"The continued dry, but weather has cut down the wheat crop in all dry land cections of the state, but in this irrigated section the yield promises to be good, although some wheat, even with planty of water, may have ripened too quickly for the maximum yield. Grain barvest is starting this week.

Nex Perce prairie appears to have better crap prospects than the balance of the Camaa Prairie district. Estimated Fail grain will average 33 bushels as against 45 last year's average was 30 bushels. A prominent dealer of New Perce estimates 60 per cent of last year's grain tonnage. On the lowlands between Culdease and Lewiston, grain is in the shock and the threshing will commence this week. In the Asotin territory I understand Fail grain is yielding around 26 bushels to the acre. There is almost an entire crop failure on the light soil territory west of Lewiston to Snake River Junction. New grain will start coming into the warehouses in the Camas Prairie territory about August 15.

In first new-crop wheat in the Klickitat Valley was delivered at the interior warehouse in Goldendale today by Ira Van Aélst, a farmer on the lattic Klickitat River, near Goldendale. Mr. Van Aelst got 196 sacks off of 19 acres. The wheat is of the red hybrid variety and sold for $1.65 per bushel. Combined harvesters have been operating in some sections of the Klickitat Valley for the past week, but all wheat cut and threshed by combines so far has been on high ground and thin soll and is reported to be running from eight to 12 sacks per acre. Heading crews in the heavier grain of the Swais section predict that many fields will run from 40 to 50 bushels.

Spring grain is looking much better than expected and, while no run has fallen, many fields will still make a profitable crop to harvest. First Klickitat Valley Wheat Sold.
