Trucks May Operate in Vancouver With One Tag, Says Opinion.

OLYMPIA, Wash., July 12 .- (Special.) OLYMPIA, Wash, July 12.—(Special.)—In an opinion to the Prosecuting Attorney of Clarke County, it is held by L. L. Thompson, Assistant Attorney—General, that Portland auto trucks which go to Vancouver, Wash, to pick up loads and return to the Oregon side of the river do not need to have Washington state licenses if they have Oregon licenses.

The opinion is to the effect that me tor trucks when having licenses from one state fre subject to the same rules and regulations as are pleasure vehi-cles, and that therefore the Oregon trucks may operate in this state for periods not to exceed 90 days.

The same opinion sets forth that persons under 21 years of age may operate auto stage cars, but cannot operate "for hire" machines.

Retailers Organize to Increase Their Profits.

ALL BRANDS TO ADVANCE

Nearly All Prominent Retail Dealers in Portland Are Members of New Association-J. E. Donovan Is President.

The cost of smoking is going up. Portland cigar dealers met yesterday, formed an organization and camo an agreement that because of the high cost of labor, rents and material and the increase in wholesale prices, there was no longer a safe and sane profit in the retail trade. The esult was that a protective associa-ion was formed to be known as the Portland Retail Cigar Dealers' Asso-dation and while there are various blects in view, the prime purpose of the organization is to effect a con-certed increase in the retail price of cigars, tobacco and cigarettes. Protective Steps Taken. Individual dealers long have con-sidered raising the price of certain well-known weeds, but there was an apparent hesitancy for fear some competitor would buck the increase and reap the profit to the disadvan-tage of all others. The protective as-sociation was found the only solution. Practically all prominent retail dealers in the city were present at the meeting at the Mulinomah Hotel yes-J. E. The home will provide every convenience for the girls even to the extent of hospital clothing and the furnishings are of the best. The maintenance of the home is to be financed from the income of Mr. Wemme's $400,000 estate.

In his speech at the dedication ceremonies yesterday Mr. Joseph explained the purpose Mr. Wemme had in mind when he planned the gift of the home to the city of Portland and pointed out the bigness of character and the loftiness of mind and heart which suggested such a gift. Mayor Baker also paid a warm tribute to Mr. Wemme as a public benefactor.
