JORDAN WIFE COMPLAINS

Eugene Gerard Accused of Threatening Lives of Family.

ALBANY, Or., Oct. 19.—(Special.)—
On a charge of threatening to kill his wife and children, Eugene Gerard, of Jordan, was arrested yesterday and placed in the County Jail here. His trial has been set for Monday.

Mrs. Gerard asserts that last Tuesday her husband struck her and knocked her down and threatened her until she took the two youngest of their three children and filed to the house of John Bender, a neighbor. Wednesday morning, she says, Mr, and Mrs. Bender accompanied her when she returned to her home to get her clothes and Gerard is said to have met the party with a corn knife. He drew a line across the road and announced he would kill the first person who crossed would kill the first person who crossed it.

STRIKE-END PLAN HELD UP

d From First Page.) belief in the loyalty of employers and employes and expressed the belief that the situation here will work out sati

The statement is as follows:
"The members of the labor adjustment board have been conscious during their stay in Portland of an increasing their stay in Portland of an increasing willingness to co-operate on the part both of employers and employes. Relying upon this spirit of co-operation, they have concluded their labors here by recommending a plan of settlement. Until this plan has been presented to the wage-carners chiefly concerned they cannot discuss its details. They can only say that they confidently because only say that they confidently becan only say that they confidently be-lieve that, if accepted, it will not only end the present strike, but lead to those better relations between employ-ers and employes in the shippards of the city upon which, to mention only the material aspect, the number ships produced so vitally depends.

Loyalty Not Questioned.

"In urging the acceptance of their plan, the Board members cannot declare with too great emphasis that every day's delay in the construction of the ships now on the ways in Portland yards tends to lessen our efficiency in the conduct of the war and in that way is all the enemy. It appreciates the the conduct of the war and in that way to sid the enemy. It appreciates the evidences of loyalty and patriotism displayed both by employers and employes during its hearings. It believes that the failure of this spirit of loyalty and patriotism to result in the uninterrupted operation of the shipyards has been due to no deliberate purpose on either side, but to difficulties in the situation which neither side seemed able to control.

"In a time of peace, interrupting industry to attempt to seitle these diffi-

"In a time of peace, interrupting in-dustry to attempt to seitle these diffi-culties would be accepted as a matter of course, but in a time of war a dif-ferent attitude must be developed. The interests of the Government must be recognized as paramount. Just as our boys have disregarded their personal inclinations to respond to the draft law, so employers and employes must sacrifice their personal interests in resacrifice their personal interests in re-sponse to their country's call for their services. If both sides will approach their differences dominated by this spirit, even the most complicated labor issues will prove susceptible of settle-

Strikes Held Inexcusable.

Strikes Held Inexcusable.

"The board has been created to speak the final determining word when shipbuilding employers and employes cannot adjust their differences themselves. Before it came into existence an interruption of the shipbuilding industry was perhaps justifiable; since it has been created and since it has been devoting itself assiduously to its task there is no longer an adequate excuss for failure on the part of employers and employes to co-operate with all possible energy and levalty in the carrying cut of the Government's shipbuilding programme.

"After learning to know and to like the representative employers and labor leaders of Portland, the board is rejuctant to have the impression gain currency that there is less devotion to the Government here than in other parts of the country. The only way to avoid this is for both sides to determine to forget their differences, to resume the production of ships and to leave to the board the settlement of issues which cannot otherwise be adjusted.

"Nothing would please the members of the board better than to proceed at once to an analysis of the facts brought out in the hearings and to a decision in reference to the wage scale in controversy. But the essential facts as to the situation in Portland constitute only part of the evidence on which the board must base its decision.

Outlook Is Hopeful.

"As a National body it must consider the relation between Portland and the other great shipbuilding centers, Seattle and San Francisco. Really satisfactory relations between employers and employes cannot be re-established in the shippards of any of these cities unless they are re-established in all of them. It is, therefore, a duty which the board owes not only to the Government, but to the employers and employes of Portland, to study the issues which have arisen in the other shipbuilding centers so that they may make their decisions as to wages in all three places conform to a uniform principle."

"Before leaving Portland, we wish to "Before leaving Fortland, we wish to express our appreciation of the many courtesies extended by the citizens of Portland and particularly to thank thos who have taken part in the hearings for the good spirit which they have shown. All, while presenting forcefully and clearly their side of the entroversy, have displayed a willingcontroversy, have displayed a willing-ness to give and take without bitter-ness or rancor, which augurs well for the future. The board confidently ex-pects that its decision, when finally arrived at, will be accepted and acted upon loyally by both employers and em-ployes and that both will co-operate with the evanilar or adjuster. with the examiner or adjuster in

3000 MEN RETURN SOUTH

Camp Lewis Weather Too Much for California Boys.

Three troop trains pashed through Portland yesterday and three Thursday, and were turned over to the Southern Pacific here for transportation to Linde Vista, Cal., near Los Angeles, where the 2000 men the trains carried are bound. They came from Camp Lewis at American Lake.

The six trains complete the movement, it is understood the troops are men recently drafted from Southern California, and the sudden change of climate from that part of the country climate from that part of the country to American Lake was decided to be inimical to their health. It is supposed this is the reason for the return of the men for training in the south.
