

The Oregonian

Portland, Oregon. Entered as Second-Class Matter... Subscription rates—In Advance: (By Mail) Daily, Sunday included, one year $4.00...

Portland, Friday, June 23, 1917.

WHO OWNS THE NEWS?

The Associated Press has, through judicial decision, just established the important principle that news is a commodity and that the agencies which may have control of it are entitled to enjoy the legitimate fruits of its enterprise.

The Associated Press has, through judicial decision, just established the important principle that news is a commodity and that the agencies which may have control of it are entitled to enjoy the legitimate fruits of its enterprise.

The Associated Press has, through judicial decision, just established the important principle that news is a commodity and that the agencies which may have control of it are entitled to enjoy the legitimate fruits of its enterprise.

The Associated Press has, through judicial decision, just established the important principle that news is a commodity and that the agencies which may have control of it are entitled to enjoy the legitimate fruits of its enterprise.

The Associated Press has, through judicial decision, just established the important principle that news is a commodity and that the agencies which may have control of it are entitled to enjoy the legitimate fruits of its enterprise.

The Associated Press has, through judicial decision, just established the important principle that news is a commodity and that the agencies which may have control of it are entitled to enjoy the legitimate fruits of its enterprise.

The Associated Press has, through judicial decision, just established the important principle that news is a commodity and that the agencies which may have control of it are entitled to enjoy the legitimate fruits of its enterprise.

The Associated Press has, through judicial decision, just established the important principle that news is a commodity and that the agencies which may have control of it are entitled to enjoy the legitimate fruits of its enterprise.

does not necessarily mean the same articles of food each day, but it is calculated on a basis of nutritive values, and is a good gauge of the trend of living costs in the entire country.

SETTING A HOT PACE.

The Oregonian has not observed what became of the request of the enthusiastic workers in the Red Cross at Hood River for the Rev. William A. Sunday to increase his $50 subscription to the local fund to a greater amount.

The Sunday plan is to arrange for a great revival in a given city. The local committee guarantees certain expenses, and Sunday gets only a free will offering on the final day.

Now Sunday turns over all the financial fruits of his many weeks' work to the committee. Probably he has nothing left to add to his Hood River contribution.

The duty of the sincere pacifist in time of war is clearly pointed out by George H. Mead, professor of philosophy in the University of Chicago.

Those who have long held to the theory that there is a close association between sun spots and the weather will find comfort in the recently published conclusions of scientists of the Smithsonian Institution.

There is no reason, however, for discontinuing investigations on this account. The United States Weather Bureau has been studying the relation between solar phenomena and mundane affairs for a good deal more than fifteen years.

There is no reason, however, for discontinuing investigations on this account. The United States Weather Bureau has been studying the relation between solar phenomena and mundane affairs for a good deal more than fifteen years.

There is no reason, however, for discontinuing investigations on this account. The United States Weather Bureau has been studying the relation between solar phenomena and mundane affairs for a good deal more than fifteen years.

There is no reason, however, for discontinuing investigations on this account. The United States Weather Bureau has been studying the relation between solar phenomena and mundane affairs for a good deal more than fifteen years.

33, after completing the conquest of the ancient world. Hannibal was only 29 when he invaded Italy.

Washington and the other principal Generals of the American Revolution were men of more mature years, but Lafayette was but 20 when he joined the patriot commander of the staff.

Howard Elliott, '81, president of the Harvard Alumni Association, summarized the duty of college men in his address yesterday when he said: Our dearest men that not only are we educated men but that we have a responsibility as men and citizens to stand for the right.

Howard Elliott, '81, president of the Harvard Alumni Association, summarized the duty of college men in his address yesterday when he said: Our dearest men that not only are we educated men but that we have a responsibility as men and citizens to stand for the right.

Howard Elliott, '81, president of the Harvard Alumni Association, summarized the duty of college men in his address yesterday when he said: Our dearest men that not only are we educated men but that we have a responsibility as men and citizens to stand for the right.

Howard Elliott, '81, president of the Harvard Alumni Association, summarized the duty of college men in his address yesterday when he said: Our dearest men that not only are we educated men but that we have a responsibility as men and citizens to stand for the right.

Howard Elliott, '81, president of the Harvard Alumni Association, summarized the duty of college men in his address yesterday when he said: Our dearest men that not only are we educated men but that we have a responsibility as men and citizens to stand for the right.

Howard Elliott, '81, president of the Harvard Alumni Association, summarized the duty of college men in his address yesterday when he said: Our dearest men that not only are we educated men but that we have a responsibility as men and citizens to stand for the right.

Howard Elliott, '81, president of the Harvard Alumni Association, summarized the duty of college men in his address yesterday when he said: Our dearest men that not only are we educated men but that we have a responsibility as men and citizens to stand for the right.

Howard Elliott, '81, president of the Harvard Alumni Association, summarized the duty of college men in his address yesterday when he said: Our dearest men that not only are we educated men but that we have a responsibility as men and citizens to stand for the right.

How to Keep Well

By Dr. W. A. Evans. Questions pertinent to hygiene, sanitation and prevention of disease, it matters of general interest to the public.

Why Not Pure Ice Cream? STREET tells us in the "Modern Hospital" that the people of this country eat annually 100,000,000 gallons of ice cream.

Why Not Pure Ice Cream? STREET tells us in the "Modern Hospital" that the people of this country eat annually 100,000,000 gallons of ice cream.

Why Not Pure Ice Cream? STREET tells us in the "Modern Hospital" that the people of this country eat annually 100,000,000 gallons of ice cream.

Why Not Pure Ice Cream? STREET tells us in the "Modern Hospital" that the people of this country eat annually 100,000,000 gallons of ice cream.

Why Not Pure Ice Cream? STREET tells us in the "Modern Hospital" that the people of this country eat annually 100,000,000 gallons of ice cream.

Why Not Pure Ice Cream? STREET tells us in the "Modern Hospital" that the people of this country eat annually 100,000,000 gallons of ice cream.

Why Not Pure Ice Cream? STREET tells us in the "Modern Hospital" that the people of this country eat annually 100,000,000 gallons of ice cream.

Why Not Pure Ice Cream? STREET tells us in the "Modern Hospital" that the people of this country eat annually 100,000,000 gallons of ice cream.

Why Not Pure Ice Cream? STREET tells us in the "Modern Hospital" that the people of this country eat annually 100,000,000 gallons of ice cream.

STOP TALKING, BUILD SHIPS.

Mr. Chilcott Indorses Captain Hopkins About Wooden Vessels. PORTLAND, June 21.—(To the Editor)—In the interest of Pacific Coast shipbuilding I desire to confirm all that Captain Hopkins has uttered in the Oregonian and wish also to add thereto such remarks as I trust will dispel any skepticism in this direction.

My experience has brought me in contact with all classes of wooden ships, the exclusive soft wood ship of Eastern Canada, the hardwood ship of Europe and the combination of the two built on the eastern coast of the United States.

My experience has brought me in contact with all classes of wooden ships, the exclusive soft wood ship of Eastern Canada, the hardwood ship of Europe and the combination of the two built on the eastern coast of the United States.

My experience has brought me in contact with all classes of wooden ships, the exclusive soft wood ship of Eastern Canada, the hardwood ship of Europe and the combination of the two built on the eastern coast of the United States.

My experience has brought me in contact with all classes of wooden ships, the exclusive soft wood ship of Eastern Canada, the hardwood ship of Europe and the combination of the two built on the eastern coast of the United States.

My experience has brought me in contact with all classes of wooden ships, the exclusive soft wood ship of Eastern Canada, the hardwood ship of Europe and the combination of the two built on the eastern coast of the United States.

My experience has brought me in contact with all classes of wooden ships, the exclusive soft wood ship of Eastern Canada, the hardwood ship of Europe and the combination of the two built on the eastern coast of the United States.

My experience has brought me in contact with all classes of wooden ships, the exclusive soft wood ship of Eastern Canada, the hardwood ship of Europe and the combination of the two built on the eastern coast of the United States.

My experience has brought me in contact with all classes of wooden ships, the exclusive soft wood ship of Eastern Canada, the hardwood ship of Europe and the combination of the two built on the eastern coast of the United States.

My experience has brought me in contact with all classes of wooden ships, the exclusive soft wood ship of Eastern Canada, the hardwood ship of Europe and the combination of the two built on the eastern coast of the United States.

In Other Days.

Twenty-five Years Ago. From The Oregonian June 23, 1892. New York.—Senator Dubois of Idaho, in behalf of the notification committee, yesterday notified Whitlaw Reid of his nomination for Vice-President.

Chicago.—By a singular coincidence at the National Democratic Convention, which opened and was in session two hours today, Grover Cleveland, who is destined to be the nominee of the convention and who is the Democratic idol, was not mentioned during the proceedings, but James C. Blaine was.

Frank Zan, formerly one of the most popular and energetic business men of this city but now located in San Francisco, is in the city on a flying trip.

Lord Tennyson is said to have made more money from his verse than any poet who has ever lived.

Messrs. Braden and Halsey, two young men, have just opened a book and stationery store at 137 Third street.

T. F. Donahue and Miss Cassie Martin were married at Vancouver, Wash., June 20.

Half a Century Ago. From The Oregonian June 23, 1867. Washington.—Surratt's trial was continued yesterday. Judge Fisher presiding. Surratt submitted an affidavit praying that his presence be excused on the ground of ill health.

Mark Twain, who has acquired celebrity in California as a humorous writer, is making a sensation in New York, much to the chagrin of the son of ex-Governor Clemens, of Missouri.

Senator Corbett and family, Mr. Schuyler and wife, Senator Williams and several ladies yesterday left on a pleasure trip up the Columbia.

The little son of Captain Hopkins, of this city, 6 years of age, yesterday flew from the wharf at Morrisson street, but was fortunately rescued.

MORALS OF SOLDIER GUARDED

Temptations Fewer Under Discipline. These are words that are being used in Portland, June 21.—(To the Editor)—There seems to be an impression, more or less common, that our sons, gone and going into the Army, are constantly exposed to unusual temptations; or, as one pastor in Portland said in his prayer last Sunday "Graciously guard our boys in camp, surrounded by immoral dangers worse and more deadly than the bullets of the enemy."

This is a mistake. Temptations in the United States Army are on the average less for a young man than in the streets of Portland. While in camp, rigid military discipline, with its frequent roll calls, drill, guard duty, inspection and what not, leaves practically no opportunity for the indulgence of any sort. Every man must account for himself every minute of the time.

It is true that our young men, as soon as they put on the uniform and get away from home, tumble to the ground the opportunity for indulgence in quarters and mingling with each other, they are, as a rule, manly and upright, and, as a result, they are, as a rule, surrounded by the chaplains, the presence of the Y. M. C. A. and the Red Cross. In addition, considering the fact that our young men are not now allowed around the streets, little occasion remains for anxiety.

It is true that our young men, as soon as they put on the uniform and get away from home, tumble to the ground the opportunity for indulgence in quarters and mingling with each other, they are, as a rule, manly and upright, and, as a result, they are, as a rule, surrounded by the chaplains, the presence of the Y. M. C. A. and the Red Cross. In addition, considering the fact that our young men are not now allowed around the streets, little occasion remains for anxiety.

It is true that our young men, as soon as they put on the uniform and get away from home, tumble to the ground the opportunity for indulgence in quarters and mingling with each other, they are, as a rule, manly and upright, and, as a result, they are, as a rule, surrounded by the chaplains, the presence of the Y. M. C. A. and the Red Cross. In addition, considering the fact that our young men are not now allowed around the streets, little occasion remains for anxiety.

It is true that our young men, as soon as they put on the uniform and get away from home, tumble to the ground the opportunity for indulgence in quarters and mingling with each other, they are, as a rule, manly and upright, and, as a result, they are, as a rule, surrounded by the chaplains, the presence of the Y. M. C. A. and the Red Cross. In addition, considering the fact that our young men are not now allowed around the streets, little occasion remains for anxiety.

It is true that our young men, as soon as they put on the uniform and get away from home, tumble to the ground the opportunity for indulgence in quarters and mingling with each other, they are, as a rule, manly and upright, and, as a result, they are, as a rule, surrounded by the chaplains, the presence of the Y. M. C. A. and the Red Cross. In addition, considering the fact that our young men are not now allowed around the streets, little occasion remains for anxiety.

It is true that our young men, as soon as they put on the uniform and get away from home, tumble to the ground the opportunity for indulgence in quarters and mingling with each other, they are, as a rule, manly and upright, and, as a result, they are, as a rule, surrounded by the chaplains, the presence of the Y. M. C. A. and the Red Cross. In addition, considering the fact that our young men are not now allowed around the streets, little occasion remains for anxiety.

It is true that our young men, as soon as they put on the uniform and get away from home, tumble to the ground the opportunity for indulgence in quarters and mingling with each other, they are, as a rule, manly and upright, and, as a result, they are, as a rule, surrounded by the chaplains, the presence of the Y. M. C. A. and the Red Cross. In addition, considering the fact that our young men are not now allowed around the streets, little occasion remains for anxiety.

It is true that our young men, as soon as they put on the uniform and get away from home, tumble to the ground the opportunity for indulgence in quarters and mingling with each other, they are, as a rule, manly and upright, and, as a result, they are, as a rule, surrounded by the chaplains, the presence of the Y. M. C. A. and the Red Cross. In addition, considering the fact that our young men are not now allowed around the streets, little occasion remains for anxiety.