Matter of Reopening Exchange Put Up to Members.

SPECIAL MEETING JULY 30

Resumption of Regular Sessions at Scattle Has Caused Some Agitation for Similar Action by Portland Board.

While there has been no actual demand yet for the reopening of the Merchants' Exchange, as grain trading in all lines is practically suspended pending Congressional actically suspended pending congressions ac-tion on the food control bill, some of the local dealers believe it might be of advan-tage to resume sessions. Regular call meet-ings would enable the trade to get a better idea as to values in the event that business change, brought up the question of resuming sessions and it was voted to hold a spetial meeting at noon on July 30 to decide whether or not to reopen the exchange.

The market was quiet yesterday and the nominal wheat prices given were unchanged.

Outs and barley were also dult.

WOOL SPECULATION TO BE CURBED Government's Attitude Is Being Made Clearer to Trade.

Clearer to Trade.

Commenting on the steps the Government may take to regulate wool prices the Boston Commercial Bulletin says:

'The attitude of the Government has naturally been the greatest factor in the situation, and this also has been the chief topic of discussion. It would seem on the of things that the wool trade is percategory to proposition the advisory com-the Covernment through the advisory com-mittee of the Council of National Defense in requesting the trades dealing in wood by-products to fix among themselves maximum 50 bogs... 10 18.50 0 before... Wt. Price. By Defense on their own products, is fair warning 2 bogs... 12 15.75 3 bogs... 130 14.60 1 bogs... 130 14.60 that unrestricted speculative trading in wool will probably carry its own penalty.

"This much, however, seems certain from the experience of the noils and wastes trades, the Government would be loth to establish maximum prices. Therefore the present arrangement in the wastes and noise trades is in the nature of a "gentlement agreement." Nor is the Government oppased, apparently, to further raising the prices thus established, if such an increase were actually warranted. Thus it becomes evident that it behooves the trade to carry on its future business with such circumspection as it may be possible for it to exercise."

Paul A. Robbins, representing the Department of Labor, is here from Portland to look over the situation. He has interviewed many of the farmers and met with the men tenight. He will make a report to the bureau chief in Portland. It is anticipated that 1700 men will be needed in the harvest fields, but this is only a part of this problem. The farmers last year found it almost as difficult to get men for wheat hauling and seeding as they did for harvest work. There are, in addition to the farmers, many stockmen and other large employers.

Umapine Harvest Starts Soon.

UMAPINE, Or., July 12.— (Special.)—
Eastern Oregon has for the past two weeks sweltered under a hot sun, and as a result wheat harvesting preparations have been hastened, and it is likely harvesting will begin within the next ten days. Springsown grain needs water badly and quite a little is reported burned. Men prefer working in the harvest fields rather than the alfalfa fields, as wages are generally higher, and as a result alfalfa raisers will co-operate in the second cutting. On Monday the farmers will begin cutting and a good crop is assured in the Hudson Hay Country. Most farmers will hold their hay until Fail and $10 is being asked for it baled at the present time f. c. b. cars. Umaplue Harvest Starts Soon.

Rushes to Sell December and May Send Values Down Over Six Cents-Wheat and Oats

CHICAGO, July 12.—Simultaneous big breaks and high jumps in corn values resulted today from the establishment of a maximum price for new crop deliveries of that cereal. Options on the 1917 yield, which will not be ready until December of later, crashed down in some cases as much as 64;c. Meanwhile, corn available for immediate use, No. 2 white, ascended to the topmost figure ever known, $1.03; a bushel. The market as a whole closed nervous, ranging from 5%c net lower to %c advance, with September $1.50% and December at $1.10% $1.10% $1.10%. Wheat gained one cent net, finishing easy at $2.04 for July and $1.92% for September. Oats closed %c off to %c up, and provisions varying from 126 declins to a rise of 40c.

Rushes to seil December and May holdings of corn took place the moment the market opened. A sheet descent of 5%c in prices for those deliveries was witnessed and although moderate railies followed, increasing weakness developed. Assertions that the German Chaucellor had resigned gave additional impetus to bearish sentiment. Scarcity of fresh receipts to replace the dwindling present stocks was responsible for the strong upturn of cash corn and for the relative firmness of the September delivery.

Wheat and oats showed firmness, notwith-for the relative firmness of the September delivery.

Wheat and oats showed firmness, notwithstanding the downward swing of the corn market. The wheat market opened he higher at $1.92 for September, with July nominal and continued steady at that level. Estimates that the North Dakota yield would be 15,000,000 bushels less than indicated by the Government July returns had a builted by the Government July returns had a builted effect later. The close was easy.

A broad trade was witnessed injusts with much new buying noticeable, at prices only a trifle below yesterday's close.

tively low pressure overlie the Lake region and St. Lawrence Valley, Central California and the southern portion of Avizona. Numerous showers occurred sast of the Mississippi River and west of this river procipitation occurred only at Phoenis, Ariz. Temperatures fell throughout the South, the northern tier of states from Idaho to Minnesota and in Southwest; elsewhere they are somewhat higher, particularly on the southern slope of the Rockles, where they rose from 8 to 16 degrees.

The high-pressure conditions over the extreme Northwest will control the weather in this vicinity, indicating clear skies and conlinued warm weather Friday, with moderate northwesterly winds.
