Trotsky, Rabid Pro-German, Replaces Lenin in Council of Extremist Party.

While there are indications that the last convention held in Petrograd by the Russian Socialists, the so-called Democratic Council, ended in a partial victory for Kerensky, there remains every evidence that the Bolshevik element is still very strong.

Trotsky was elected a member of the Petrograd Council of Soldiers' and Workers' Delegates, being a pacifist and never having done any manual work.

Lenine is the real leader of the Bolshevik today, exactly as he was during the fatal days of July, when he sent mutinous soldiers and idle workmen out on the streets of the capital with machine guns to murder the populace.

Trotsky, or Braunstein, is known to many in New York City. He gained some newspaper publicity when he arrived in New York from Spain a short time before the February revolution.

Trotsky's story was founded on fact. At least two countries did find him an alien to be undesirable to retain.

Even at the best of times, and where the food supply came from government sources, we had veal or its derivatives, hash, or pieces of meat a day per person, except for the Sunday dinner, when a pound was allowed.

When August came we began to have game, grouse of various kinds, mostly, but also a few plentiful in Russia and Finland this year, because since the war men have hunted only one another.

The French government, which had its hands full with its own pet sedition raisers, had never before heard of Trotsky, but now it told him to move on.

He was editing a Jewish paper in Berlin. He was given a few hours to leave, he says, and with his family fled across the Swiss frontier to Zurich.

He was arrested as an extreme trouble maker, and after a short time expelled from the country. He came to the United States, where he remained until the Russian revolution of late February, 1917, when he flew back to Petrograd.

The rainy weather caused several of the boys to return from the cranberry fields. The boys report a good time, but the pay did not much more than pay for the food.

Coast defenses are on the Hoover plan of one meatless day for each week. Recent orders are to the effect that on days when meat is not served, the general complaint in regard to the feeding of the boys is that they are getting too much for the good of their stomachs.

A change in the personnel of the officers took place today. Major Willard L. Cogburn, First Lieutenant, was relieved as fort commander and assigned to duty as fire commander of third fire command, Fort Stevens.

BERMERTON, Wash., Oct. 16.—(Special)—A dozen revolver shots were exchanged early today between a watchman and an engineer of the Bremerton Water Works and an unidentified German, who fired a shot near the water-works power station.

Special guards were placed around the water-works today by Superintendent William Bell, when reports came to him that a stranger had been discovered taking pictures of the works with a camera.

Charles Weidlick, watchman, and E. B. Knight, engineer, reported they saw the stranger, a camera partially hidden, near the water-works power station. When the two employees opened fire the stranger raised up, fired six shots and fled, they said.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—Ten members of Congress traveling in unofficial capacity, but carrying special passports by the State Department, are on the way to Europe to visit the war fronts and fraternize with the parliamentary representatives of the allied nations.

The visit is a development of the recent cable and personal invitations for closer affiliation of the parliamentary bodies of the allied governments through personal conferences at the British, French and Italian capitals.

Members of the party are armed with letters of identification by Ambassador Sharp at Paris, to General Pershing and others. They will visit England, Belgium, France, Italy and Switzerland and hope to be back in Washington in time for the opening of Congress in December.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—Insults and physical torture inflicted upon helpless English men and women by their German captors in special East Africa in days of the war were the subject of a special British parliamentary paper, copies of which have just reached this country.

This report, embracing the sworn testimony of many missionaries and native teachers, will form part of the terrible indictment against German officials at the end of the war. The affidavits are by British civilians, mostly missionaries, men and women, who were engaged in church work among the natives and who under all rules of warfare should have been permitted to quit German territory in safety upon 24 hours' notice after the declaration of the end of the war.

Another drive yesterday morning on Italian wine manufacturers by Patrolmen Wright, Nelson and Elliott resulted in the confiscation of 150 gallons of wine and several quarts of whisky and homemade beer at 297 Montgomery street. R. Petro and R. Rizzo were arrested for violations of the prohibition law.

In addition to the liquor the police seized a large wine press, which was used in the manufacture of wine.

ARREST MADE AT SEATTLE Charles F. Comfort Suspected of Complicity in Girl Murder.

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 16.—Charles F. Comfort of Ballard, a Seattle suburb, was arrested tonight in connection with the murder of 17-year-old Ruby Demerit, whose decapitated body was found in the woods near the city limits Sunday.

Jasper Bailey, the first man arrested, was released late today after establishing a complete alibi. Earl McGinn, who was the girl's escort to a dance the night of September 3, is still in prison. The police declare he was the last man known to have been with the girl the morning of September 2, the day she is believed to have been murdered.

CLATSkanie, Or., Oct. 16.—(Special)—Jack Applegate, employed by the Fish Hawk Logging Company as a donkey engineer, was severely injured yesterday. Applegate had reversed his machine and started ahead when the friction on the donkey suddenly broke, causing the lever to fly back with great force. The lever struck the man in the side and threw him to the ground. Applegate's hip was slightly fractured and his side bruised. A tobacco can in the man's pocket was struck by the released lever, saving him from perhaps fatal injury. Applegate was taken to a hospital at Astoria.

Emanuel Kridbaum, of the Sunnyside camp, was severely injured Saturday. He was employed as brakeman on the train, and while bringing a load down the hill, tightening the brakes, the brake-chain broke and threw him under the wheels. A result of his injuries, the amputation of his left arm was found necessary.
