

TWO MORE IDENTIFY CHINESE AS SLAYER

Wong Wen Tueng Pointed Out in Court as Murderer of Joseph Gue Last March.

BOTH DESCRIBE BATTLE

Charles Allen and Fred Folds Say They Were Near Scene of Shooting and Close to Defendant When He Flew Afterwards.

Further positive identification of Wong Wen Tueng as the murderer of Joseph Gue was made yesterday by Charles Allen and Fred Folds, both of whom were eyewitnesses to the long gun fight near Second and Madison on the night of March 21.

Allen's story of the shooting of the wealthy Bing Kung-Bow Leong (tong member) was graphic in its details, as he told of how one of the bullets hit whistled by him, a few inches from his head. He saw the murderer leap from another automobile and pour a volley of shots into Gue, he testified, and without hesitation he identified in court Wong Wen Tueng as the gunman who had fired the shots.

When the murderous Chinese fled from the scene of the killing he ran past a telegraph post behind which Allen was hiding, the witness said, and he could have reached out and grabbed him. He averred that Tueng still had the smoking gun in his hand as he raced by in his futile effort to escape.

Identification Positive.

Because he was so close to the murderer, Allen said that he was positive that Wong Wen Tueng was the Chinese who did the shooting, and he could not be shaken from his story after a hard and lengthy cross-examination.

Fred Folds, an employe of the Northwestern Steel Company, proved to be nearly as good a witness as Allen. Folds said that he had gone to Gue's oyster house to meet Tony Marovich, to whom he owed a small sum of money. He said that he was walking back and forth along the street near the oyster house when he noticed an automobile near the corner. Every time he passed the machine a Chinese would peer out. This Chinese wore a light gray coat, he testified.

When Gue was shot, Folds testified, he saw the machine start up and saw the Chinese jump from the running-board and run toward Gue, emptying his gun as he ran. The Chinese whom he first saw in the machine was the same as the one who did the shooting, he averred. This Chinese, he testified, was Wong Wen Tueng, the man on trial. He was absolutely certain in his identification.

Start of Shooting Not Seen.

The stories of Folds and Allen tallied in nearly every particular, although they diverged somewhat from the testimony given by Marovich Thursday. Neither Folds nor Allen saw the Chinese start shooting from the sidewalk, as Marovich had testified earlier.

Ray Blackmar told a clear and convincing story of his capture of Wong Wen Tueng after a hard chase. He said he had heard the shots and the defendant fleeing, so gave chase in his machine. After dodging from street to street he finally caught up with Wong Wen Tueng and made him a prisoner. The light gray overcoat which is playing such a prominent part in the trial, was also identified by Blackmar.

City Detective Ackerman identified the gray overcoat which was produced in court as a state exhibit as the one which had been taken from the defendant, Wong Wen Tueng, at the police station on the night of the murder.

It was announced by Deputy District Attorney Collier that the state's case would be brought to a close early this morning. The state has but one or two more witnesses to complete its case against the alleged Hop Sing tong murderer.

The defense probably will continue until late Monday and the case is not expected to reach the jury until some time Tuesday.

EIGHT COUPLES DIVORCED

Wife of City Employee Asks for Monthly Payment of $25.

Victor Chapman continually grumbled over his wife's cooking, testified May Chapman, a divorce decree was awarded by Judge Kavanaugh.

Other decrees are: Pearl Lambert from E. Lambert, cruelty; Judd Lowery from Emily Lowery, desertion; Estrella Rogers from C. S. Rogers, desertion; Eva Ferguson from H. A. Ferguson, desertion; Doris Andrus from H. L. Andrus, desertion; Johanna Barton from Joseph Barton, cruelty; Ray Smith from Ida Smith, desertion.

Suits filed yesterday are: Lillian Wood against James Wood, desertion; and May Menane against J. G. Menane, an employe of the city. Mrs. Menane says her husband is an habitual drunkard and neglects to provide for her and for four minor children. She asks monthly alimony of $25, and that the city of Portland be ordered to pay her that amount each month.

MISS ISABELLE CLARK yesterday entertained with a delightful informal tea in honor of Miss Margaret Porter, who has just returned from school in the East, and for Miss Jean Porter and Miss Florence Hubbard, of Spokane, both of whom are house guests of Mrs. Kenneth D. Hauser during the golf tournament.

About 50 of the younger set called during the hours of 4 to 6 yesterday, the rooms of the Clark residence being a bower of fragrant garden flowers, a color scheme of pink and white being used throughout. Miss Clark was assisted about the rooms by Mrs. Ralph H. Hubbard, Miss Katharine Graham, Miss Corinna Stanley and Miss Clea Nickerson. Presiding at the daintily appointed tea table were Mrs. Guy R. Porter and Miss Sara Patrick.

A number of delightful affairs were given last week in honor of Miss Lena DeGroat, whose wedding was an event of Wednesday, June 20. Mrs. Grace Fleming entertained with a dinner and miscellaneous shower on Monday evening at her home on East Sherman street. The table, which was adorned with Ceeli Brunner roses and maiden-hair ferns, was directed by Misses Katherine Rooney, Eliza Maret, Margaret Maza, Isabel Starbuck, Elise Snyder, Lillian Love, Dora Bonneau, Eda Masters, Bertha Wheeler, Fay Foster, Blanche Rice, Mary Collier, Anna Schur, Mrs. Neville McCafferty, Mrs. Carl Grimm, Mrs. E. Wheeler, Mrs. Harold E. Moody, Mrs. Walter Howard, of Alaska, and Miss DeGroat.

Mrs. Aaron F. Parker and son, who have been spending a week at the Hotel Multnomah, returned to their home at Grangeville on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Meares, of Shedd, Or., are visiting in Portland. One of the most enjoyable affairs given in their honor was an automobile trip up the Columbia Highway, for which Mrs. Lee Davenport, was hostess, recently.

Mrs. Fred Schuele and little daughter, Winifred, have returned from a two week visit in Los Angeles and San Francisco.

Mrs. George B. Cellars and Miss Mary Cellars will leave for Gearhart on Friday.

The 12 events on the programme promise to be closely contested. The winners of the various classes will be presented with handsome trophies. The jumping classes are open to the junior members as well as the senior members. These will claim a good share of attention, as they are always very exciting.

Research Assistant in Entomology Resigns to Go With Government.

ORIGON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, Corvallis, June 22.—(Special.)—G. F. Mornette, research assistant in entomology at Oregon Agricultural College, has resigned to accept a position in the entomological service of the United States Department of Agriculture at Washington, D. C. He has been connected with the institution as student or faculty member for almost nine years and has established a strong position in the social and professional circles of the institution. He is the author of the recent bulletin on three insect enemies of the clover in Oregon and has done field work in many parts of the state.

Strong demands at high salaries are responsible for the resignation, as in the case with scores of other faculty people at O. A. C. He leaves Saturday by way of Vancouver, St. Paul and Madison and will begin his duties in Washington the first of July.

ZEALAND TRADE IS SOUGHT

Premier Massey Expresses Hope Business May Be Developed.

Arrangements could not be made for a delegation of livestock men from Portland to confer in Vancouver, B. C., with W. Massey, Premier of New Zealand, as he returned from London a short time ago, and a letter of regrets was received by the Chamber of Commerce here yesterday from the Premier.

There is an embargo on livestock shipments from New Zealand during the war, but Mr. Massey expressed hope that soon it may be possible to have Portland declared a port for livestock shipment, and that an extensive business may be developed between here and the islands.
