

INDICTMENT OF 166 BUT START OF TASK

Tons of Evidence Expected to Disclose Minor Activities of I. W. W.

NO MASTER SPY LOCATED

Evidence Points Toward German Influence, but Proof is Not Conclusive—Further Inquiries Will Be Held.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—The great harvest of indictments returned at Chicago, it was authoritatively stated tonight, is but a fraction of what the Government will reap as the result of its Nation-wide raid on Industrial Workers of the World on September 5.

Direct Proof Yet Lacking. In obtaining indictments against 166 alleged ringleaders of the conspiracy, the Department of Justice has skimmed the cream of the investigation.

Contrary to the general belief, no direct connection has been shown thus far between the alleged leaders of the conspiracy and the huge German corruption fund believed to have been operating in this country since America's entry into the war.

No "Master Spy" Found. So far as yet determined, there was no master spy or single controlling head, which directed the activities of the anti-war workers.

A group of fairly generous proportions, the evidence indicates, were in charge of the entire programme of propaganda and outrages, from the spreading of alleged seditious literature to the burning of crops and the arming of farmers and others to resist the draft law.

Preparations for the trial of the 166 persons indicted at Chicago, the largest number indicted at one time on one charge by a single grand jury, within the recollection of officials here, are yet to be made.

Various phases of the investigation were discussed today at a conference between Attorney-General Gregory, Assistant Attorney Fitts, who directed the work of the Federal grand jury in making the raid and the preparations for the grand juries and A. Bruce Bielski, chief of the department's bureau of investigation.

"If I had a wish I would that you men had jurisdiction to return bills of indictment against these men. They ought to be tried promptly and fairly, and I believe their attitude toward the law fairly, but I have a conviction as strong as life that this conviction should stand them up against an adopted wall tomorrow and give them what they deserve.
