

TEN AIR PLAINES ARE REPELLED AT COAST

Eleven Persons are Killed at Dover, and Three Planes are Brought Down.

NIGHT ATTACK FRUITLESS

Germans Make Two Visits to Eastern Part of England. Ramsgate is Bombed From Great Altitude.

LONDON, Aug. 22.—Ten German airplanes approached the English coast in the County of Kent today, the British War Office announced. Three of the raiding machines were brought down. Lord French's report shows that bombs were dropped by the raiding aircraft on Dover, Margate and Ramsgate. There were no casualties at Margate, but at Dover and Ramsgate 11 persons were killed and 13 injured. A hospital and some houses were damaged.

The pilot of one of the enemy machines brought down was rescued, having been only slightly wounded.

An air-raid warning was issued in London this morning. About an hour later the announcement "all clear" was made, indicating that the raiders had been driven off.

German airplanes made a raid over the Yorkshire coast last night, it is also announced officially. So far as has been ascertained the damage inflicted was small.

The communication issued by Lord French, commander-in-chief of the home forces, says:

"Ten enemy airplanes approached over the Kentish coast near Ramsgate about 10:15 A. M. Being met and heavily engaged by machines of the royal flying corps and royal naval air service, and also by gunfire from anti-aircraft guns, the raiders were unable to penetrate inland.

"A small party traveled west to Margate, but then turned homeward. The remainder skirted the coast to the south as far as Dover.

"The Admiralty has issued the following amplification of Lord French's report: "

"Ten enemy airplanes of the Gotha type were attacked by naval airplanes in the vicinity of Ramsgate between 10 and 11 A. M. today. The enemy machines, which were flying at a height between 12,000 and 12,500 feet, were closely engaged, and in addition to the two mentioned by Lord French in the earlier communication, another was shot down by the Royal Naval Air Squadron machine close to the coast. The remaining seven Gothas headed seaward, followed by numerous naval aircraft.

"The pilot of a Royal Naval Air Squadron machine, which chased the raiders over the coast, was killed after firing 300 rounds of ammunition into one of the enemy machines both gunners appeared to have been killed."

SWISS TO LIMIT BREAD

The council also took measures to reduce the coal consumption, especially through the conservation of electrical energy.

Each canton is ordered to save coal by the early closing of moving picture and public establishments. The sale of warm food is interdicted after 3 P. M.

enter the regiment as probationary ensign. In both cases the young officer is observed by the officers during a period of probation, and can only become an officer of that regiment by the consent of the regimental officers. In other words, each regiment is like a club, the officers having the right of blackball.

This system has virtually confined the professional officers to a class of nobles. It is not at all unusual to find in a regiment officers whose ancestors were officers of the same regiment 200 years of more ago.

Reserve Officers of Low Grade.

In addition to these officers who make the army their career a certain number of Germans are undergoing an enlistment in the army of one year and two periods of training thereafter are made reserve officers. These reserve officers are called to the colors for maneuvers, and, of course, when the whole nation is arrayed in war.

The reserve officers seldom attain a rank higher than that of captain. They may, however, while exercising their functions, be promoted, and in this manner the Chancellor, while occupying civil positions, has gradually been promoted to the rank of General, and Von Jarow, during the war, to the rank of Major.

As a rule reserve officers are the one-yearers, or "ein Jaehriger," who, because they have attained a certain standard of education, serve only one year with the army instead of two required from others. The Bavarian army is in a sense independent of Prussia, and is modeled on the same system.

Officers Are Arrogant.

For years officers of the army, both in the discharge of their duties and outside, have behaved in a very arrogant way toward the civil population. Time and again while I was in Germany waiting in line at some ticket office an officer has shoved himself ahead of all others without even a protest from them.

On one occasion I went to the races in Berlin with my brother-in-law and bought a box. While we were out looking at the horses between two races a Prussian officer and his wife seated themselves in our box. I called the attention of one of the ushers to this, but the usher said that he did not dare ask a Prussian officer to leave, and it was only after sending for the head

AMMUNITION FAILS; TANKER CAPTURED

American Steamer Surrenders After Firing 180 Rounds in Four-Hour Battle.

U-BOAT IS SPEEDY CRAFT

Submarine Sunk in Vicinity of Campana Incident May Have Carried Down Captain and Five Captive Gunners.

AN ATLANTIC PORT, Aug. 22.—The Standard Oil tank steamer Campana, whose captain and five of her Navy gunners were taken prisoners by a German submarine on August 6, surrendered to the U-boat, but only because she had not another shot to fire. The Campana's ammunition, after firing 180 shots, became exhausted.

This was the story told by J. H. Bruce, third mate of the Campana, who, with 49 other members of the Campana's crew and eight gunners, arrived today on a French battleship. The battle began at 5 A. M. and was waged for four hours at a range of between 7300 and 7500 yards.

Surrender Signal Ignored.

After the Campana hoisted the international signal of surrender, her last shell gone, the submarine, nevertheless, continued to fire, Bruce said, and all hands took to the boats.

The U-boat commander first approached the boat commanded by Bruce, which had aboard the Campana's 13 naval gunners, and ordered it alongside. He then went to the lifeboat occupied by Captain Albert Oliver, of the Campana, and took him prisoner.

Having room enough only for six additional men aboard his craft, the German skipper made only five of the gunners prisoners, Bruce said.

The submarine was the U-2. Bruce did not learn the commander's name. The German told him, he said, that he had first fired a torpedo at the Campana, but had missed, the projectile apparently passing under the steamship.

The Campana was sent to the bottom by bombs after her crew had been allowed to return and get their personal effects. Directions were given to Bruce by the submarine commander how to reach the nearest port.

Bruce said he was told by an officer of the war vessel that he had heard a wireless message from another French cruiser saying that it had sunk a German submarine in the vicinity of the place where the Campana had been sunk. Bruce said it was only a matter of conjecture as to whether this was the submarine that attacked his vessel, but he feared it meant that Captain Oliver and his gunners had perished.

"Bluejackets Are Game Lot."

"When Captain Oliver and the other prisoners went below on the submarine," said Bruce, "they bid us good-by and the U-boat captain assured me they would be treated as prisoners of war and landed in a few days at a German base."

"The bluejackets with us were a game lot. When the last shell had gone they would have tackled the Germans with their revolvers had they been ordered. It would have been a useless sacrifice of life, as the Germans had us at their mercy. If true, the gunners taken prisoner were:

James Delaney, chief gunner's mate; William Miller, seaman; Fred Jacobs, seaman; Ray Koop, boatsteward's mate; second-class, and Charles Kilne, the gunner's mate."

TEUTONS AIM AT RIGA

RUSSIANS RETIRE TO MARSHES NEAR RIVER AA.

Heavy Artillery Bombardment Is Begun in Region of Dvinsk, on Dvina River.

PETROGRAD, Aug. 22.—The Germans have begun offensive on the northern part of the Russian line between the Tirul marshes and the river An the War Office announced. The Russians have retired, two or three versts northward between the marshes and the river.

The Germans drove back advanced posts of Russian cavalry to the town of Kiemern, in the direction of Tukum.

A heavy artillery bombardment has been begun by the Germans in the regions of Dvinsk, on the Dvina River, near the northern end of the front, and of Brody, in Northern Galicia, near the border.

Light Breakfasts

Thoughtful people these days are urging economy in eating, and many are even advocating "no breakfast."

The "no breakfast" plan may agree with some, but most people feel better and work better on at least a light breakfast.

A great many have found that a liberal dish of Grape-Nuts, served with cream, milk, or fruit juice, furnishes ample morning nourishment, is easily digested, and promotes buoyancy and clearness of mind.

Portland Labor is Loyal

Leader Here Says Workmen Are to Help to Win War.

CALL IS MADE FOR 30 MEN

Colonel May Asks Klamath Falls to Help Fill Third Oregon.

Neither aid nor comfort is given the I. W. W. strikers in Washington or elsewhere by the Central Labor Council of Portland, despite reported action in sympathy with the agitators by the Spokane Central Labor Council.

Charles P. Howard, president of the Portland labor body, declared yesterday that labor here is loyal to the Government and it will do everything possible to help Uncle Sam win the war. In President Howard's opinion, this can best be done by standing by and keeping busy; not by striking and causing disorder and agitation.

It is declared by Mr. Howard that the Portland Central Labor Council would not even consider such a resolution as was adopted at Spokane, which was in support of the I. W. W. stand demanding the release of imprisoned members of that organization.

RUSSIAN SITUATION GRIM

Official News Causes Concern as to What May Happen.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—Official dispatches have been received from Russia within the last 24 hours of such a character as to cause some concern over the situation there, they picture. They will not be made public, much less be discussed at this time by American officials, who regard them as important. The dispatches refer to no physical losses, such as would be suppressed by the censorship at Petrograd, but rather an estimate of political conditions.

An expression of Russian intrigue in Russia is well known and the subject matter of the dispatches probably is connected with that.
