

WHEAT IS PILING UP

Congestion Feared in Terminals of Northwest.

FARMERS ASKED TO HOLD

Spokane Reports Storage Facilities Taxed Almost to Capacity and Situation Similar Elsewhere.

SPOKANE, Wash., Oct. 11.—(Special.)—A serious wheat congestion is threatening grain terminals of the Northwest. The limit of storage capacity in Spokane has almost been reached and mill and grain men are today advising farmers not to ship their grain directly to terminal points.

"Our advice to farmers is to assemble wheat at the primary shipping points where they have storage," says R. T. Lord, of the Seattle Grain Company. "From the shipping points it can then be moved as fast as it can be handled to the terminals."

"We already have a congestion at every terminal and there is a congestion of wheat now at Spokane. The tracks are full of wheat cars and the mills and grain houses are behind in their loading. Our local storage capacity is pretty well exhausted. If the farmers need money, they can haul their grain to the local shipping points and we will finance them at 6 per cent until the grain is sold."

Men Sent From Fort Stevens to Military School.

Cranberry Pickers Are at Work From Fort Columbia.

FORT COLUMBIA, Wash., Oct. 11.—(Special.)—Seventeen members of the Fourth Company left Fort Stevens Tuesday for the training school at Des Moines, Ia. where they will become proficient in the duties of the various non-commissioned officers' ranks. One of the advantages the regulars have over the National Guard is that they are trained at the various quartermaster places. The men were Colonel Smith, Colonel Cox, Privates Elliott, Rosenthal, Baldwin, Carr, Singleton, Brennan, Neese, Enslay, Gibson, Williams, Todd, Wooding, Colmes, Hays and Yarbrough.

Fifteen men each from Companies Ten and Seven left Fort Columbia for Ilwaco, where they will assist in saving the bumper cranberry crop. The boys are enjoying the change of work and the adventure. These will stay the limit of four days, when they will return and other boys will take their places, thus the pleasure of a profitable trip will be given each enlisted man.

Pay day in Fort Columbia means work for the postmaster. The boys are still sending money home to the folks. More than $2000 has been sent home and more to come.

Under the direction of Chaplain Elkins the post exchange has been thoroughly cleaned and remodeled. A new library and reading-room has been installed for the benefit of the boys. Free stationery is provided and the latest magazines may be found on the reading tables.

SCHOOLS ARE ENLISTED

CHILDREN AND TEACHERS TO AID FOOD CONSERVATION. W. B. Ayer Decides Youngsters Offer Best Means of Conducting Pledge Card Campaign in Oregon.

School teachers and children of Oregon have been selected for work in one of the most important and far-reaching food conservation drives of the war—the pledge card campaign. It has been decided by the state executive committee that the schools have perhaps the best all-round organization available, so they will be given opportunity of doing their bit in this big drive which will be formally launched for the week of October 21-25. That week will be set aside by the entire Oregon, during which an effort will be made to get every home signed up to the little cards which say to the food administrator: "I am glad to join you in the service of food conservation for our Nation and hereby accept membership in the United States Food Administration, pledging myself to carry out the directions and advice of the food administrator in my home, in so far as my circumstances will permit." Backed by the school authorities, the teachers and pupils will endeavor to carry these cards into every home in Oregon, have them signed and returned to the proper place. The work is being directed from the office of W. B. Ayer, food administrator for Oregon, through the supervision of A. M. Churchill, State Superintendent of Public Instruction.

TEST ON LAW ARRANGED

Trial on Picketing Charge to Come Up in Court at Once. Announcement was made yesterday by City Attorney LaRoche and by W. S. Ren, attorney for the shipyard strikers, that it is planned to have a trial upon whereby the constitutionality of the Portland anti-conspiracy ordinance will be taken to the Supreme Court for final determination without necessitating another trial in Municipal Court. Another complaint was filed by Mr. LaRoche charging Joe Allen, a shipyard worker, with violating the anti-conspiracy ordinance by going on picket duty. A demurrer will be filed to this complaint, which Judge Rossman will overrule. Allen will then be taken to jail and will not be released until habeas corpus proceedings are brought. The habeas corpus proceedings and demurrer will be fought out in the Circuit Court and later in the Supreme Court, and in settling the habeas corpus and demurrer the validity of the ordinance will be determined.
