

EATON'S DISMISSAL DEMANDED IN LANE

Attendance of Legislator and University Professor at Pacific Meeting Resented.

EUGENE CHAMBER MOVES

Stirring Resolutions Call on Governor and College Head to Demand Resignation in Behalf of County's Fair Name.

EUGENE, Or., Sept. 13.—(Special).—A resolution demanding the removal of Allen H. Eaton as a Representative in the State Legislature from Lane County and his resignation as a member of the faculty of the University of Oregon because of his participation in the meeting of the People's Council of America for Democracy and Peace at Chicago was unanimously adopted at a meeting of the Eugene Chamber of Commerce tonight.

The resolution, which was introduced by J. E. Shelton, editor of the Eugene Daily Guard, referring to Eaton's connection with the university, declared a state institution is the last place where there should be a suspicion of disloyalty and asserts that Eaton's continuance in office as a member of the State Legislature is a menace to the state and nation.

Need of Unity Assured. The text of the resolution follows: We, the members of the Eugene Chamber of Commerce, in a time when our Government is bending every energy in war, recognize the necessity for loyalty to the state and unity of purpose, believe the Nation is conducted by a Government in which it is the duty of every loyal American to do his utmost in protecting the Nation from disloyal agencies, no matter whether the forces are pro-Germans who strike directly at our country or so-called pacifists who, regardless of their motives, would weaken America in carrying on this war by causing an impression in other countries that as a people we do not stand united.

Whereas, Allen H. Eaton, Representative from Lane County in the State Legislature and a member of the faculty of the University of Oregon, participated in a meeting of the People's Council of America for Democracy and Peace held in violation of an order given by a Governor of a state of the United States and at which speakers attacked the President of the United States, and Whereas, it has been publicly charged that this meeting was planned by a combination of German agents and bad as its object the creation of the impression in Russia that the American Government was opposed to the war, with a view of causing further discussion in that country, and Danger is Noted. It is obvious that any such meeting at this time could serve only the purposes of the German government and at the same time endanger the interests of the American government, and Whereas, Mr. Eaton, in writing an account of the meeting of the People's Council of America for Democracy and Peace, was present as a Representative from Lane County in the Oregon Legislature, therefore, he is resolved, That we denounce such an effort to bring the loyalty of the Nation of the people of Lane County into question, and be it further

Resolved, That we petition the Governor of the state of Oregon to remove Allen H. Eaton as a Representative from Lane County in the State Legislature because of his participation in a meeting against the best interests of the Nation, and because his presence as a member of the State Legislature is a menace under such circumstances, and be it further

Resolved, That as the last place in which there had been any suspicion of disloyalty in our state institution, E. L. Campbell, president of the University of Oregon, be asked to call for Mr. Eaton's resignation as a member of the faculty of the University, as we believe his association with that institution no longer serves the best interests of the state and Nation.

Dorothy Phillips in "Hell Morgan's Girl" at Sunset Theater

TODAY'S FILM FEATURES. Majestic—"The Honor System." Sunset—Dorothy Phillips, "Hell Morgan's Girl." Liberty—Bessie Barriscale, "Wooden Shoes." Peoples—Mary Pickford, "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm." Star—"The Argonauts." Columbia—Wallace Reid and Anita King, "The Squaw Man's Son." Circle—"Pete's Pants."

Columbia. "THE SQUAW MAN'S SON" the sequel to "The Squaw Man," that successful play of stage and screen, has much of the atmosphere of its play-parent. Instead of Dustin Farnum, the offering presents that handsome young man, Wallace Reid, in the title role, who has an excellent supporting cast in Dorothyavenport, Anita King, Ernest Joy, Mabel Van Puren and Raymond Hatton.

Following the story of "The Squaw Man," the Columbia Theater week-end feature depicts a series of colorful incidents involving the son of the Squaw Man, now grown up. The story opens in England, where the hero is wedded to an Englishwoman, and then shifts to Arizona, where the thrills of effective melodrama are pictured. A rough and tumble fight between a man and woman, and the sacrifice of a dying parson, who swallows a draught of brandy that he may have strength to shoot a large Indian lover who assails Wab-Na-Gi, the redskin heroine, are among the chief dramatic incidents of the picture.

There are many threads to the narrative. The English end, where the squawman's son is Lord Effington, then the Arizona angle of love and hate, complicated by "trust" conspiracy over asphalt fields, and Indian squabbles over land, make "The Squaw Man's Son" a decidedly colorful picture. However, the half-breed English aristocrat wins his Indian sweetheart in the end, for his English wife accompanied him through an overdose of morphine.

A comedy and current events also are screened.

Liberty.

A decidedly pleasing little comedy drama is "Wooden Shoes," a picture in which Bessie Barriscale makes what by the time she appears for Triangle. The five-reeler opens a two-day engagement at the Liberty Theater today. His Footlight Polly, a hilarious one-reel comedy, and glimpse of Anette Kellermann in aquatic stunts are other numbers of entertainment.

"Wooden Shoes" is the picture for which Dutch village with Dutch people in Los Angeles. The picture has been lavishly and prettily staged and Miss Barriscale, who makes a charming Holland lass, is supported by an Ince Company including Howard Hickman, J. Frank Burke, Gertrude Claire, J. J. Dowling and Margaret Thompson.

Miss Barriscale is "Pammy," an orphan and slavey in a Dutch inn. A kindly priest gives her money to buy a ticket for America, where her grandfather lives. Accompanied by her sole friend, Hans Dunkelberger, Pammy departs. She finds it hard to find her grandfather, upon her arrival in New York, for he bears the name of Smith. Finally, however, through a picture of her done by an American artist whom she met in Holland, she is taken home just in time to put an end to the scheming of her villainous step-daughter, who is posing as Pammy.

The production reminds one a great deal of that successful Mary Pickford feature, "Hilda From Holland."

Town Adopts Mary.

The little California town in which the exterior scenes of "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm" were filmed will never forget the arrival of Mary Pickford. America's greatest photodramatic actress, Mary Pickford and her company of over 100 made the journey from Los Angeles by special train, and when they pulled into the little village the whole town was there to meet them. The town council waited upon Miss Pickford and Marshall Nelson, her director, saying: "Miss Pickford, this town is yours as long as you want to use it." Every inhabitant took part in the production, Miss Pickford's word was law, and for nearly two weeks she had the opportunity of being queen of her real kingdom.

Screen Gossip.

There's a new man playing the part of a certain German soldier in "Arma and the Girl," Paramount's third Billie Burke production, now being filmed. Tommy Meighan, six-foot-something, leading man for Miss Burke, was called on to strangle the supposed German in one scene, and forthwith got so much into the spirit of the war that he laid up his German antagonist for a couple of weeks.

"Fatty" Arbuckle receives on an average about 300 gifts a week through the mails. The trinkets range from American flags to sterling silver picture frames, carrying his admirer's photograph.

Fairbanks is coralling all the Western champions for his new comedy drama of the West, of which he is the author.

Alice Joyce was an artist's model before she became a motion picture girl. She secured her start by playing thrill parts in railroad stories.
