Lee J. Park, Boise; Harry Day, Wallace; D. W. Strandrod, Pocatello; Mark Austin, Sugar City; L. L. Breakenridge, Twin Falls; J. G. Eldridge, Moscow.
From Washington—C. A. Peabody and others from Seattle; Bishop Herman Page and Mrs. Page, E. T. Ceman, Charles Hebbard, Thaddeus Lane and Mrs. Lane, and Mrs. A. Newberry, all of Spokane and representing Eastern Washington.

From Oregon, outside of Portland—C. H. Billings, Ashland; R. A. Booth, Eugene; George A. Rodgers, Salem; L. J. Simpson, North Bend; F. J. Brick, Astoria; Leslie Butler, Hood River; F. L. Meyers, Pendleton; George Palmer, La Grande; William Postman, Baker; C. S. Hudson, Bend.
From Portland—J. C. Ainsworth, W. R. Ayer, T. H. Wilcox, Julius Meier, John R. Boyer, Rev. T. L. Elliott, Franklin T. Griffith, A. L. Mills, H. W. Stone, Andrew C. Smith, Etienne R. Corbett and H. L. Corbett, who will preside at the meeting.

Women Workers to Speak.
As an additional feature of convention day, there will be a meeting of Red Cross workers addressed by women in charge of the Red Cross work in Spokane. This meeting is being arranged by Mrs. Helen Ladd Corbett, director of social activities. The Spokane Red Cross has already organized and arranged supplies for their first base unit hospital, in that respect being far in advance of other Northwestern cities. The women who have been active in the work at Spokane and who will speak here are Mrs. A. Newberry, Mrs. Herman Page and Mrs. Thaddeus Lane.

Mlle. Luxanne Presents Steps From Many Countries.

Trick-Performing Seals, Pretty Girls, Clever Skit, Good Songs Make Up Rest of Pleasing Programme.

Folk who couldn't afford to see the Russian ballet in all its magnificent splendor when it came a-visiting last winter will have an opportunity this week-end to see a slice of it at the Hippodrome in the headline act.

Mlle. Luxanne, slender, spirituelle and of exceeding grace, is the premiere danseuse. She is titian as to tresses, and as she leads her ballet of butterfly girls, or dances in solo dance, she makes a pretty picture.

The series of dances is most attractive and includes a group of graceful Grecian numbers, a rapid and sensational exhibition in Russian folk dances, a beautiful and colorful interpretation of Oriental terpsichore and a dainty ballet ensemble entitled "The Butterfly and the Rose."

The scenic investment of Mlle. Luxanne's act is unusually artistic and the entire act has an educational and artistic value.

A big feature on the bill are the five glossy, intelligent seals. They are comedian seals and seem to laugh and enjoy their own antics as much as the audience enjoys watching the fun.

A pretty girl, Miss Leighton, appears as an actress who arrives in a rural village between trains and has a conversational adventure with the village cut-up, a small-town rube with big-town ideas, played cleverly by a comedian named Wainley.

The dialogue fairly bristles with new, keen jokes, and the introduction of a dance step or so and some delightful singing adds to the general hilarity. Their act is called, appropriately, "The Peculiar Boob and the Actress."

A pair of cheer-up individuals are Leroy and Mabel Hart, who have gathered together a nifty vocal offering, featuring the sort of songs vaudeville "hankers" for. Their singing voices are individually excellent and blended together in the melodies the effect is delightful. Miss Hart's costume is decidedly smart.

Ray Snow, as "The Man About Town," offers a unique monologue, full of clever lines built for laughing purposes and fulfilling its purpose admirably.

The dainty little lass steps into the action occasionally and assists in keeping the fun rolling.

Two aerial performers on the wire are Bollinger and Reynolds. They have a lot of new adventures in balancing and general acrobatics which occasions gasps of surprise and applause.

The photoplay treat this week is one featuring Baby Marie Osborne, entitled "Told at Twilight," and is a strong romance with the appealing lure of a baby figure throughout.

"HIS COUNTRY NEEDS HIM"

Booked as Vagrant, Man Confesses to Desertion From Army.

When Patrolmen Schad and Long picked up Sam Wolf, alias Elliott, at Second and Couch streets yesterday and booked him at police headquarters as a vagrant they did not know they had a probable deserter from the Canadian army.

Immigration Officer Robbins took

Wolf into custody and upon examination it was learned he was formerly with a troop of Royal Engineers. He told Mr. Robbins he had several months of an unexpired enlistment to serve when the war broke out. He probably will be deported.

COURT TO DETERMINE PAY

City and County to Put Election Problem Before Supreme Court.

It is up to the State Supreme Court to decide whether judges and clerks serving at the joint city and state election Monday receive $3 a shift or $4 a shift. City and county officials met yesterday and decided to put the question up to the court before paying the election officials.

Inasmuch as the state law regarding joint elections fails to mention special elections, it has been ruled by attorneys that the city would have to pay the election officials $3 a shift and the county would have to pay a like shift, regardless of the fact that the same officials handle both elections at the same time and in the same polling places.

TUESDAY WILL BE HOLIDAY

Council, at Suggestion of Baker, Makes Change From Monday.

Tuesday will be a holiday for city employees because of the war registration. The City Council yesterday decided to make Tuesday a holiday instead of Monday, which is election day.

City employees will be given one and one-half hours off duty Monday in which to vote.

"Tuesday will be the most important day in American history," said Commissioner Baker. "It should be a holiday rather than having a holiday on election day." The suggestion was adopted.

Mother Is Saved From Bull.

SELINGS GROVE, Pa., May 23.—The bravery of her 15-year-old daughter Anna saved Mrs. Benjamin Hummel from being gored to death by an angry bull at her home at Mount Pleasant.

The mother was attacked by the enraged animal as she entered the barnyard and was stunned. The bull then sank one of his horns into one leg of the helpless woman and was rolling

Getting Dollar Value

I am not promising to do everything for everybody to get a vote, but if you desire a business administration as commissioner of the city of Portland I will come as near getting a dollar's worth of value for a dollar as it is possible to obtain.
