

FOOD CONTROL DUE TO WAR FIGHT

Leaders Hope to Send Long Contested Measure to President This Week.

WAR TAX BILL MUST WAIT

Entire Executive Programme Again Congested in Senate—House to Take Three-Day Recesses Until Senators Finish Talking.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—Enactment of the Administration food control bill is the principal task ahead of Congress this week. When the long-contested measure is out of the way, the Senate will begin debate of the $2,000,000,000 war tax bill, with the leaders hoping for a vacation recess in September.

The entire executive programme is again congested in the Senate where debate on the conference report of the food control bill will be resumed tomorrow. Tuesday the House will begin a series of three-day recesses to continue for several weeks under a gentlemen's agreement to transact no important business until the war tax bill is ready for conference.

Administrative leaders expressed confidence tonight that food legislation will be sent to the President before the week-end, though not until after another bitter fight on the conference report on the conference report of the first Administration food bill, for a food survey and stimulation of production, will follow.

War Tax Bill to Be Reported.

Senator Simmons, chairman of the finance committee, tomorrow will present the war tax bill and the bipartisan committee report to the Senate. It is to be taken up after disposal of the food legislation. The leaders hope to limit discussion so that the bill can be passed within two weeks, completed in conference within another week and finally passed early in September.

Upon passage of the revenue measure and other minor legislation, a recess of six weeks more may be arranged.

The Administration trading with the enemy bill, passed by the House, will be considered by the Senate. The commerce committee, but action in the Senate may be postponed until after the Congressional recess planned by the Senate.

The bill proposed by Secretary McAdoo for Government insurance of American troops sent abroad also may be presented this week.

Further Peace Talk Promised.

Further Senate discussion of peace is promised. Senator Stone, chairman of the foreign relations committee, said tonight that he expected to deliver a week a speech on the peace situation, but probably would not offer any concrete proposal in the form of a resolution.

Woman Suffrage is Another Subject scheduled for continued agitation. Senator Cummins plans to renew the effort to have the suffrage amendment to the National Constitution reported by the Senate woman suffrage committee. Senator Chamberlain is expected to consider his resolution to draft all aliens except Asiatics and alien enemies who are hostile to the United States to report soon a War Department bill to create a board of aircraft production.

TANKS FRIGHTEN TEUTONS

of Zillebeke. At the defenses near Frezenberg a spectacular battle occurred. These consisted of two strong redoubts, one of which was known as the castle. In front of them flows the Hanbeek, and the surrounding ground was marsh-like and unsuitable for heavy bodies to move across.

"Castle" Is Captured.

The attacking tanks advanced over the stream and sodden ground under a heavy fire from the machine guns in the redoubts, and the anti-tank guns hidden behind the fortifications. One tank worked its way around the castle and opening fire drove all the defenders into the other redoubt. It then forced its way to the rear of the captured redoubt and compelled all the enemy to fall back to the castle, where, in a frenzy of fear, the Germans took refuge.

At this point other tanks joined in the fray and after surrounding the castle the concerted assault, clearing the castle for the second time, as well as all the outlying defenses.

German Give Up.

Another tank attacked Saint Julien with the infantry. It drew the fire of a small fort to the west of the village and turned aside to deal with this. It not only cleared the fortification and the Germans to a man ran out with hands raised, crying "Kamerads" and gave themselves up. This was a capture totaling 40 prisoners.

Having silenced this fort the tank crossed the Steenbeck river and proceeded through the shell-torn main streets of Saint Julien to the northern side. It assisted the infantry to clear the place of the German defenders, who were concealed in the buildings.

Women Love Babies

It is woman's nature to respond to the charm of a pretty child. Who does not admire babies? The longing to possess a baby is often outwitted by the inherent fear of the period of distress. There is a wonderful external preparation known as "Mother's Friend".

It is a safe external massage which relieves pain and discomfort at the crisis; makes elastic those fibers and muscles which nature is extending, and wonderfully soothes the inflammation of breast glands.

It enables the expectant mother to preserve her health and strength, and she remains a pretty mother by having avoided the suffering and danger which would otherwise attend confinement. Every nerve, muscle and tendon is thoroughly lubricated. Get a bottle today from the drugist, and write to the Bradford-Regulator Co., Dept. G, 222 Lamar Building, Atlanta, Ga. They will mail you an intensely interesting little book, "Motherhood and the Baby". The book is free. Every woman should herself also nature in her glorious work. "Mother's Friend" makes it possible for you to do and should be used regularly without fail night and morning.

and then returned without having suffered damage, leaving the British in possession.

The British next day withdrew from St. Julien, but continued to shell the place so heavily that the Germans could only re-occupy it in part. Later the British re-entered the village under cover of a heavy barrage and took up the positions which they held today.

Valuable work also was done by the tanks in sections of woodland back of the German defense astride the Ypres-Menin road.

Forest Cleared of Troops.

The largest of these patches of forest had a strong redoubt in front. The wood was filled with machine guns and afforded opportunity for the massing of German troops. The tanks were used to clear the forest, and the redoubt in front of the wood was taken after a fierce fight between the guns of the tank and those of the little fort.

Beyond the redoubt the tanks found themselves under a steady hail of machine gun bullets, but they lined up on the enemy's position and for hours continued to sweep them with their guns until all concealed machine guns had been cleared out and the enemy returned to retire. The tanks then returned behind the British infantry.

Two tanks were ditched temporarily near Frezenberg, but helped to repulse the counter attack by the Germans. The enemy, believing the tanks helpless, advanced in the hope of regaining the ground lost and capturing the monster machines. The tanks opened fire on the advancing line of infantry and mowed the Germans down in large numbers. Scotch troops finished the repulse with bayonets.

Bombs Are Useless.

For the most part the tanks proved that they were capable of moving over the most difficult ground, but in a few cases they were stalled at times in holes. More than once when this happened officers and crew rushed out under heavy fire in order to set up their machine gun in more advantageous position, although they were then comparatively safe in the tank. Some of these intrepid crews fought thus until the last man was either killed or wounded, and it was due to such acts as these that many of the tank casualties resulted.

No bombs were used against the tanks in Tuesday's fighting, for the Germans discovered that they might as well bomb the side of a battleship as one of these heavily armored fortifications. Nothing short of a direct hit by a heavy shell could put a tank out of commission. One tank was attacked by an airplane but the airplane, after buzzing the tank like an angry mosquito over a rhinoceros, finally sailed away to seek easier prey.

The co-operation between the tanks and the infantry was well nigh perfect, the big machines keeping in constant contact with the soldiers. The strain on the tanks was tremendous when the work is protracted, as it was on Tuesday. One tank was in constant contact for 24 hours from the time of the attack and others were out for many hours.

NEUTRALS TELL NEEDS

GOVERNMENT WORKS OUT PLAN TO GOVERN EXPORTS.

America and Allies Held to Have First Claim on Food Supplies—Basis Sought for Estimates.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—An agreement will be shortly reached between the neutral powers and the export council regarding food shipments under guarantee of their non-export to Germany. Replies have been received from many neutrals to which the State Department supplies information regarding requirements and what assurance they were prepared to give that the food would not reach Germany.

The State Department's memorandum said that the United States has "as its first duty the supplying of food to the allies, and that if this country undertook to supply neutrals it must mean that it would deprive the American people and their allies alone the United States could not be expected to part with food supplies other than in such limited amounts as would make up the deficiency in the food values arising after the most intensive on-paper by neutrals. In determining this minimum it was felt that the pre-war imports are no longer a criterion of the necessities because more intense production and reduced consumption rendered such calculations inapplicable.

28,000 VISIT COLUMBIA

RIVER RESORT MECCA FOR MANY ON WARM SUNDAY.

Estimates Put 5000 as Number of Bathers at One Time—Bathing Girls' Parade Set for Saturday.

All season records for local recreation resort attendance were smashed yesterday when more than 28,000 persons passed through the gates of Columbia Beach.

The paid admissions were in excess of 29,000, while the balance was made up of several thousands of children under 12, admitted free, and a continuous stream of men wearing Uncle Sam's fighting uniforms also admitted free.

The turnstile check showed that more than 1200 automobiles visited the beach between noon and 7 P. M.

To handle the streetcar crowds the Portland Railway, Light & Power Company used between 70 and 80 cars during the afternoon and evening rush.

Attendees at Columbia Beach estimated that between 3 and 4 o'clock in the afternoon, when the crowds were at their largest, there were approximately 5000 bathers, men, women and "kiddies," in the water at one time.

The next big day at Columbia Beach will be "Grocers and Meat Dealers' day," next Wednesday, when these two organizations will hold their second annual picnic and picnic dinner. They will be joined by the Roberts Brothers Welfare Association, and a crowd of from 8000 to 8000 is anticipated.

On next Saturday afternoon the first big bathing girls' fashion parade held in Portland will be staged at Columbia Beach.

Miss Ingra Myberg Missing.

The police last night were asked to look for Miss Ingra Myberg, 30 years old, who left Misson, B. C., on August 3, to come to Portland. She was to visit Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Undaeth, of the Leonce Apartments, Twenty-second and Johnson streets, but has not arrived.

DUMA AND COUNCIL

Premier Withdraws His Resignation When Vote of Confidence Is Given.

FULL AUTHORITY ASKED

Resignation of Tchernoff, Forced by Accusations of German Intrigue Expected to Give Rise to Much Discussion.

PETROGRAD, Aug. 5.—By a vote of 147 to 40 a joint meeting of the executives of the Workmen and Soldiers' and Peasants' Councils confirmed the decision of the all-night political conference of continued confidence in Premier Kerensky. The Maximalists strongly protested and 42 of the members of this party abstained from voting.

The Duma committee also has confirmed the vote of confidence in M. Kerensky.

Kerensky Withdraws Resignation.

Premier Kerensky has returned to Petrograd and withdrawn his resignation. He attended a ministerial meeting on Saturday evening, and afterwards conferred with various political leaders.

M. Kerensky has issued a manifesto in which he declares that he considers it impossible when the country is threatened with defeat without and disintegration within to refuse the heavy task again entrusted to him, which he regards as an imperative order from the country to construct a strong revolutionary government to carry out the principles already laid down.

Changes to Be Made.

"At the same time," said the manifesto, "I consider it inevitable to effect changes in the order and distribution of government work without allowing myself to be influenced by the thought that these changes will increase my responsibility in the supreme direction of the affairs of state."

The co-operation between the tanks and the infantry was well nigh perfect, the big machines keeping in constant contact with the soldiers. The strain on the tanks was tremendous when the work is protracted, as it was on Tuesday. One tank was in constant contact for 24 hours from the time of the attack and others were out for many hours.

Full Authority Asked.

"Second—No one shall intervene in my fighting orders and appointments. Third—The measures adopted during the last few days at the front also shall be applied at the depots in the rear."

PETROGRAD, Aug. 5, via London, Aug. 5.—The all-night political conference at the Winter Palace, which was concluded this morning by the passage of a resolution in which confidence in Premier Kerensky was expressed by each of the five parties represented and in which he was invited to resign, in the strictest order, but with intense emotion. All the participants were obviously convinced that the decision to swap death with life in the trench would rather do it that way.

Schoolboys Among Dead.

The recent English offensive in Flanders showed many schoolboys among the ranks. The loss of life and property of attrition is already beginning to show results. No longer can the Kaiser pick his troops for this service or that.

swapping death with life in the trench would rather do it that way.

Kerensky Highly Praised.

M. Tsereteli, the Minister of Posts and Telegraphs, in an emotional speech, echoed the view that Kerensky was the only man who could save the country. In order to alleviate his task, declared the speaker, the government should abstain from forcing through the party programme. After these men had spoken the procurator of the Holy Synod, M. Lavoff, rose and said that he, too, considered the Premier the man destined to be Russia's savior. Minister of Justice Ereroff said almost the same words in turn, declaring the Premier an indispensable man.

Korniloff's Demands Told.

After an interval the debate was resumed and Vice-Premier Nekrasoff announced the demands that had been made by General Korniloff, chief command of the Russian armies.

Austria Bears Brunt.

Austria bears the brunt of the suffering. Her eastern border has been overrun by Russian armies in advance and retreat. On the west, Italy is holding another slice and there is the ever present threat of a still more effective Italian advance when the allies get around to furnishing artillery and ammunition for the two million Italians, who have not yet got into the war.

Military Jealousy Present.

Moreover, there is the military jealousy inseparable from such a situation and as Tsereteli's victory became less and less likely is there the fear that Austria will have to pay more than her share of the bill when the final account is rendered.

Tseretchenko, the Foreign Minister, in summing up the debate at the political conference, said that he was convinced that the real issue was played by all parties at the conference was a pledge that the safety of the country would be secured.

Confidence Is Expressed.

The conference was then suspended in order to give the various parties an opportunity to come to an understanding as to the best way of settling their difficulties.

The resolution of confidence in Premier Kerensky was adopted soon after the conference reassembled. All the declarations were permeated by a spirit of general confidence in Premier Kerensky as being the only man of sufficient authority to assure a strong government for the country.

LONDON, Aug. 5.—The executive council of the Workmen and Soldiers' delegates, according to Reuters' Petrograd correspondent, has resolved to issue a proclamation to the peoples of the whole world, to be signed in the Russian capital and newspapers there say it was brought about by political charges made by the Maximalists. A detachment of troops surrounded his residence early in the morning. After a search of three hours the General was found and taken to general staff headquarters.
