

LUMBER SHIPPERS APPEAL FOR CARS

Willamette Valley Mills Are Unable to Get Product Out.

SHORTAGE IS INCREASING

Public Service Bodies Urged to Compel Roads With Surplus Cars to Supply Others That Are Short.

SALEM, Or., Oct. 11.—(Special).—With the declaration that lumber shippers of the Willamette Valley Lumbermen's Association, with mills on the Southern Pacific, were short an average of 57 per cent of their requirements for cars during the month of September and that since October 1 the shortage has increased, F. G. Donaldson, traffic manager of the association, has made an appeal to the Public Service Commission, the car service bureau of the Interstate Commerce Commission, and to Oregon's Senators and Representatives in Congress, urging that some remedy be applied.

"We are willing to go the limit to avoid the repetition of last year's experience, when at one time about 60 per cent of our cut was closed down and our yards glutted with lumber at times when prices were rising and we were unable to supply the needs of our customers," asserts Mr. Donaldson in his letter to Oregon's Congressional delegation.

The car service bureau cites statistics of recent data showing how the shortage has hit Willamette Valley lumber mills. During the period, September 1 to September 12, he says, "the Booth-Kelly Lumber Company mill at Springfield, Or., received 29 per cent of its requirements of cars, the Willamette Valley Lumber Company, at Dallas, 44 per cent, and other mills, members of this association, were having the same experience."

He states that consequently lines like the Northern Pacific, Great Northern and C. & N. W. Railway, which have no through rates on lumber from mills on the Southern Pacific lines, are not disposed, and according to their interpretation, cannot be compelled to furnish cars to the Southern Pacific and other forest products.

"The railroads out here," continues Mr. Donaldson, "interpret our car-pooling arrangement as one that is at their option. That is, they contend that while they may permit cars to be loaded via any route, they are not bound to let shippers have their cars for such loading."

He declares, "we insist that all share in it alike, and after Governmental requirements are filled, the balance of equipment be distributed equally between all classes of shippers, and the lumber producers not be made the principal victims of a lack of cars. We have been 'goats' during every car shortage period for years past and as this whole state lives on the lumber industry we are not willing to stand for these manifest discriminations."

On Chinese labor contractor of Portland, by cannery employees sent by him to Alaska this year, has been given C. H. Younger, State Labor Commissioner, by James Wickersham, territorial delegate from Alaska.

Wickersham wrote for a copy of the testimony taken by state and Federal Commissioners at Seattle recently from employees of Wong On, who claimed that their wages were wrongfully withheld. The testimony is to be used, Wickersham said, in committee meetings on the Alaska fisheries bill, which is to be taken up December 7.

In complying with the request Commissioner Younger stated that he had assurances of cannery firms operating in Alaska that they would co-operate in either state or Federal legislation designed to remove content labor abuses which have prevailed in the North for years.

Getting the employees' wages back through gambling games run by foremen, who paid the contractor a percentage and charging the losses against the men as groceries, is one of the charges made in the Wong On case.

CONRAD OLSON MAY RUN

STATE SENATOR SAID TO HAVE HIS EYE ON CONGRESS.

Agreement Thought to Have Been Reached Four Years Ago, When Mr. McArthur First Ran.

Conrad P. Olson, State Senator from Multnomah County, may be a candidate against C. N. McArthur for the Republican nomination for Representative in Congress from this district at the primary election next May 19.

At any rate, there is much gossip to that effect in the circles where political events are prognosticated and forecast, and Senator Olson himself does not deny the gentle insinuation.

At the same time he is not announcing his candidacy, but except in the case of the ever-blooming Mr. Lafferty, who is a perpetual candidate, it is not considered good form to make announcements this far in advance.

Representative McArthur has not said that he will seek re-election to a third term, but that he will declare himself in the race is taken for granted. Mr. McArthur is due home today from Washington, and some interesting developments may be expected.

Four years ago, before Mr. McArthur was elected to his first term, Senator Olson was elected to the lower house of the Legislature, was tentatively in the race for Congress. He withdrew at that time, the importunities of Mr. McArthur's friends, and supported him in the campaign.

It was current gossip at the time that an understanding had been reached between them that after Mr. McArthur had served two terms he should not seek re-election against Mr. Olson, if Senator Olson was served three terms in the Legislature from Multnomah County, being elected Senator in 1916 by a big vote. He was one of the high men on the ticket. At the last session of the Legislature he was chairman of the Education and Highways committee, and had an important part in securing the $6,000,000 roads bond measure and other highway legislation.

Oregon Boys and Girls Prominent in Food Conservation.

HOOVER FOR YOUNGSTERS

In Five Addresses at Eugene, O. M. Plummer, State Administrator, Explains Why Important Work Is Given Young Folk.

EUGENE, Or., Oct. 11.—(Special).—The boys and girls of Oregon are to play a more important part in the food administration plans of the Nation than other states in the Union, because Herbert C. Hoover, National Food Administrator, was once an Oregon boy and is willing to risk his reputation as a prophet on the spirit of the youth of this state, according to O. M. Plummer, of Portland, who delivered five addresses in Eugene today.

When three special agents in the employ of the state, three deputies from the Sheriff's office and a Deputy Constable, armed with a search warrant, finished a visit to the Hotel Medford, W. O. Forbes, D. D. synodical secretary school superintendent of the Northwest, discussed the work of the Sunday schools of Southern Oregon.
