WOMAN ATTACKED IN HALL OF HOME

Mystery Surrounds Case of Mrs. C. H. Fuller, in Critical Condition at Hospital.

SON SAYS "DADDY DID IT"

First Husband, Divorced Five Years Ago, Suspected by Former Wife of Being Her Assailant and Kidnaping Her Son.

A divorced husband; a missing son, whose strange disappearance smacks of a kidnaping plot; an attack in a darkened hallway by a tall, broad-shouldered man with a slouch hat and a light-colored raincoat with coat collar turned up; a woman lying in a critical condition at the Good Samaritan Hospital on the verge of a breakdown as the result of the nervous tension she has undergone, all these figures in a complicated mystery of domestic unhappiness, with Mrs. C. H. Fuller, 303 Cherry street, wife of a hotel employe, as the central figure.

A report was received late Saturday night at police headquarters that Mrs. Fuller had been attacked by an unknown man in the hallway of her home.

Attack is Mysterious. Mrs. Fuller was answering a knock at the door of her little wine-colored cottage when a tall man with a slouch hat pulled down over his face, grabbed her roughly by the throat and held his hands over her eyes.

Her 10-year-old son, Charles, rushed to her assistance and hurried from the house to notify the neighbors next door that his mother was being attacked.

As friends came to their assistance the man stooped low and rushed down the poorly lighted street.

Although Mrs. Fuller was unable to get a good look at her assailant, she asserted that he was of the same build and resembled the man who had kidnaped her son, Charles Summers. Her small son likewise declared that the man was his father.

Son Identifies Assailant. "I know it was my first daddy," said the boy, Charles, last night. "He had big broad shoulders and acted just like my first daddy."

Although not greatly injured by her rough treatment, Mrs. Fuller was suffering from fright. Her condition became so serious last night that she was sent to the Good Samaritan Hospital, where it was said she would be compelled to remain at least two weeks.

Back of the attack on Mrs. Fuller Saturday night is the strange disappearance of her older son, Carl, away 14, August 30, last. The youth, who had never been away from home over night and whose home life is so quiet, had been seen at a party one night after playing with children about the neighborhood.

Boy's Disappearance Complete. At the time the theory was advanced that the boy had been kidnaped away with a circus which was in Portland about that time, but the mother is positive in her belief that he would never attempt such a thing. She believes that the first that her divorced husband is in some way responsible for the boy's disappearance.

Descriptions and photographs of the boy have been sent to the Coast from Seattle to Los Angeles and the police in all of the cities have been asked to find out what has happened to the lad has been found.

Coupled with the disappearance of the boy is the assertion of his younger brother and Mrs. Fuller that the boy had been seen about the streets of Portland that day. The younger brother, Charles, said he saw his older brother disappear.

Divorced Husband Not Located. Since then it is asserted that efforts have been made to find the woman's father, but he has never been located. Despite the apparent dropping from sight of her son and former husband, Mrs. Fuller is confident that the man who attacked her Saturday night is her divorced husband, and she believes that he has been located where he is now.

Mrs. Fuller was divorced from her first husband more than six years ago, and was married to C. F. Fuller in 1912.

Her younger son, Charles, who is now living with a neighbor, has been reported to poison the family by some person putting poison in a package of tea.

Look around I find a body of people more than 250,000 strong; a body of people coming from every nation on the face of the globe; a body of people speaking all languages known in the world, and looking down through the vista of nearly 20 centuries, I find the history of millions and untold millions who, while living, had belonged to this great body, and I ask: "Who are you?" and the reply comes to me, "We are the church of the living God; we are the Catholic church. We believe in one Lord, one faith, one truth, we are all united; we accept the teachings of God through his Son Jesus Christ, just exactly as they were taught by him to his apostles 1900 years ago."
