NEW QUARTERS NEEDED

GOVERNOR WITHYCOMBE FAVORS
CANTONMENT AT FORT STEVENS.

Tents Are Comfortable, but Not Adequate for Housing Soldiers During Winter Months.

While passing through Portland yesterday on his return from Fort Stevens, where he reviewed the troops of the Oregon Coast Artillery on Thursday, Governor Withycombe said that provision should be made at once to establish a cantonment there to house the soldiers during the coming winter months.

"In company with Adjutant-General White I inspected the present quarters and found the tents very comfortable and commodious for summer encampment," said the Governor. "But, because of the climatic conditions along the shore of the ocean these tents would, I fear, be entirely inadequate for housing in the winter time."

"I do not wish to appear in the light of criticizing the Government, but at the same time feel that an effort should be made to improve the accommodations."

The Governor reported yesterday that Colonel Ellis and Colonel Hammond have taken the interests of their men to heart and are doing their best to make them comfortable. He also said that the grounds at Fort Stevens are admirable for training purposes.

"I found the boys in excellent condition and they are responding admirably to the routine of training," said Governor Withycombe. "They constitute a magnificent body of men in whom a fervent spirit of optimism dominates. Among the 1400 troops there are in excess of 60 university men."

Unions After Tacoma Officials.

TACOMA, Wash., Oct. 12.—(Special.)

Tacoma labor unions are hot on the trail of those they allege are giving short weights. They want the inspector of weights and measures put under civil service in the city government.

"Take the place out of politics," Joseph Lyons, representative of the Central Labor Council, urged Mayor Fawcett. The Mayor said the department was being handled as capably as possible, considering its means.

Southern Pacific Short 1621 Cars.
SALEM, Or., Oct. 12.—Car shortage on the lines of the Southern Pacific in Oregon today was 1621. Closed cars were short 756 and open 865.

Thomas Harrison Reynolds, for 40 Years an Employee of Wells, Fargo & Co., Who Died Thursday Night.

PIONEER OF 1855 DIES

THOMAS HARRISON REYNOLDS WAS SALEM RESIDENT.

Retired Station Agent Who Participated in Indian Wars Leaves Widow.

Thomas Harrison Reynolds, a pioneer of 1855, Indian War veteran and for 40 years an employee of Wells Fargo & Co., died Thursday night at his home, 953 East Twenty-ninth street North, from injuries suffered during State Fair week, when he fell from a railroad train at Salem. Mr. Reynolds was 77 years and 9 months of age.

Born at Independence, Mo., January 12, 1840, Mr. Reynolds crossed the plains to California at the age of 12 years, and two years later, in 1855, came to Oregon as a messenger to a regular Army officer, with whom he was stationed at The Dalles. When the Indian war broke out a few years later Mr. Reynolds was commissioned First Lieutenant.

Subsequently Mr. Reynolds learned the printer's trade. He afterwards "stuck type" on the Oregonian. Mr. Reynolds began his long period of service with Wells Fargo & Co. as driver for the company's office at Salem. Later he was appointed agent at Salem. In 1910, after having filled that position for many years, Mr. Reynolds was retired on a pension and has since made his home in this city.

Mr. Reynolds is survived by his widow, Mrs. Josephine Schwatka Reynolds, and a son, Tom S. Reynolds, both of this city, and a daughter, Miss Melie J. Reynolds, of Chicago.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Minister's Library Burned.

LEBANON, Or., Oct. 12.—(Special.)—The dwelling of Rev. G. E. Williams, pastor of the First Christian Church of this city, was burned to the ground a few days ago. Rev. Mr. Williams lives on a mountain ranch seven miles above Foster and about 25 miles from Lebanon, but comes to Lebanon each week end. Mr. Williams had a fine library, all of which was lost. He counts his loss to library and contents of house at $2500 and $400 on the house, on which there was about half that amount of insurance.

Klamath Soldier to See His Father.
KLAMATH FALLS, Or., Oct. 12.—(Special.)—In response to a wish of his father, D. W. Anderson, of Oleno, 12 miles east of here, who is now seriously ill there, Floyd O. Anderson, who recently left with the Army men from this city for American Lake, has been granted a leave of absence of seven days and is expected home tonight to visit his aged father.

SICK PRINCIPAL CHEERED

R. R. Steele Gets Two Birthday Anniversary Surprises.

R. R. Steele, principal of Richmond school, had two pleasant surprises yesterday on his birthday anniversary, which he was forced to observe in the Portland Sanitarium, where he has been for three weeks recovering from an operation.

The first surprise consisted of 227 postcards from the children of his school congratulating him on his birthday and expressing wishes for his early recovery. The second was a letter announcing that his son Clarence, who has been in Siam for six years managing the Boon Litt Memorial, has left for home on a furlough and will reach Portland in about a month.

Albany Boy Buried.
ALBANY, Or., Oct. 12.—(Special.)—The funeral of Francis Clair Barrett, a 6-year-old Albany boy who died Wednesday, was held this morning at St. Mary's Church. The services were conducted by Father Arthur Lane. The boy was a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Barrett and was 6 years old yesterday.

Even though the buying of home property and the building of a home may be distant in your mind, "THE LADD TRUST" way to a home in the beautiful residential district of

CHAPTER LVI

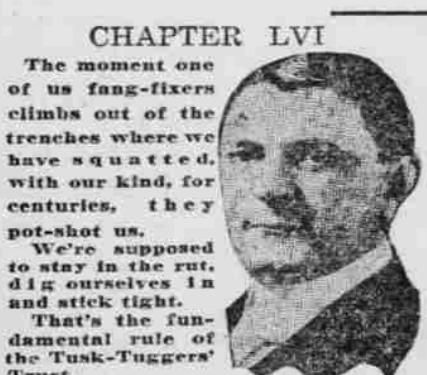

The moment one of us fang-fixers climbs out of the trenches where we have squatted, with our kind, for centuries, they pot-shot us. We're supposed to stay in the rat, dig ourselves in and attack tight. That's the fundamental rule of the Tusk-Tuggers' Trust.

Tradition says that a dentist shouldn't drop below the "minimum fee" and shouldn't be on the level with the patient, for fear that said patient might find out that dentistry wasn't the mysterious, dreadful, expensive, excruciating operation that it has been boosted to be.

The kindly Dental Trust gentlemen, who have spent their spare hours looking through peep-sights at one Painless Parker and then prayerfully pulling the trigger, are in a fine position to condemn this frankly unethical character. They know but echo the manner in which unethical dentistry is conducted—NOT!

Here are a flock of ethical birds

Painless Parker—Outlaw His Confessions

chirping about "unethical" practices—and they haven't been there themselves. What experience have they had in conducting their dental work on modern business lines? What do they know practically about the right or wrong of dental advertising? What do they know about the "cutting the price" down to the level of the wage-earner's pocketbook? What do they know about the horrors of dental "revivals" with a patient? Nothing at all. They are squawking about a condition which is only a theory with them. They are about as practical-minded as a covey of godo-birds.

These highly ethical maxillary members can't get reconciled to anything except the beaten path. They hobble up and down the same side of the street, fearing to cross over and try the other sidewalk and cursing the fellow who dares to seek a new thoroughfare.

Every dentist who has broken away from the false god of Professional Ethics and has gained enough sense to run his practice as if it was a business instead of a church service with a collection plate attachment, knows that the old way is too ridiculous for any use. He wouldn't go back on a bet. But you can't tell those other fellows that stuff.—Adv.
