PATFINDER NOT IN RODNEY'S LINE. Deputy Sheriff Rodney may have been a good surveyor at one time, but there are at least three other officials at the Multnomah County Courthouse who can testify that he is not a success as a pathfinder. District Judge Dayton, District Clerk Richmond and County Jailer George, together with Mr. Rodney, formed a fishing party on the Lower Columbia Sunday. With the Deputy Sheriff as guide, they undertook to reach the headwaters of Tide Creek. After following a rough, mountainous road for several hours the party arrived, footsore and weary at an abandoned sawmill where they camped. The stream they were following was distant from the stream they sought. Conflicting statements were made yesterday by members of the party as to the actual number of fish caught after they located the stream for which they were searching.

MATZENAUER WINS OVATION IN SAN FRANCISCO CONCERT

Prima Donna Scheduled to Appear at Hellig Theater Tomorrow Night Declared Peer of Schumann-Heink, With Infinity of Pathos in Her Voice.

MARGARET MATZENAUER, who sings for the first time in Portland tomorrow night at the Hellig, under direction of Steers & Coman, will give several of the same programme numbers that brought her such an unusual ovation at her recent San Francisco recital. Among these will be Meyerbeer's "Ah, My Son," from "The Prophet," made famous by Schumann-Heink and which some critics say Matzenauer sings with even more wonderful effect.

Margaret Matzenauer, Who Will Sing at Hellig Theater Tomorrow Night.

"Annie Laurie," "Home, Sweet Home" and "Sallyway's" "The Lost Chord" were encore offerings and they brought the tears to many eyes, for "there is an infinity of pathos and tenderness in the soul of this singer," says the San Francisco Chronicle. "We stood and cheered when she sang 'The Star-Spangled Banner,' and listened open-mouthed when her voice reached upward to the high B flat and uttered it with the clarion clearness of a trumpet."

The enthrallment of Matzenauer's genius, the thousand tender shades of warm human feeling in her wonderful voice, have brought her extraordinary triumphs in three continents. Following is her programme in full for Wednesday night: "Lungi dal Caro Ben" (Secchi); "Se Florida e Fedele" (Scarlatti); "Come, My Florida" (Paganini); "Ave Maria" (Handel); "Awake, Saturnia," from "Semieleonardi"; "Le Manoir de Rosemonde" (Dupare); "Sallyway's" (Ferdinand); "Ave Maria" (Schumann); "Ah, Mon Fils" (Schumann); "Zapphira's Ode" (Brahms); "Santa Barbara" (Wagner).

Ford had been held in jail since his conviction in the lower court, August 5.

OREGON BOYS FEARED

SOME NORTH CAROLINIANS SHY AT BEAVER SOLDIERS. Dozens of Sunny South Think Oregonians Never Saw a Trolley Car Until Present Time.

Captain J. O. Church, of 597 Holly street, Portland, has received a letter from his son, Lloyd O. Church, who is now stationed with the Third Oregon Infantry at Camp Green, Charlotte, N. C., in which that young man describes the manner in which the residents of that city receive the Oregon boys and which substantiates the letter written by Wm. I. Marshall, who is also at the camp. The letter in part follows:

"I thought all the people in the United States were educated, but I find they are not. The people here describe me as talking about the 'wild and woolly' boys from the 'plains' of Oregon arriving in camp. Some of the boys had been in the Wyoming regiment and went into a dance hall here and shot out all the lights and nearly scared the people to death."

"One of our boys was talking to a well-educated native last night. When he said that he was from Oregon the native asked him if it wasn't 'a little bit wild' out there. He also asked him if he wasn't afraid of the streets 'because there wasn't any' out in Oregon. The soldier laughed and told him he had never seen one and didn't know what they looked like, but that he had heard of them."

"We found one or two men while we were in New Orleans and Atlanta, who had never heard of Oregon and didn't have any idea where it was. We told him that it was away out in the Northwest and he said, 'I sure would like to live there.'"

"The cavalry and our battalion are the only ones from Oregon here now. We are anxious for the rest to arrive. We have found already that we can out-drill any of the others here."

In order to give the members an authoritative standing, each man of the team—now a company—has been sworn in as a Deputy Sheriff. Captain Robert Krohn wishes to raise the enrollment of the company to its full strength of 100. Irvington men are especially invited to enlist. Officers of the company are: Captain, Robert Krohn; First Lieutenant, Dr. B. P. Shepherd; Second Lieutenant, A. B. Wastell, and first sergeant, C. W. Jones.
