NEW LEADING MAN OF ALCAZAR PLAYERS IS OF DASHING TYPE

Edward Everett Horton Is 31 Years Old, Likes Handball and Other Sports and Has Varied Career as Actor-Name Is Listed in Many Clubs.

PIRST of all, Edward Everett Horton, new leading man of the Alcazar Players, is a regular felow, one of the boys. If he weren't an actor he'd be a business man of some sort and a general good sportsman. He belongs to so many clubs, these big worth-while clubs in New York and way points, that it sounded like the tail end of an obituary notice when 1 glanced over them. All I can call to mind now are the Lambs, the Actors' Equity and Actors' Society and the Columbia Players (he's a Columbia Uni-versity man) and the Drama League (which I do not hold against him for he can always get out of it) and enough Tong Murder Trial. Progresses.—
With the completion of the jury, an inspection of the scene of the homicide and the examination of five witnesses for the state, good progress was made yesterday in the trial of Shee Fong, on trial for the murder of Chin Hong at Broadway and Flanders streets. June 2, last. The trial is being held in Circuit Judge Stapleton's department. The testimony yesterday contains the state of the part is at the progressive of the part is at the progressive of the progressive one of the nicest experiences he has bad since he reached Portland is looking up his faternity brothers.

"Horton speaks of Portland as a "defiant city." "It stands so superbly alone, so challenging in its bigness and its beauty," he says. Already he has been for a ride on our wonder highway and for a hike over the hills about the city, and he has been in our midst but a week.

It's a far cry from a pedagogue to a "Mr. Horton's change of luck came with an engagement with Louis Mann. "For three years," he said, "we fought, bled and died together. He was a pitlless taskmaster, but I learned all I know of technique from him. He went out of his way to teach me, and I always give him credit for my training." After serving his apprenticeship under Mr. Mann, Mr. Horton went into stock, and he's been in demand from one end of the acting world to another. He's young and ambitious and an artist. We are mighty lucky to have him with us this season, and he says he's glad to be here. So that Mr. Horton's change of luck came with an engagement with Louis Mann. It's a far cry from a pedagogue to a handsome, dashing leading man. Which makes it unanimous.
