

SENATE WILL VOTE TODAY ON DRY BILL

Narrow Margin Either Way on Two-Thirds Majority Will Decide Measure.

DEBATE IS PERFUNCTORY

Proposed Constitutional Amendment, If Approved by Senate, Must Be Passed by House Before Going to States for Vote.

WASHINGTON, July 31.—The Senate's discussion of the resolution for a prohibition amendment to the Federal Constitution proceeded today in a vein largely perfunctory. A vote is to be taken late tomorrow.

In contrast to other notable prohibition fights in Congress in recent years, there was only a small attendance during the day on the floor or in the galleries. Prepared speeches were made and the session took on the tedious aspect of routine proceedings as Senator after Senator read into the record without interruption or contradiction his reasons for supporting or opposing the resolution.

Tonight both wets and dries were claiming enough votes to insure their victory tomorrow, but on both sides it was admitted that the vote would be close. It will take the votes of two-thirds of those present for adoption of the resolution, which then will have to pass the House before an amendment is submitted to the states for ratification. Legal arguments were made against the proposal by Senators Lodge and Hardwick, both of whom contended today it would be a dangerous step for the Federal Government to assume the police powers over liquor exercised hitherto by the states. Senator Lodge also contended that passage of the amendment would be a backward step in the temperance campaign and would delay the coming of complete abstinence of alcohol.

Question May Be Party Issue.
Speaking for the resolution, Senator Jones, of Washington, declared that if an amendment were not submitted to the people, Nation-wide prohibition soon would become a party issue. Senators Thompson and Sherman were among others who supported the measure.

Senator Sheppard, author of the resolution, accepted an amendment by Senator Harding providing that the proposed constitutional amendment must be submitted to the states for ratification by July 1, 1923. Announcement was made by Senator Stone that he would propose that before prohibition goes into effect the government compensate property owners for damages to property resulting from its enforcement. Senator Stone said that if this and Senator Harding's proposals were accepted he would vote for the resolution.

Lodge Opposes Plan.
Senator Lodge told the Senate that he believed adoption of the amendment would be "the worst thing that could be done to advance temperance."

Senator Jones declared that should Congress refuse to give the people an opportunity to act now on prohibition, the Republican party, to which he belongs, would have to declare for prohibition because it would be necessary for party success.

"The people of the entire state force upon particular communities laws which they do not approve," said Senator Jones. "Why should this principle stop at state lines? The Constitution recognizes it."
Adoption of a prohibition amendment would contribute more to final success and victory in the war than any other action that could be taken, declared Senator Thompson. Senator Sherman endorsed Senator Stone's suggestion regarding the compensating of property owners, but declared he intended to vote for the resolution "in any form in which it comes to a roll call."

SEATTLE STRIKE SETTLED

and ratified by the men tomorrow, service in both the cities involved will be resumed Thursday morning.

The principal point of difference in the strike in which 1500 men are involved in Seattle and 200 in Tacoma has been from the beginning no unrestricted right of organization.

Dr. Suzzallo Arbitrator.

A board of three men, one representing the strikers, one the traction company, and the third occupying the position of arbitrator, met in this city shortly before noon to discuss the strike. Mr. Bradlee represented the streetcar company, James Duncan the strikers, and Dr. Henry Suzzallo, chairman of the State Council of Defense.

WHEN doctors have to put "dry" bandages on dangerous, open, itching, painful, stubborn skin wounds and eruptions—on painful sores—they use a dry "dusting" powder—an antiseptic, cooling, soothing, healing powder.

Many of them have used Mennen's Kora-Konia for some time. It is a better, quick-healing powder.

White, Seattle, Federal Commissioner of Conciliation, is coming to Olympia tonight, and tomorrow will offer his services as mediator in the strike of 200 ship carpenters, which took place today at the shipyards of the Sloan Shipbuilding Company, according to announcement made tonight.

Today's walkout occurred following the refusal of the company to reinstate two carpenters discharged yesterday and today. P. D. Sloan, president of the company, is in Olympia, but would not make any statement regarding the strike.

LONDON PRAISES TALK

LANSING'S WORDS SAID TO CONVEY WAR PURPOSES CLEARLY.

Times Suggests That President Wilson by Speeches Impress Purposes Upon People's Mind.

LONDON, July 31.—The address of Secretary of State Lansing at Madison Barracks, New York, Sunday, is commented upon appreciatively. Some morning newspapers are showing the clear vision wherewith the American Government regards the main issue and conveying unanimously words of doom to the enemy.

The Times, regretting the "full truth is yet very imperfectly grasped by the masses of Americans... their imagination yet unfired," despite the words of reason in President Wilson's and Secretary Lansing's expositions, refers to the popular confidence in the President and indirectly appeals to him to go on the stump for the purpose of awakening the people.

"It is not from the written, but from the spoken word of the President that the significance of this tremendous conflict to them and their children must be brought home to the American hearts. And be alone commands the confidence of all. To his explanations and his summons they will respond as to none others."
