CARE OF GIRLS AIM

Probation Officer Asks for Assistance of Social Workers.

GUARD BY WOMEN URGED

Parents Blamed for Much of Misdoing Through Failure to Keep Proper Watch Over Daughters. Theater People Co-operate.

The services of several volunteer women social workers will be sought by Will F. Spencer, chief probation officer of the Juvenile Court, in the programme he has planned for suppressing immorality among young girls in this city. He purposes having these women patrol the downtown streets and visit the different amusement houses, particularly in the evening, with a view to keeping such girls off the streets and out of temptation's way.

At the same time, Mr. Spencer will undertake to impress upon parents their full share of responsibility for the conditions complained of.

"I am convinced that much of the blame for the waywardness of young girls in this city in many of the cases that have been reported belongs to the parents themselves," said Mr. Spencer yesterday. "If parents will exercise closer supervision over their youthful daughters and know where and with whom they are spending their evenings when absent from home, much of the opportunity for wrong-doing will be lacking."

L. Goldstone, resident representative of the Los Angeles concern, which owns the candy concession in the theaters of this city, yesterday submitted to Mr. Spencer his books showing that these youthful salesmen earn from $7 to $10 a week in the short time they are employed daily. He assured the Juvenile Court officials that his company sought in the employment of these candy vendors to engage only good boys who lived at home. He further said that when selling their wares in the theaters, the boys were prohibited strictly from conversing with girls or women on penalty of being discharged.

In the meantime, Bert Travis and Fred Sherlil, two of the young men involved in charges preferred by a 15-year-old girl, are awaiting examination by the grand jury. Mose Schulman, aged 16 years, the other accused lad, is still in the custody of the Juvenile Court.

YOUTH TAKES AUTOMOBILE

Paroled Boy's Good Conduct Short After He Gets $14.

OREGON CITY, Or., Sept. 24.—(Special.)—Thomas Moore, 19-year-old son of John Moore, of Mount Pleasant, is over fond of other people's motor cars and the authorities are looking for him, armed with a warrant for his arrest on a charge of the theft of the car of Gordon McKillican, which was taken early Sunday morning from West Linn. McKillican lives at Mount Pleasant and used the car to drive to and from his work at the paper mills.

Young Moore was paroled from the State Training School three months ago and went to work at Hartke's dairy. After he had earned $14 he drew the money and stole his father's car and was not seen again until Saturday night, though the car was found. Late Saturday night he appeared at his parent's home and demanded the car, but was stopped by his mother.

The boy next broke into the garage of Arthur Smith and stole Smith's car, but the gasoline supply was against him and the car was found a short distance from the garage. Moore then went over to West Linn and took McKillican's machine.

Judge Rossman Holds Monday Morning Reception for Several Who Try to "Beat the Game."

ANDY STRECHT, a subject of Kaiser Bill, reached a point where he was "d—d if he did and d—d if he didn't," he told Municipal Judge Rossman yesterday. Andy was arrested for having lottery tickets in his possession, but a search of his clothing revealed a red membership card in the I. W. W. and other I. W. W. literature.

"I'm not in sympathy with the organization," he told the court, "but it's got to where I have to have a card out in the camps in order to work. Every time I go on a job they ask me if I have my red card and if I can't show one they won't let me eat at the table and try to make me quit work."

Strecht has been in this country 10 years, but has never tried to become a citizen. After promising to break away from the I. W. W. he was allowed to go his way with the admonition that he leave town at once.

Another husky German, one Gus Geissler by name, was not so fortunate. He followed a Mrs. A. Bowman to her home, 268 Fourth street, but was met at the head of the stairs by Nick Brown, the woman's son-in-law, who chased him down the street and gave him a bad beating, despite the fact that he weighed probably 50 pounds more than the fiery Brown.

Geissler was fined $50 and sentenced to one day in jail for fighting, while another "masher" complaint was filed against him later. Brown was released.

Inviting another fellow's sweetheart for a buggy ride is a rather risky proposition, in the opinion of George Lamb, of Waconda. While they were enjoying a quiet ride Sunday afternoon the young woman's sweetheart hove into view and gave Lamb a sound beating. The latter appeared yesterday much the worse for wear and said he would file a complaint against the "other fellow," whose name was not given out.

"Too muchee breakee down doors; we scared to beat hellee," muttered Ah Sam in Municipal Court yesterday in entering a plea of guilty to a charge of gambling. He was one of 13 Orientals taken in two raids Sunday afternoon in which barricaded doors were broken down before the games could be interrupted. He and the other Orientals were fined $10 each.

Robert Watkins didn't think there were any "cops" around, so he opened 'er up out on Union avenue Sunday to 40 miles an hour when Motorcycle Officer Frank Ervin grabbed him. Watkins was up for the same offense and the same speed a week ago, so Judge Rossman yesterday decreed that he should stay off his motorcycle for 60 days, pay a fine of $15 and stay in jail 10 hours.

Other speeders caught by Ervin paid fines as follows: Asher Wunkler, $5; Victor Johnson, $2; Robert Murray, $5.

Arthur Liefer, a 20-year-old youth of St. Johns, was on his way to a dance-hall to take his "best girl" home when some friend stopped him and offered him some liquid refreshments.

It wasn't long before the boy forgot all about his sweetheart, the dance or anything else. A patrolman found him lying on the sidewalk in a stupor. After a sound lecture by Judge Rossman on the evils of drinking, the boy was given his liberty upon his promise to stay high and dry on the wagon in the future.

It's pretty tough to get fined $10 for "boozing" when the "cop" breaks in on you just as you raise the bottle to your lips, thought Harry Logan and John Scoggan in Municipal Court yesterday after they had been fined by the court. They were in the room of a "stranger" at the Butte Hotel and were just starting to partake of the liquid refreshments when Patrolman O'Halloran broke up the party.

There's no such thing as breaking away winner in a Sunday afternoon poker game if a "harness bull" is going to "sit in" as an uninvited guest.

A nice sociable game was in progress in the room of Mart Vandermulen when a patrolman came upon them. In Municipal Court yesterday Vandermulen paid a fine of $35, while $25 fines were assessed against Albert Gustason, Walter Kelly, Jim Paris, Ed Brown and Louis Gilliford.

OREGON TRAIL-BLAZER WHO HAS PASSED AWAY.

James Henry Hutchinson.

In the death, September 14 last, of James Henry Hutchinson, the West lost one of its picturesque trail-blazers and pioneers, who crossed the plains more than a half century ago. Mr. Hutchinson was born in Illinois in 1843, and crossed the plains with his parents in 1852, going first to Cowlitz County, Washington, where his parents took up a donation claim. He came to Oregon in the Fall of 1863, where he settled in the Grande Ronde Valley, and engaged extensively in farming and stockraising.

Besides his widow, whom he married in 1871, the following children survive him: Mrs. Peter E. Laughlin and Mrs. Leroy Lomax, of Portland; Charles E. Hutchinson, of North Powder, Or.; William H. Hutchinson, James F. Hutchinson and Mrs. William Dobbin, of Union, Or.; Mrs. Iva H. Ambrasius and Miss Laurene C. Hutchinson, of New York. He is also survived by three brothers—William R., of Union, Or.; Frank A., of North Powder, Or., and Gustavis A., of Chesaw, Wash.

OLD TIMES RECALLED

BOOK PRESENTS INTERESTING PHASES OF "KEY" LIFE.

Jeff W. Hayes, Veteran Operator and Pioneer Western Union Manager Here, Author of "Pleiades Club."

Can you imagine a telegraph operator's paradise on the planet Mars with all the men who have hammered the keys from one end of the wires to the farthest outposts at the end of some "jerkwater" narrow guage, back on the job enjoying themselves as some of them never had an opportunity on earth?

The possibility is the subject of a book which Jeff W. Hayes, pioneer operator and office manager of the Western Union, has just written.

Its title is the "Pleiades Club," and it is filled with sketches and names of the living and dead who have figured in the great business of the telegraph or who made history before the telegraph was known.

How the old timers on Mars try to hook up with the operators on earth to give them their ideas on how to win the war is part of the tale. How the wizard of Menlo Park, who has been transmitted to Mars, discovers the way to exterminate the "sea wolves" of today by means—but that's part of the interesting story.

According to this book, they have track meets and celebrations and even the terrors of the public and after-dinner speakers have to be braved by the old timers who have gone to Mars.

It is an interesting book and those who work the wires today and know the men who have long been in the game will be particularly interested in the story that Hayes tells.

TAVERN HOSTS HELD

Abatement Proceedings Proposed by Prosecutor.

PROMINENT MEN INVOLVED

Russel Smith and Robert McCraken Accused of Drunkenness in Connection With Raid—Women in Question Are Sought.

Determined to stop the illegal sale of liquor in road houses, District Attorney Evans today instituted abatement proceedings against the owners of Claremont Tavern, which was raided jointly by a force of deputies from the Sheriff's office and the Police Department, at an early hour Sunday morning, when a quantity of liquor was seized and a score of persons were arrested. This action was decided upon by Mr. Evans, who says he has evidence in his possession that liquor has been unlawfully sold at this resort almost continuously since the prohibition law went into effect in this state.

The District Attorney's office yesterday issued complaints for the arrest of Julius B. Wilbur, proprietor of Claremont Tavern; A. K. Nishioka and H. Ono, Japanese servants; Jake Jones and F. Johnson, waiters, all of whom were taken into custody in the Sunday morning raid. Wilbur is charged with maintaining a nuisance and the four employes with assisting to maintain a nuisance.

Prominent Men Involved.

Other complaints were issued, charging Russel Smith and Robert McCraken, prominent young men about the city, with drunkenness under the prohibition law. Both were arrested in the raid. A. T. Brown, 519 Brooklyn street, and D. V. Wallace, who gave the Portland Hotel as his residence, are charged with having liquor in their possession. They were included among the visitors at the Tavern when the officers arrived.

Efforts are being made by the District Attorney's office to apprehend the three young women who are known by the state's prosecutor to have accompanied Russel Smith, Robert McCraken and Mr. Smith's brother, M. A. Smith, to the resort and who were arrested in the raid. The women gave fictitious names and addresses, but Mr. Evans said yesterday that he expected today to be able satisfactorily to locate the trio.

Women Wanted as Witnesses.

With few exceptions, all of the women arrested in connection with the officers' visit gave assumed names and street addresses. All were released on furnishing $25 cash bail. They are desired by the state as witnesses and must either appear when the preliminary examination is held or forfeit their cash deposits.

Complaints against four of the party arrested the same night in a raid by the officers on Holly Lodge, charging each with maintaining or assisting to maintain a nuisance under the prohibition law, were also issued yesterday. Those charged with this offense in connection with Holly Lodge are: Mrs. C. Dudley, proprietress; Ed Holt, who claims to reside at the Clyde Hotel and who posed as manager of the resort in the absence of Mr. Dudley; Patrick Mellen and Harry Rodau, servants.

The evidence obtained by the officers against Holly Lodge is admitted not to be as positive as that found against Wilbur and Claremont Tavern, but the District Attorney says his office is in possession of other evidence that will serve to prove the character of the place.

BOOK DRIVE IS PLANNED

EAST SIDE DISTRICT DIVIDED IN 41 PRECINCTS.

Residents Meet in Branch Library and Complete Arrangements for Raising Funds Required.

Plans for launching the big war library drive formulated by the war library council were completed at a meeting of residents of the East Side Library district last night. The Central East Side district, running from Hawthorne avenue to Glisan street, was divided into 41 precincts. A chairman was put in charge of each precinct to be assisted by from two to four other women, according to the number of residences in each district. The chairmen were appointed and the districts divided by Miss L. E. H. Bailey, who has done much towards furthering the success of the war library movement on the East Side.

The library council of this district was recently formed by business and professional men of the vicinity. A large number of the residents responded to the call sent out by M. B. McFaul, who is chairman of that district, to be present at the meeting.

Mary Frances Isom, of the Central Library, and Rev. Arthur F. Bishop told of the many reasons that soldiers need books.

An interesting talk on "Over There" was given by Sergeant Ferguson, of the Fourth Ontario Battalion, who recently arrived from the front.

It is urged by chairmen of the district that residents and business men be ready to subscribe whatever sum they can.

AUTO BODY WHISKY CACHE

Fate Reveals Clever Bootlegging Scheme at Pendleton.

PENDLETON, Or., Sept. 24.—(Special.)—A broken brake rod, which compelled L. M. Davidson, said to be from Portland, to put his car in a garage, revealed one of the cleverest bootlegging schemes ever worked here. The body of the car was discovered to be a tank capable of holding several gallons of whisky, a little of which remained when the officers took it this morning.

The car body was double, the openings being under the pads on arms of the seats and under the plate in the rear holding the rear lamp bracket. The smell of whisky, together with the indication that the screws on the arm plates had been frequently used, gave the thing away.

Davidson is under arrest here.

Mrs. E. Langley, who runs a boarding-house at Fourth and Main streets, is the owner of the car seized at Pendleton. Two weeks ago she lent it to Leroy Davidson, aged 22, who with another youth planned to drive from Portland to Pendleton. She knew nothing of any plan to evade the law, she says, and has not since heard from Davidson.

SUCCESS IS ASSURED

Patriotic Week Idea Appeals to All.

COMMITTEE MEETS TODAY

Plan Is to Raise $25,000 for the Benefit of Oregon Soldiers by Entertainments at Auditorium.

Final plans for a big Patriotic week in Oregon in the near future to raise money for the benefit of Oregon soldiers and sailors now in the service will be shaped at a meeting this afternoon at 4 o'clock in room 600, Courthouse, of the committee in charge. The meeting has been called by Mayor Baker.

The Mayor, who has been placed in charge of arrangements, says plans are being worked out whereby Portland will raise about $25,000 at a series of entertainments at the Public Auditorium during the week. Co-operation of all the school children in the city has been assured by the School Board through Dr. Sommers, who headed the committee of 100 which started the Patriotic week movement.

Government to Co-operate.

The United States Government will co-operate to the extent of furnishing motion picture films of a patriotic nature. Senator Chamberlain, at the request of Mayor Baker, has provided this end of the affair. In a telegram received by Mayor Baker yesterday, Senator Chamberlain says: "Bureau of Commercial Economies, to which I submitted your request, will ship you not later than Tuesday next, 6000 feet of suitable films."

Also, through Senator Chamberlain, permission has been given to take motion pictures of the activities at American Lake for exhibit during the week. In a telegram received by the Mayor yesterday Senator Chamberlain says: "Have just received from War Department a photographer's permit to take general scenes about Camp Lewis in motion and still form. Telegraphic instructions sent commanding officer at American Lake to permit you or your representative to take pictures before arrival of permit which I am mailing."

It is planned to have a series of entertainments at the Auditorium during the entire week and to have school children sell tickets. Pictures from American Lake will be one of the features of the entertainment. The patriotic week and its purposes have been exceedingly well taken by people all over the state. They have offered to assist in every possible way.

PORTLAND TRADE LOW

SEATTLE AND TACOMA AHEAD IN SHIPPING INDUSTRY.

I. D. Boyer, Inspector of Customs at Tacoma, and Judge Burke Speak at Chamber Luncheon.

I. D. Boyer, inspector of customs at Tacoma, spoke at the members' council luncheon of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday concerning Portland's opportunity to win and hold a fair share of the trans-Pacific trade.

Not only is the city failing in this respect at present, said Mr. Boyer, but the greater amount of imports intended for the local market are actually cleared at Seattle and Tacoma. He touched upon the remedy for this condition and Portland's opportunity to become a port in more than name.

The trans-Pacific freight, Mr. Boyer explained, is largely handled by two Japanese steamship lines through contracts with the Great Northern, the Northern Pacific and the Union Pacific railroads. The fact that these contracts expire the present year affords Portland an opportunity to insist that railroads entering this city make such new contracts with the Japanese steamship companies as will insure the delivery of imports at the Port of Portland.

Judge T. C. Burke, who introduced the speaker, declared that of all imports intended for this city, less than 10 per cent are cleared here.

Orchestra Chooses M. Christensen.

The Portland Symphony Orchestra membership by vote has chosen M. Christensen to fill the position of associate conductor left vacant by the departure of Waldemar Lind for San Francisco.

CITY MAY BUY RAILWAYS

San Francisco Supervisors to Discuss Municipal Ownership.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 24.—A resolution providing for the purchase by the city of the franchises and properties of the United Railroads, as the only method of settling the strike of 1750 company platform employes, will be framed at a special meeting of the board of supervisors tomorrow.

The plan for the purchase was suggested by Gavin McNab, San Francisco attorney, who yesterday affected a settlement of the strike of 30,000 metal trades unionists.

President Jesse W. Lilienthal, of the company, expressed his desire to co-operate with city authorities in effecting the purchase.

Ship Bill Excludes Alaska.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—The Administration bill to permit foreign ships to engage in American coastwise trade, as a war measure, was favorably reported today by the House merchant marine committee, with restrictions to protect the home industry and exclude Alaska from its provisions.
