SEATTLE. Wash. Sept. 25.—(Special.)— The Norwegian steamer Sinalou, recently ashore off the Oregon Coast, arrived here today and proceed to Tacoma to lead for the west coast of South America. She is under charter to the C. Henry Smith Company, of San Francisco. The heavy arrivals of Alaska salmon which have been brought here in steemaships and salling vessels for the past 10 days sic congested the Seattle docks and ware-

Ities here could not be brooked. This is the first time a ship has been diverted to Taccoma because of lack of a discharge space in the history of this port. Waterhouse has two liners in port discharging, hence the congestion, the others being the Arabier and the Luise Nicisen.

In addition to the regular Alaska steamers there are II cannery tenders in port discharging sulmon.

ORIENTAL SERVICE EXTENDED

Pacific Steamship Company to Have Regular Sailings.

The Pacific Steamship Company has determined to send the steamer Umastok, says A. W. Hoffman, Western agent for the Campagnie Generale Transatiantique, who was in the city resterday on business effecting his territory.

Mr. Hoffman says all passports must be issued at Petrograd and the time necessary to have an application acted on is such that many who would ske to return there from the United States do not wish to go through an immense establish permanent business across do not wish to go through an immense amount of red tape. Travel to Japan, China and the Philippines is holding fairly well from Northern cities and that is drawing from the Eastern territory. out tours. The company announces that vessels will be chartered to augment the Senator and Umatilia, so in a short time the line will have attained considerable size.

Robert Warrack, Inspector of the Seventeenth Lighthouse District, has departed for Southern Oregon stations on an inspection tour.

E. B. Thomson, assistant enginesr in the Second Portland District, will proceed to Wheatland today to inspect repairs made on a dam there. While there are no versels operating from Portland to Upper Willamette River points, the work of improving the channel is going ahead, so no time is being lost there because the Gregon City locks are closed for despending.

Arriving yesterday from San Francisco, the steamer Johan Poulsen was ordered to Westport to start her lumber cargo.

Most of the accommodations aboard the San Francisco & Portland liner Rose City, which sails today for California cities, were sold yesterday. She will have one of the largest lists of passengers carried in many months.

Repairs were completed yesterday to a pump casing aboard the Port of Portland dredge Tualatin, which was damaged Monday through a large rock being carried through it, and she resumed operations at the shipyard of the Foundation Company, where a big fill is going in.

Having failen to a stage of 1,3 feet above zero, the Williamette River is expected to remain stationary for a time.

Members of the Commission of Public Docks have approved an application from the Coast Shiphuilding Company for the vacation of Grover street, from Moody street to the waterfunt, which stretch is included in the company's yard, also for laying a spur truck on Moody street, extending from Woods, to Gibbs streets.

Harbermaster Sweet, of Astoria, is visiting in the city for a few days. He reports that longshoremen and others employed on the Flavel dock of the Great Northern-Pacific Steamship Company, who were left without work when the turbiners were withdrawn, will find plenty to do in other lines at Astoria.

Dant & Russell have chartered the new motorship Seaborn, built on Puget Sound, and she will leave there in a day or two to load lumber here for the West Coast.
