A 'Who's Who' List.

The first nights in Los Angeles are usually very notable occasions, but it is very improbable if any section of the country at any time there was such a collection of nationally and world-famous people together at one performance as that which attended the premiere of Oliver Morosco's new musical comedy 'What Next?'

The first Goldwyn picture to be released will be 'Polly of the Circus' on August 3. Then comes Madge Kennedy in 'Baby Mine,' Maxine Elliott in 'Fighting Odds' and Jane Cowl in 'The Spreading Dawn.'

Jean Sothern has just signed a contract with the Van Dyke Film Corporation that takes her to Hollywood as star. Then comes Madge Kennedy in 'Baby Mine,' Maxine Elliott in 'Fighting Odds' and Jane Cowl in 'The Spreading Dawn.'

Even the dog influenced by the successful atmosphere of his home life has begun to aid the family laurels, and Brutus, Emil Stevens' dog, took a part at the recent show of the Nassau County Kennel Club.

Some wonderful atmosphere of the period and charming rural scenes are presented in this pictorial tale of the wandering Vicar, with his wanderings and episodic experiences.

'The Vicar of Wakefield' suffers financial reverses and is forced to move into a smaller house. His son (Boyd Marshall) goes to the city to look for work and falls in with fast company.

Lois Wilson, who has done excellent work in special feature productions, plays 'Dolores Reary' the opposite to Currier's marriage to John Stuart Webster, a mining engineer.

Jackie Saunders features are to be distributed throughout Paramount next Fall. Balboa will make 'em.
