FITZSIMMONS NEAR DEATH AT CHICAGO

Ex-World's Champion Heavyweight Pugilist Stricken With Pneumonia.

PHYSICIANS' HOPE FAINT

"Lanky Bob" Is Removed to Hospital When Condition Is Discovered Dangerous-Wife by Her Husband's Bedside.

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—Robert Fitzsimmons, former champion heavyweight puglist, is in a local hospital, dangerously ill from lobar pneumonia, Mrs. Fitzsimmons is in constant attendance upon her husband, who has been appearing at a suburban theater until yesterday, when his condition became suddenly worse and he was rushed to a hospital.

Physicians at the institution late today said there was small hope for the patient's recovery,

Bob is indifferent Pupil.

Bob's father was a miner. He was of a roving disposition and when Bob was about nine years old the head of the Fitzsimmons family decided to leave England. So with his family he boarded a ship for New Zealand. Arriving there the elder Fitzsimmons settled his family in a little place called Lyttleton, where he obtained work as a miner. The three Fitzsimmons brothers tramped three miles to school each morning and back again in the afternoon. Young Bob was an indifferent student, timid and bashful in everything but athletics. Running and jumping were his favorite pursuits.

At 11 years of age Bob decided he had enough of school life and went to work in a grocery store. At 12 years he was known as the best fighter in the viliage. Then Bob turned to blacksmithing at Timaru, where his elder brother had moved. It was at Timaru that Bob saw his first boxing match and decided that it was the life for him. He had a quick eye, was agile, possessed unusual strength and was equipped with a good brain so that he soon acquired and mastered the few principles of the boxing art that he saw displayed.

Bob pestered the promoters of the Timaru fights until the latter decided. Bob is Indifferent Pupil.

Bob pestered the promoters of the Timaru fights until the latter decided to let him have his first battle. His to let him have his first battle. His initial fight was with a blacksmith who worked in the same shop with him. Bob weighed about 140 pounds while his opponent tipped the beam at 200 pounds. He keeled his fellowworker over in ligtime and from then on he was the village champion.

Dempsey Is Benten.

He later came to the United States and his first fight of any prominence was with a boxer named Black Pearl in 1891, which Fitzsimmons won in in 1891, which Fitzsimmons won in four rounds. Stories of his prowess began to circulate in the United States and there were numberless demands for his appearance in the different rings.

His first big fight was with Jack Dempsey whom he knocked out in 13 rounds at New Orleans. Later he fought Peter Maher and kept on mowing down the fighters as they appeared in the ring with him the ring with him.

Bob won the heavyweight champion-ship of the world from James J. Cor-bett at Carson City, Nevada, March 17 1897. He held the world's title until he met Jeffries in 1899, when the latter knocked Fitzsimmons out in the Tith round.

The lanky heavyweight essayed a number of times to try and regain his lost title, but his attempts were fruitless. He did manage, however, to defeat Jim Daly, Ed Dunkhurst, Gus Ruhlin and Tom Sharkey, but when he tried again to mix with Jim Jeffries in San Francisco in 1902 he was been been as to the first saint. fries in San Francisco in 1862 in San knocked out in the eighth round. Fighter's Reach Is Long.

From a fighting standpoint Bob Fitzsimmons was a physical freak. Jack Wagner, punched himself into match the other night at the Pa-cific Athletic Club show, when he mauled Roscoc Taylor for six rounds, handing him a severe beating. It was discovered yesterday that Wagner smashed two of Taylor's ribs in the bout. Taylor was to have fought Percy Brooks in Bend, Or., tonight and as he is unable to get around, much less box ten rounds with a middle-weight, Wagner consented to come to the rescue of the Bend promoters and offered to take Taylor's place against Brooks tonight. His offer was ac-cepted at once and Jack left for Bend offered to take Taylor's place against Brooks tonight. His offer was accepted at once and Jack left for Bend last night to meet Brooks in a tenround battle at the Bend Hippodrome.
