LIBERTY PAY DUE SOON.—NEXT INSTALLMENT ON LOAN IS TO FALL SATURDAY.

Banks Report Prompt Meeting of Obligations Both in Portland and Throughout State.

Prepare to meet your next installment on the liberty loan bonds. Saturday, July 28, is the date for the next payment.

In keeping with the splendid showing made by Portland and the state of Oregon when the Government put the liberty bonds on the market, payments on them are being met fully and promptly.

Portland banks report that all holders of the liberty loan bonds have thus far met payments and in some instances cash payments in full are said to have been made by purchasers.

Nearly all of the purchasers, however, are taking advantage of the Government's installment plan.

City and country districts alike are meeting the installments in full, according to reports received in Portland. The liberty bonds sale was for $2,000,000, but was greatly over-subscribed throughout the entire country.

DR. YOUNG ON VISIT

Ex-Portland Pastor Spending His Vacation Here.

WAR SEPARATES FAMILY

Wife and Daughter Engaged in Red Cross Work, One Son in Officers' Camp, Another in Welfare Work, Third Farming.

After an absence of more than three years, Dr. Benjamin Young, ex-pastor of old Taylor-Street Church and the First Methodist Episcopal Church in Portland, has returned to this city on a vacation trip. He is the guest of Amedee M. Smith and will be here for a few days.

Dr. Young's visit to Portland at this time is occasioned by his connection with the staff of teachers attending various Western Epworth League institutes, his last engagement prior to coming to this city being at Redondo Beach, Wash.

The Young family is widely separated just now because of the war. Mrs. Young is engaged in Red Cross work in St. Louis. Crawford, the eldest son, ex-Lincoln and Willamette University student, who just finished his first year in law at Yale, is in the officers' training camp at Fort Riley, Kan., and expects to enter the artillery service.

City and country districts alike are meeting the installments in full, according to reports received in Portland. The liberty bonds sale was for $2,000,000, but was greatly over-subscribed throughout the entire country.

Portland made the most remarkable record of any city on the Pacific Coast, ending its campaign with a total sale of close to $9,000,000, whereas the official quota allotted to this city was $2,300,000.

Dr. Young left Portland about three years ago, exchanging pulpits with Dr. F. L. Loveland, who came here from Topeka, Kan. Dr. Young was at Topeka two years and was then transferred to St. Louis, where he is now located as pastor of the Union Methodist Episcopal Church, known as "The Mother of the largest congregations in the connection and Dr. Young says he and his family are very happy there, although he, Mrs. Young and the children still retain their love for Portland.

Recruiting headquarters have been reopened at the Multnomah Hotel for the Eighth Regiment. Men desiring to enlist in this branch of the service, which is certain to have plenty of action, inasmuch as one of the duties of the regiment will be to build rail lines under fire for the movement of big guns, should apply at once.

Justices of the Peace or other jurists exercising similar powers have no right to instruct a jury in cases tried before them, according to an opinion which has just been handed down by President Judge Kavanaugh, a copy of which has just been received by Paul Long, attorney for Otto Nyberg, who questioned the jurisdiction of Justices in the matter of instructions.

The opinion was given in determining a petition for a writ of prohibition.
