

HE IS CALLED IN RENEWED TONG WAR

Alleged Head Gunman of Hop Sings Is Victim of Seat-tle Shooting.

ONE SHOT HITS JAPANESE

Six Bullets Fired at Armed Chinaman and Assaults Elude Pursuing Police—King-Kong-Leong Members Suspected.

SEATTLE, Wash., Aug. 26.—A Chinese, identified as Bing, alleged head gunman for the Hop Sing tong on the Pacific Coast, was shot through the head and instantly killed in the Chinese quarter of Seattle early tonight by two Chinese alleged to be members of the Bing-Kong-Bow Leong tong.

The murdered man, who was walking along the street with a loaded revolver in his belt, was set upon and killed before he had any chance to defend himself. Two policemen made after his assailants almost immediately, but the latter managed to elude their pursuers.

Six shots were fired at Yee Bing, one of them struck K. Suzuki, a Japanese expressman, in the neck. His wound was not serious, however.

Yee Bing was wanted in Seattle on a charge of murdering Charlie Linn, a rival tongman, June 11. He is believed to have been responsible for numerous other murders along the Coast.

Local police officials are reported that another outbreak of tong warfare along the Coast will result from tonight's shooting. Peace pacts between tong leaders and police officials have resulted in a condition of comparative peace during the past two or three months.

30-DAY ARMISTICE ORDERED

Tong Headquarters at San Francisco Order Truce.

A 30-day armistice to pave the way for permanent peace has been declared by warring Chinese tongs on this Coast, to begin August 30. News of this truce came from San Francisco, where the Tong Kung-Hong Leong tong is working for weeks to arrange a permanent settlement of existing differences between the opposing Chinese societies here.

Detective Tichenor, acting under the direction of the city authorities, has been striving to reach a basis for a permanent reconciliation of the tongs for some time Saturday. It seemed that all efforts would be fruitless, for the Bing-Kong-Bow Leong tong closed their headquarters and refused to confer further negotiations. Orders received yesterday include these tongs, as well as the Hip Sing tong, their ally, and the Hop Sing and Sing Sing tongs, with whom the first named societies are at war.

Since last February local Chinatown has resembled a no-man's-land. There have been frequent outbreaks between the rival tongs and several Chinese were killed in pitched street battles, while several white persons and Chinese spectators were wounded. Frequent attempts to arrange permanent peace have been unavailing heretofore.

BUTTE MINERS ARE IDLE

ALL COPPER MINES OF DISTRICT ARE SHUT DOWN.

Three Thousand Men Quit Work at Washoe Smelting Plant of Anaconda Company—Strike Is Spreading.

BUTTE, Aug. 26.—Butte's streets today were crowded with thousands of miners, idle because of the shutdown of all the copper mines of the district, which necessitates the closing Friday of the Washoe smelting plant of the Anaconda Copper Mining Company at Anaconda, when, of 3000 men employed on the day shift, only 100 are needed for work. It is expected the company's plant in Great Falls will be closed within a day or two, as soon as the ore in transit has been sent through the smelter.

Indications are that the independent mines of the district, which did not shut down Friday, will be compelled to close operations in the near future. These include the zinc-producing properties, among them the Butte & Superior, Elm Grove and others. Miners gradually are falling to report for work at the independent properties.

There is a belief here that the machinists' union will declare a strike soon. The machinists have formulated new demands, which they declare, they will insist upon. Miners gradually are making weeks ago they accepted the agreement reached between the operating companies and the State Metal Trades Council.

MUCK CLAIM IS SCORED

DAN MALARKEY SAYS SITE OF MUNICIPAL DOCK IS SECURE.

Former Owner Points Out That Previous Attempt to Get River Property Was a Failure.

"There is not the least shadow of merit to the claim," said Dan J. Malarkey, attorney, and one of the owners of the elevator site, which recently was sold to the Public Docks Commission, in denouncing the contention of A. A. Muck, County Commissioner, that he has established a homestead along the river in front of the elevator property.

"There is absolutely nothing to it," he continued, in disposing of Mr. Muck's contentions that he has discovered an unappropriated piece of land between the elevator site and the actual meander line of the river.

one would know that I was there merely to make trouble." Mr. Malarkey explained that he and his associates have given the Dock Commission a binding contract to protect and indemnify the city against any difficulties that may develop through the Muck case or any other case. Construction of the grain elevator need not be delayed, he said.

"We were the only two given," he added, "were Mr. Muck or anyone else to start injunction proceedings or any other kind of proceedings on the grounds that the Commission did not have title to the elevator site."

"We have been familiar with Mr. Muck's case for the last five years and know every rect and every step that he has made. The highest authorities of the National Government have ruled against him and we are confident that the city will not be molested in its plans to build a grain elevator."

Mr. Malarkey continued with a vigorous defense of the property obtained by the Commission. It has every advantage necessary, he enumerated: first, it is below the bridge; second, it is accessible to both railroad systems, the O.-W. R. & N. now serving it direct, and the North Bank system being only the short distance away; third, it is on the east side of the river, where most of the grain coming to Portland arrives fourth, Mr. Osborn pointed out that the city will not be molested in its plans to build a grain elevator."

"Neither myself nor my associates own any property in the neighborhood," he concluded, "and we have sold the tract to the city without strings tied to it."

"Any investigation, we are confident, will prove that the Commission obtained the best possible site at an entirely reasonable figure."

4-MINUTE MEN TO TALK

EXPERIENCED SPEAKERS WILL INFORM PUBLIC.

Motion Picture Theaters Throughout Country Will Be Forums for Dissemination of News on War Topics.

Once upon a time, in the days of Concord and Lexington, an organization known as the Minute Men was a powerful aid to the Nation in war. Again the Nation is at war, and again the Minute Men are heard. This time, however, it is the Four-Minute Men, under the direct control of the Four-Minute staff at Washington.

The Four-Minute Men are all experienced public speakers, who will, in the future, deliver four-minute addresses in the motion picture theaters of the various cities of the country on subjects of which the Government wishes its citizens to be informed.

Material for the lectures is to be furnished by Washington. Some of the subjects to be explained in the near future are the National Army, the selective draft law, the Liberty Loan, increased efficiency and production, universal service for war, reasons why the United States is at war and food conservation. A good many Americans who think they know all about these subjects are scheduled for the future are the National Army, the selective draft law, the Liberty Loan, increased efficiency and production, universal service for war, reasons why the United States is at war and food conservation.

Washington appoints state chairmen for the movement. Sherman R. Hall, secretary of the National War Council, has been appointed for the state of Oregon. The state chairmen will in turn appoint community chairmen, and committees will be organized to select speakers and make arrangements for the delivery of the addresses.

The movement is official and strictly regulated, and under the direction of President Wilson, Food Administrator Hoover and other high Government officials.

HOOD RIVER WOMEN KNIT

Order for $600 Worth of Yarn Is Placed by Red Cross Chapter.

HOOD RIVER, Or., Aug. 26.—(Special.)—Secretary C. N. Ravlin, of the Hood River Chapter of the Red Cross, today sent to the San Francisco headquarters of the humanitarian organization an order for $600 worth of woolen yarns, the materials to be used by women of the local chapter in knitting outfits for the comfort of American soldiers the coming Winter.

"While our work of preparing woolen garments and sweaters will be continued," says Mr. Ravlin, "our women who understand knitting have signed up to make 150 sets of the knitted garments, including sweaters, socks, wristlets and helmets."

FISHERS MAKE RICH HAULS

One Man Reported to Have Caught $6000 Worth of Salmon.

ASTORIA, Or., Aug. 26.—(Special.)—While the "high boat" on the Columbia River for the present salmon season cannot be ascertained as yet, it is known that some remarkable catches were made by a few boats. One trawler has turned in approximately $6000 worth of fish. Another man who fishes along the local harbor is said to have made hauls that are valued at from $3000 to $5000.

These are, of course, the exceptions, and there are many fishermen who drift further upstream who have done comparatively little.

LEADER'S FREEDOM AIM

Writ of Habeas Corpus to Be Asked From Federal Court for Release of Secretary Roman and Members Held by Military.

SPOKANE, Wash., Aug. 26.—(Special.)—One hundred I. W. W., mobilizing from the sidewalks, tonight rescued one of their number from J. W. Osborn, superintendent of the industrial department of the Volunteers of America, who was attempting to take him to the police station.

The Volunteers of America and similar organizations are again permitted to hold street meetings. The I. W. W. have not permission. On this was alleged to hang the trouble. The I. W. W. were raising, about 7 o'clock, one of their number, who was taken into the tire of an automobile belonging to Mr. Osborn.

The shrill whistle of the outrushing air discovered the man, knife in hand. He started on a run for the corner of Main avenue, half a block away. Stopping short in the hazy Mr. Osborn pursued and captured the fugitive.

Captive Is Rescued.

"Come with me," ordered the Volunteers of America official, taking a firm hold of his captive's sleeve and starting toward the police station. Across Stevens street captor and captive made their way. Swiftly through the crowd the word ran. From doorways and sidewalks the men gathered. Half a block more and they had surrounded Osborn and Osborn's prisoner. Hands were Osborn from his prisoner. A few blows were struck, but they were light. Swiftly the crowd dispersed again. At the police station Osborn found a sergeant who dispatched officers to accompany him to the warden's office. The search was, however, futile.

Roman's Release Aim.

A petition for a writ of habeas corpus for James Roman, district secretary of the I. W. W., and 10 other members of the organization is expected to be filed in Federal Court here tomorrow by attorneys representing the men, who are being held as military prisoners.

Of the 27 men arrested last Sunday by Idaho National Guardsmen under command of Major Clement Wilkins, four more were released yesterday and two alleged enemy aliens and an alleged draft evader have been turned over to Department of Justice officials.

An effort to obtain a writ of habeas corpus in behalf of the prisoners in the state courts failed last week, and their attorneys have announced their intention of renewing the effort in the Federal Court.

Labor Leader Expected.

Sheriff George R. Reid is holding in the county jail a man he suspects of having sent threatening letters to "I. W. W." to a family residing in the county near here.

As a result of the adoption of a resolution last Monday night by the Central Labor Council, demanding the release of the men arrested in the I. W. W. raid, the Building Laborers and Hodcarriers' Union have voted to withdraw its delegates from the council, it became known today.

Ernest Parrish, Executive Director of the State Federation of Labor and a member of the State Council of Defense, is expected in Spokane tomorrow to discuss the situation with the representatives to investigate the arrest of the I. W. W.

JUDGE DIES AT WHEEL

JOHN F. STEWART, OF TOLEDO, DRIVING AUTO IN MOUNTAINS.

Wife and Three Children Are in Car When Death Takes Husband and Father Without Warning.

EUGENE, Or., Aug. 26.—(Special.)—Details of the death of John Franklin Stewart, prominent attorney of Toledo, Lincoln County, were received here last night, the body having been brought 75 miles from the scene. Stewart was attempting to drive his motor car up a sharp grade in the McKenzie Pass when he was suddenly stricken. Mrs. Stewart and three children, in ages from 5 to 8 years, were in the car. The accident occurred about 10 A. M.

H. P. Hoey, construction engineer of the Southern Pacific, motoring through the mountains, was first to reach the grief-stricken family standing beside the lifeless body. Mr. Hoey brought them to McKenzie bridge where arrangements were made to take them to Eugene.

Mr. Stewart was on vacation and was taking his family to Eastern Oregon and Idaho.

John F. Stewart was a native of Indiana, 52 years of age and had been a resident of Lincoln County since its formation. He served as County Judge for several years and was in the latter office until January 1, 1917.

He is survived by his wife, four sons and a daughter. One son is now with the aviation forces. The second son is 14 years of age.

schools of the state, and the method used by the women in crowding men out of this salary. In the educational world has been to accept smaller salaries than men would work for.

These are the facts which have been disclosed in a study of 200 Iowa high schools by two graduate students at the State University, under the direction of Professor E. E. Lewis, of the department of education.

In 1903, when men principals were three times as numerous as women principals, the average salary for the women was $722 or 82.1 higher than the men principals' salaries. Ten years later, when there were three times as many women principals as men, the medium salary for women had dropped to $59, while the men's salaries had leaped to $1091, an increase of $457.

A study of 183 high schools in the past five years has revealed that men out of this number pay less now than they did in 1912; 18 towns pay the same salary paid five years ago; 42 increased salary in the five-year period; 22 towns increased from $100 to $199 in the five-year span. The average increase in salary in this time has been $135, or 13.3 per cent.

REPORT FOR PRESIDENT

JUDGE COVINGTON COMPLETES LABOR INVESTIGATION.

Summary of Conditions Found in Oregon and Washington Is Given Without Comment.

Chief Justice J. Harry Covington, of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, sent to the Northwest by President Wilson to make a personal investigation of labor conditions in the lumber camps and mills, left Portland last night for home.

Judge Covington will report direct, and it will depend upon the President himself whether the report becomes public property.

While in Portland Judge Covington conferred with various timber operators, lumber manufacturers and representatives of the workmen. He was not sent here, he explained, to attempt a reconciliation of any differences, but rather to find, if he could, the fundamental underlying causes.

Although he would make no comment on his observations, Judge Covington found conditions in Oregon and Washington substantially as follows: The white pine belt of Northern Idaho and Eastern Oregon is operating about 60 per cent of its capacity production. The I. W. W. have secured domination in several small mills.

Single unions in the Puget Sound country are demoralized on account of the strike for the eight-hour day. This strike is distinguished from the I. W. W. strike as it is conducted by the International Shingle Weavers' Union, opposed to the I. W. W. and their methods.

The fir mills of Western Washington are in bad shape. Many are prepared to close and remain closed until relief of some sort is provided.

The fir mills of Western Oregon are running on practically a normal basis. Mill workers of Portland and immediate vicinity are organizing under the auspices of the American Federation of Labor, and may sooner or later present demands for higher wages and shorter hours.

Passengers Arriving From Denmark Paint Picture of Starving Inhabitants Who Cannot Face Next Winter's Hardship.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—(Special.)—Passengers arriving today at an Atlantic port from Denmark said that economic conditions in Germany at the present time were so strained that they did not believe the war would last through the coming Winter. The soldiers in the battle fields, they said, were feeling the lack of proper food and numbers of them, when they were home on leave, had told their families that the armies could not stand another Winter's hardships in the trenches.

William Bartholomew, manager for 20 years of the Holland Oil Company in Hamburg, returned today in poor health through lack of nourishing food. He has lost 50 pounds in weight since the commencement of the war. When asked about food conditions in Germany, Mr. Bartholomew said:

"It is impossible to get a square meal anywhere, so you can imagine that living in Germany is pretty tough. For the last six weeks before I left Germany I was kept at my house in what the German officials call seclusion, and not allowed to go anywhere or see anybody, which I assume, was done to prevent my carrying any news away with me. I was glad to get away and am going to my native city, Philadelphia, where I hope to remain for the rest of my days."

He told his friends that all the food in Germany was sent to the soldiers on the battle fronts and the suffering among the civilians was very severe.

Miss Petronella Johnson, another passenger who had been spending three months in Northern Europe, said that the American embargo would cause intense distress among the people of the Scandinavian countries. She said coffee costs 60 cents in American currency for a cup at a restaurant and a square meal costs the equivalent of $2.50 in United States currency.

Crops Are Said to Be Poor.

Another passenger on the ship was Axel Bahson, who said that two years ago the living conditions in Germany became so poor and difficult that he sent his family to Denmark and joined them there a month ago. When he left Germany everything was much worse and the prospect for the people in regard to the food supply and the winter was serious. This year's crops are below the average, he said, and would not be sufficient to supply the demands of the nation.

Continued record-breaking crowds are attending the Oaks and yesterday's visitors almost doubled the corresponding day of last year. When the season draws the curtains on the Oaks this year, it will be after the best in four years, all of which may or may not be due to the fact that Willis G. West and his musical extravaganza put on a new bill, which scored more clean humorous knockouts and catchy songs than any show which they have staged this season.

It's a travesty on the marital affairs of one Abbie Kabbie and Mr. Sweeney, both of whom would have gotten through the afternoon all right had it not been that their one great weak spot was a liking for too many wives.

All of that created situations that just tangled and tangled and when the end finally did straighten matters out, good many brand-new jokes and some clever character songs had been passed out to the crowd.

"By Heck," a character song by West, Harrington and the girls, had the big evening crowd "going" and they called it back many times. Miss Thurber, Dorothy Raymond and Hazel Boyd, each had songs which went well with the crowd that has come to know each of this company well and it is not far-fetched to say that it will miss them when the season ends.

They make splendid jam and are much sought for table use. It is understood that another Salem packing company will be in the field for these berries.

PEACE NOT TO BE URGED

CATHOLIC FEDERATION TO INDORSE POPE'S NOTE, HOWEVER.

Any Effort to Embarrass United States Government Will Be Opposed by Delegates.

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 26.—Peace and Pope Benedict's proposal to the belligerents that a truce be sought to end hostilities are expected to occupy an important place in deliberations of the 16th annual convention of the American Federation of Catholic Societies which opens today to continue until Wednesday.

Federation officials today practically admitted that the Pope's proposal would be endorsed, but said they expected it would be entirely along broad lines.

The idea that the convention might urge the American Government to accept the proposal, declaring any attempt to force action which would tend to embarrass the Government in the war against Germany would be frowned upon by the delegates. The convention opened today with a pontifical high mass at which Mons. Giovanni Bonzano, an apostolic delegate to the United States, officiated.

The sermon was delivered by Archbishop Edward J. Hanna, of San Francisco.

Tonight the visitors attended a mass meeting at which Archbishop John J. Glennon, of St. Louis, presided. Addresses were made by Archbishop Bonzano, cashier of the First National Bank of Toledo, Ohio, and Martin J. Wade, Federal Judge, of Iowa City, Iowa. John Whalen, of New York, Federation president, also spoke.
