

WHITE ORDERED TO SERVICE IN FRANCE

Adjutant-General Leaves to Report Immediately at "An Atlantic Port."

BRILLIANT RECORD MADE

Man Who Put "First" in "Oregon First" Buys $3000 Worth of Lib- erty Bonds of Eve of Depart- ure for Washington.

George A. White, Adjutant-General of Oregon, left Portland last night under orders from the War Department to report immediately for active service at "an Atlantic port." While he was reticent about his orders, the indications are strong that he will soon be sent to France.

General White, or Major White, as he ranks in the National Guard Army, had previously been ordered to report at Camp Greene, Charlotte, N. C., as Adjutant-General of the 41st Infantry Division. This is the division in which the Oregon, Washington and other Northwest troops are included.

General's Request Granted.

For several months it has been General White's wish to be relieved of his duties as Adjutant-General of Oregon that he might go to the front in active service. It was at his own request that he was assigned more than a month ago to the 41st Infantry Division, in order to go forward with the troops from his own regiment.

At that time, however, Governor Withycombe protested so strongly against the War Department's taking him from the state until after the first draft had been completed that Secretary of War Baker personally directed that he should remain here until his work in connection with the draft had been completed.

The final mobilization of troops called out on the first draft was completed this week.

General White's work as Adjutant-General of the state is too well known to require much comment. He is generally given credit for being the man who put the "first" in "Oregon First."

Recruiting Record Envyable.

Not only in the first mobilization of Oregon troops just prior to the outbreak of the war, but the recruiting of the Third Infantry to full war strength before even a regular Army has recruited had their full quota of men, and the prompt organization and recruiting to strength of additional National Guard units, has in no other Oregon in the first rank of the states.

In addition to all that, he took up the work of organizing the state to take the war census last June, when all men of military age were registered. Oregon again was one of the first states to report the census in the state, and to send in complete figures.

Then when the actual work of the draft began, he was given personal charge of the organization of the draft machinery. Not once did the state fail to meet its full quota at the required time.

Crowder Congratulates White.

Provost Marshal-General Crowder, at Washington, D. C., in a telegram signed by him in person, officially commended General White for his state for the efficient manner in which the draft has been conducted here.

This is not General White's first taste of active service. He has been a "swivel-chair" Adjutant-General, and when the call came for troops to go to the front in June, 1916, he went out as Captain of Troop A, cavalry.

This organization, under his command, remained on the border for six months. It became one of the most efficient cavalry units in the whole Army. General White also is a Spanish-American War veteran.

Colonel Williams Successor.

It was a real man's job, but General White did it—and did it so quickly and thoroughly and efficiently that in the following month, March of this year, when the call came for National Guard troops, the Third Oregon mobilized just a few hundred men short of full strength.

General White promptly began a recruiting campaign, with the result, already noted, that the whole regiment was recruited up to full war strength ahead of any other regiment in the United States. Not only that, but it was armed and equipped.

While he is away on active service General White will be on indefinite leave of absence as Adjutant-General. Lieutenant-Colonel John M. Williams, of Eugene, will take his place as acting Adjutant-General.

Soldier Buys $3000 Bonds.

Before his departure for the front yesterday, virtually his entire savings, in liberty bonds.

General White will stop a couple of days in Washington on business in connection with clearing up the property returns from the Oregon National Guard to the War Department, extending over a period of 20 days. In that time more than $1,000,000 in equipment has been received by the state, but no final property accounts with the War Department have been made. The same is true in regard to most of the states.

Opening Date Postponed

Portland Institute of Red Cross Sections Begin October 22.

Dr. Paul H. Douglas, in charge of the Portland Institute of the American Red Cross, announced yesterday that the opening of the institute, which is to be affiliated with Reed College, has been postponed and will begin October 22, instead of October 20, as previously announced.

Three Directors Added

A. H. Averill, L. C. Gilman, C. E. Swigert With Lumbermen's Trust.

Increased business and an optimistic viewpoint of bond conditions in the future are said to be indicated in the addition of three prominent men to the directorate of the Lumbermen's Trust Company.

At a special meeting of the board yesterday afternoon the following were elected directors, in addition to the present board: A. H. Averill, president; A. H. Averill, P. S. Brumby, C. H. Carey, F. J. Cobbs, L. C. Gilman, John A. Keating, C. E. Swigert, C. F. Wright, Portland, Or., and James Danaher, Jr., Camas, Cal.

DRAMA CLUB HAS MEETING

Reed College Potatoes Dug, Beans Gathered, Lawn Weeded, Dam Repaired—Dance Follows After All Work Done.

Regular routine was abandoned at Reed College yesterday afternoon, "campus day," when students and instructors donned old clothes and turned out in force for the fall clean-up. Five strenuous hours were spent by the students in helping with the bean crop, in the potato field, or at work on the lawns or other parts of the campus.

Professor J. K. Hart marshaled the squad of potato diggers, armed with forks and hoes, to the large potato field at the end of the campus, where they were assisted in the work by the gathering committee, who sacked and measured the spuds.

Sixteen enthusiastic workers were kept busy caring for the bean crop, under the direction of Louise Kennedy. Much was accomplished by the lawn workers, who used forks and rakes to good advantage in a war against weeds. They were directed in this work by Edgar Means, of the senior class.

Real muscular activity was called into play by the group of men under Professor A. A. Knowlton and Reed Ellsworth, engaged in repairing the dam below the swimming pool. It was necessary to drain the pool. Large holes, made in the structure by muskrats, were filled in.

The general campus day plans were in charge of Ivan Elder, of the senior class. After the work was over the students gathered for dinner in the dining-room. About 200 were seated at the tables. Sociability is as much a feature of the campus day as work, and the remainder of the evening was spent in entertainment in the men's social room.

The first meeting of the Drama Club for the year was held. Several members of the club staged a play for the amusement of the students. Music and dancing followed.

LABOR UNREST TOPIC

Dr. Irving Fisher Discusses Cause and Effect.

SOCIALISM RANKED ERROR

Variable Value of Dollar Declared Unfair to Worker, but Other Objections Also Are Cited in Realty Board Address.

"We do not always appreciate how we are living on top of a volcano, and how, unless we give relief in some way to the pressure underneath, we will be blown off the top," said Dr. Irving Fisher, professor of political economy at Yale University and widely known as an authority on economic and sociological problems, in the course of an address on "Causes of Labor Unrest" at the weekly luncheon of the Realty Board at the Benson yesterday.

"If we are to solve the problem of industrial unrest, we must understand its causes. And if we do not apply a scientific remedy," he warned, "we may be sure that quack remedies will be applied."

Socialism has insisted on such quack remedies, and as one toward which labor is being drawn, largely on account of the too general apathy of employers towards the welfare of the man who works.

Dr. Fisher prefaced his address with a brief discussion of the economic aspect of the war and the need for united support of the Government in such matters as the floating of liberty bonds.

Cost of War High.

"This war is largely an economic war," he explained. "The economic cost is terrific. The cost of military operations must be backed up by the purchase of bonds by individuals and the acceptance of individual responsibility in the war."

Dr. Fisher said the export of wheat to the allies will be almost as important in winning this war as the purchase of liberty bonds.

"The first cause," he explained, "is the high cost of living, which really means the low purchasing power of the dollar, and which may be cured by forming the dollar."

"Were it not that wages had kept pace with prices, the wage-earner would not have cause for complaint. As a matter of fact, they had not kept pace. The wages received by the average wage-earner had decreased 15 per cent in purchasing power in the last 10 years."

Wage Earner Suffers.

And the wage-earner, he added, living usually on a scanty margin of safety, is the one least able to afford any decrease in the purchasing power of his money.

"The second great cause of industrial unrest in this country," Dr. Fisher pointed out, "is the fact that they have as yet so little social insurance."

A third cause, he said, was alcoholism, and that, because you men have large on that, because you men have solved that problem, as I hope some day the individual states of the East, the mountain states and ultimately the world, will solve it.

The fourth cause he did not define in so many words, and he explained that it was a cause that as yet only a few men in the United States had recognized. In summary, it was the failure of the vast majority of employers to give an opportunity for self-expression in his work.

Dr. Fisher spoke at Reed College yesterday morning on the purchasing power of the dollar.

THE PERFECT UNION SUIT

BIG PARADE IS PLANNED

SOLDIERS WILL BE HONORED BY PATRIOTIC DEMONSTRATION.

Fathers, Mothers, Wives and Drafted Men Will Be in Line.

The patriotic liberty bond parade to be held next Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock in which the fathers, mothers, wives, daughters and brothers of enlisted and drafted men will participate, gives promise of equaling the demonstration made by Portland citizens when the patriotic parade was given last April.

Yesterday afternoon General Charles F. Beebe, chairman of the committee, appeared before a meeting of delegates from the various auxiliary organizations in the Meier & Frank auditorium and extended them an invitation to participate in the parade. The announcement was received with enthusiasm and gave General Beebe much inspiration for the work.

C. M. Hemphill was appointed a committee on music.

General Charles F. Beebe, R. W. Childs, Grand Army of the Republic, Department of Oregon, has assumed the duty of getting out the Grand Army, which will lead the parade.

J. B. Hubbard will enter the Multnomah County Home Guard, an organization of business men which has been drilling at the Armory for a number of weeks, while Colonel George T. Willett has been assigned to the duty of interesting the Spanish-American veterans.

The committee will get in touch with all of the auxiliaries to soldiers' organizations that may be reached by telephone.

The parade committee is as follows: General Charles F. Beebe, R. W. Childs, W. B. Shively, Frank Hinton, C. M. Hemphill, E. Y. Hauser, Mark Woodruff, Colonel George T. Willett, W. T. Greer, Edward Warlein and William Strandborg.

The last move of the day was a decision to invite participation by school children. W. P. Strandborg is looking after them. The children of enlisted men will be placed in a separate division.

Wooster, of Ellensburg Normal extension department; J. W. Hodge, of Cheney Normal extension work; Miss Alice Willmorth, of the physical education department of Ellensburg Normal; George W. Fraser, of the department of education, Cheney Normal; Miss Josephine Pflizer, of Cheney Normal grammar grades; Miss Josephine Arquist, club leader, of Washington State College; Walter Hicks, of Pasco, superintendent of Pasco schools; M. S. Lewis, superintendent of Kennewick schools, and Miss Sheer, supervisor of Kennewick schools.

Toledo to Have Flour Mill.
CENTRALIA, Wash., Oct. 19.—(Special.)—The Arkio-American Mill Company is preparing to install a small flour mill in Toledo, the plant to have a capacity of from 15 to 20 barrels a day. The mill will be run on the old system of the farmer bringing in his wheat and paying for the grinding with a portion of the finished product. A representative of the company was in Winlock Wednesday endeavoring to interest business men there in a similar mill.

Pendleton Mayor Gets Leave.
PENDLETON, Or., Oct. 19.—(Special.)—James A. Best, who left yesterday to assume his duties as a Lieutenant in the United States Medical Corps, will have a leave of absence for the remainder of his term. He appeared in uniform at his last Council meeting and was accorded the congratulations and good wishes of his Councilmen. He will report at Fort Douglas, Utah.

"My Blood Supply Is My Very Life; I Must Keep It Pure"

The slightest impurity must be promptly eliminated. Keeping your blood free from all impurities means that you will enjoy a robust, strong and sturdy vitality which will enable your system to resist the numerous ailments that are constantly assailing it and to which so many people succumb. Practically everyone is subject to the same attacks from the numberless enemies of good health which lurk in the air we breathe and the water we drink. Why do some so easily throw off the attack while others fall a victim to disease? It is almost entirely due to the condition of the blood. If your blood is thin and impure and your strength and vitality have been gradually undermined by an accumulation of impurities, you will fall an easy victim to one of the many ailments which assail your health every day, while those who keep their blood pure and clean will enjoy almost perfect health. You can be sure that your blood will be kept in perfect condition by the use of a few bottles of that matchless blood purifier, S. S. S. This wonderful remedy is purely vegetable and has been used with unvarying success for more than fifty years. S. S. S. is sold by druggists everywhere. Don't accept a substitute.
