FRENCH WARD OFF LIQUID FIRE ATTACK

Enemy Is Repulsed After Advances Near Beaumont, North of Verdun.

ATTACK AT YPRES FIERCE

Germans Gain Footholds in British Lines on Narrow Fronts, but After Hand-to-Hand Fighting, Are Driven Out Again.

≱ARIS, Sept. 25.—Liquid fire was used by the Germans in an attack on the French lines in the Beaumont re-gion north of Verdun last night. The French, however, repulsed the assault with heavy losses to the Germans, the War Office announced today. The bombardment that has been in progress on the east bank of the Meuse fu the neighborhod of Chaume wood was kept up by the German guns during the night.

The statement follows: The statement follows:
"There was active artillery firing on the Aisne front, in the sectors of Hurtebise, and to the south of Juviscourt. We checked surprise attacks

INSANE MAN'S STORY QUEER Investigation of Charge Against

Minnesota to Be Made.

A disconnected tale of being taken out of the State Insane Asylum in Minnesota in company with two other insane men and brought to the Coast by an asylum attendant was told by Fred Scderman, who was found wandering about the streets in an apparently demented condition yesterday by Patrelman Litzenberg.

Soderman asserted one of the insane had heen taken off the train in some town in Montana; that the other had been dropped off at Scattle, and that the asylum attendant purchased for him a ticket to Fortland, gave him a dollar and told him to come here.

An investigation of the charge that Minnesota officials are foisting their insane upon neighboring states will be made.

Cocoanut Oil Makes A Splendid Shampoo

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkall. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Just plain mulsified encount oil (which is pure and en-tirely greaseless) is much better than the most expensive soap or anything else you can use for shampoing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and sliky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can set mulsified cocoanut oil at most any drug store. It is very clean, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.—Adv. and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls cials of the State Department, and it is believed here that the break will be followed by war. President Irigoyen has been con-sistent in his determination not to permit his country to take other than a neutral position, but it is considered improbable that he will veto the action of the legislative branch of his government.

A political danger would face his administration in such a course, since the majority of the people appear to feel keenly the ridiculous position in which their country has been placed by the duplicity of the German minister. The discovery today that the strikes and riots in Buenos Alfres were instigated and supported by German agents only makes the situation worse. Although great military support agents only makes the situation worse.

Although great military support might not be given the allies by Argentina, her sconomic aid would be important. Perhaps the largest producing country in South America, she could contribute plentifully to the food supplies of the fighting nations.

BERLIN, Sept. 24, via London, Sept. 25.—The central governing committee of the National Liberal party, in general session yesterday, adopted a resoluion outlining the attitude of the party in regard to current foreign and domestic issues. In the new platform which was adopted unanimously, tha Reichstag's peace resolution of June 19 is roundly scored as inimical to Germany's future development. The reso-lutions oppose also disarmament, estab-lishment of a parliamentary govern-ment in Germany and the restoration of Belgium, and advocate annexation of conquered territory.

Pendleton Man Sleuth.

P. C. Stearns, of Pendleton, last night qualified as a detective by tracing an alleged holdup man from his ing afraid of lynching, begged us not to transfer him to another prison."

The correspondent next inspected the prison guards, who are of two classes. The first is a regular military unit, posted on the periphery of the bastion. The second is composed of two representatives of every regiment in Petrograd, who are stationed inside. These men jealously watch the prisoners.

Escape Held Inconceivable. General Kurinden declared that es-ape from the prison was inconceivable cape from the prison was inconcervation and that none was on record in modern times. In the library the correspondent found volumes in Russian, French, English, German, Italian and even in Finnish, the last for the use of the Finnish patriots who, under former Premier Stolypin's oppressive "equality law," were tried and imprisoned in Purelle

Russis.

In the courtyard, because of the rain that was falling at the time, no one was exercising, making a congruous impression because, though overlooked by the forbidding barred windows, it can be reached only through a metal cage, in which the prisoners wait. The yard itself is a green paradise, overgrown by now flowerless jasmine and lilac by now flowerless Jasmine and lilac bushes and shaded by tail lines of poplars, aspens and maples. It is rimmed with a broken pavement from the crevices of which rise wild plants and untrodden grasses. Under a towering tree in the center of the yard a shapeless bath-house used by the prisoners strikes another incongruous note.

Next in order came a visit to the unoccupied obsolete part of the prison under the commandant's house. This consists of real "stone sacks," with earthen floors far below the river level.

"There," said the procuror, "languished, I believe, Peter's son Alexis before he was tortured to death, and the next cell held the beautiful but unfortunate pretender, Princess Tarakhanoff, whom adventurers set up as the daughter of Empress Elizabeth."

Returning to the chancellory, the correspondent examined the roll of past captives, among whom were the terrorist assassin. Gershuni, and the chemist, Nicholas Morosoff, held in the bastion for 15 years under suspicion of complicity in the assassination of Alexander II.

In the roll were two other entries of a striking character in a different way. The first reads:

"1905, January 12: Pieshkoff Alexis Maximovitch."

This is the real name of Maxim

This is the real name of Maxim Gorky. The second entry reads: "Gillik Issyye, identity uncertain, be-

While the roll was under examination there occurred the most striking incident of the visit. After putting his head into one of the side rooms, the procuror announced that the examinaprocuror announced that the examina-tion within the room had been fin-ished. Into the chancellory with two soldiers behind him walked, well dressed, but collariess, a man of middle height, slight figure, small features and a short, grayish beard, with eyes unnaturally bright and almost feverish and an expression of extraordinary re-Inement and dignity.
"That." said the procuror, "is M.

The former Minister of the Interior topped in the middle of the ro-

On this M. Protopopoff, with a smile evidently intended to express sarcasm, began speaking in Russian. Asked regarding his health, he answered enigmatically, "It is too good."

Convinced that he would not be allowed to touch on politics, the Associated Press correspondent required regarding the treatment the former Minister was receiving and as to whether ister was receiving and as to whether

"I have no complaints of any kind," answered M. Protopopoff, and he con-tinued: "Would any of you Americans
