"LEFTY" JAMES TO JOIN BEAVER CLAN

Southpaw, of Louisville, Is on His Way to Pitch for McCredie.

HURLING RECORD IS FAIR

James to Report Soon.

James to Report Soon.

James already is on his way to the Coast, and should arrive before the finish of the Scal series.

Another pitcher joined the Beavers yesterday, De Greif, the Whitman College athlete. Mack had him out in an old faded blue uniform and will give him the "once over" twice or three times, and may start him in some game already won or lost.

In the absence of Bill Rodgers, who is nursing a lame shoulder or rib or

It is barely possible that Kelley has made up his mind to meet McCredie's figures on Hollocher and is here for Another out-of-town baseball notable to arrive yesterday was Thomas Laird, sporting editor of one of the San Fran-cisco afternoon newspapers. Scribe Laird is following the Seals around the circuit, and this is his first trip to Portland.

Tom is a ballplayer himself, holding Tom is a ballplayer himself, holding down the first sack every Sunday for one of the Trolley League clubs. He gets out and scrimmages with the Seals before the games, calls the players by their first names, pounds the typewriter with four fingers and otherwise is a regular fellow.

James won eight and lost seven games last year for the Louisville pennant-winners. His effective average was 3.31 runs per nine innings, which wasn't particularly brilliant. The previous year, however, James won 13 and lost 13 with the near tail-end Cleveland Colts, so another change in climate may prove beneficial.

LONG-DRAWN-OUT CONTEST FEATURED WITH BRILLIANT PLAYS.

With a string of pars and birdies, and caught his opponent at the home green, in another extra-hole match, K. T. Pederson defeated his fellow Chicagoan, R. E. Rolfe, on the 19th hole.

Jack May, Argentine champion, defeated F. J. Douglass, of Chicago, 2 and I, while J. S. Worthington, of England, eliminated Perry Adair, the young Atlantan, by the same margin.

In the absence of Bill Rodgers, who is nursing a lame shoulder or rib or something, Siglin held down second in the opening game yesterday. Pinelli being stationed at third and Griggs in the right garden, with Wille in left. Jack Farmer sat on the bench, occasionally arising to limp to the coaching line.

Manager McCredle says he has closed no deal yet for Holiocher. Scout Joe Kelley, of the New York Yanks, argived yesterday simultaneously with the ball teams and watched the opening engagement from a box seat. Kelley is en route to the Northwestern League, but he will have to hurry, for by the end of the week the league will be as scarce as bird seed in a bathtub.

INDIANA CASE IS CITED

Formal Opinion Not Given, but Precedent Is That One Person

John G. Anderson, twice runner-up in the National amateur championship, also had trouble in his match with Paul Gardner, of Chicago, being two down at one time, but he finally overcame his opponent on the 17th hole.

Oulmet, who is in the upper half of the draw, will play the 36-hole secondround match with J. T. Henry, a Chicago public links golfer, while John Anderson, in the lower half, will meet Bobert Bowker, also a public links player here.

Guilford, the long-driving Bostonian, meets G. Decker French, of Rock Island, Ill., who today defeated Paul Hunter, of Chicago, medalist in 1911 and 1915. Bush, the New Orleans star, will have to defeat Kenneth Edwards tomorrow to keep the South represented in the tournament.

SALEM, Or., July 10.—(Special.)—While still ashering to his declaration not to give an opinion as to the status of Multnomah County, who have gone to the officers' training camp, Attorney-General Brown today called attention to a historical old Indiana case, which Mr. Brown says is exactly in point as to the situation of the two Judges absent from Multnomah County. The Indiana case is woven around Benjamin Harrison, a former President of the United States.
